Faure Nearer Ouster As Reds Drop Support

Loss Of 94 Votes Deemed Fatal To Premier's Regime

PARIS, Nov. 26 —UP— France's Communist party withdrew its powerful support of Premier Edgar Faure Saturday and pushed his tottering government toward seemingly certain collapse.

Without the backing of the 94 Red deputies which carried him through his last two confidence votes, Faure appeared to have little chance of surviving the new National Assembly confidence vote Tuesday.

French newspapers of all political shades openly predicted a government crisis and turned their attention to speculation on a new premier.

"I think we shall vote against Faure," he remarked casually.

"But the group will fix its stand Tuesday," he added hastily.

While Duclos announcement was not an official Communist policy statement, it was regarded as a clear - cut party stand. Political observers believed he would not have made the remark if there was the slightest chance of his being overruled by the group.

Faure called the confidence vote Friday when the assembly's steering committee rejected his request for a new electoral debate Tuesday. He has been fighting for early elections since mid - October and has faced opposition at every turn.

'No Politics In Foreign Policy' Endorsed By Ike

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 26 —UP—President Eisenhower Saturday endorsed a Democratic Senate leader's plea to keep politics out of foreign policy in the 1956 election campaign.

Through a spokesman, the President urged Americans to support a bi-partisan foreign policy no matter who wins the elections.

Murray Snyder, White House assistant press secretary, said Mr. Eisenhower had read and approved this statement made Friday by Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), to the New York Herald-Tribune:

"We must assure the world that we are capable of having a nonpartisan foreign policy and, regardless of who wins or loses in 1956, our foreign program will go on substantially as is. We must show we are a mature nation."

Despite the President's urging and George's appeal, it was dead certain that foreign policy will play a great part in the campaigning.

Politics will be discussed by President Eisenhower Monday with Republican National Chair-

Surplus Increase Is Announced By Bank In Monroe

Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, by resolution of its board of directors, has just transferred $250,000 from its undivided profits account to the surplus. This makes the capital structure of this bank at present as capital stock, one million, surplus, one million, and a substantial undivided profit.

J. S. Washburn, vice president—trust officer of the bank, stated that, in 1942 the bank's capital stock and surplus were each $375,000.00. And that, in 1946, a 33 1-3 per cent stock dividend was issued to all stockholders of that date and, in 1951 a 100 per cent stock dividend was also issued. These two issues, along with increases from $375,000 in 1942 to $1,000,000 in surplus today, were accomplished from earnings of the bank during this period, and without additional payments from stockholders or from any other source than earnings.

John Breard, president of the bank, stated that prospects at present indicate a very successful year for 1955.

Democratic Governor Of Michigan Blasts Adlai's Chicago Speech On Policy

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 26—UP—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan Saturday night delivered a verbal blast at fellow Democrat Adlai Stevenson, who is seeking his party's presidential nomination.

Williams, serving his seventh year as governor, and mentioned occasionally as a possible presidential candidate himself, said he would be ashamed to go along with those Democrats who "have proposed, in effect, that this is the ideal time for a national coffee break."

He was particularly critical of adherents of Stevenson's announced policy of "moderation" in government.

Speaking before the Colorado Young Democrats convention, he said he was "acutely disappointed by this 'spirit of Chicago,' containing counsels which I find difficult to believe can be seriously considered as Democratic party policy."

Truman Blasts Geneva Session As 'Worthless'

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 26 —UP— Former President Harry S. Truman Saturday accused the Eisenhower administration of throwing "foreign relations into the political arena," and said the Geneva conferences didn't "amount to a damn."

Mr. Truman was in a vigorous political mood at a press conference. He also raked Vice President Richard Nixon over the coals and Republicans came in for his typical "give-'em-hell" blasting.

As for Nixon, Mr. Truman said: "I don't like him and I don't want to discuss him. He called me a traitor and if I was a traitor, then the country is in a hell of a fix."

A reporter had asked about vice presidential qualifications, and prefaced the question by saying there had been a lot of talk about Nixon in connection with Mr. Eisenhower's illness.

The former president said he agreed with New York Gov. Averell Harriman, a potential Democratic candidate for president, who said here earlier this week "the hope of Geneva had been turned into the hoax of Geneva."

"Mr. Harriman knows what he's talking about. He had to deal with those Russians." (Harriman formerly was ambassador to Russia under Mr. Truman.)

"President Franklin Roosevelt and I kept foreign relations on a bi-partisan basis, but the Republicans have thrown it into the political arena. It will be a major issue in next year's campaign," Mr. Truman said.

Strike Violence

Militia Patrols Open Fire As Car Rams Barricade

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Nov. 26—UP—Indiana National Guardsmen fired shots at a car that tried to run them down Saturday as troops patrolled this strike-torn city.

Maj. John Anderson, Shelbyville, Ind., battalion commander, said the car stopped at a barricade, turned its lights off and smashed through.

Guardsmen hit the ground and fired twice at the auto, he said.

Troops had been ordered back to this east-central Indiana city when violence at the strike-ridden Perfect Circle Corp. foundry broke out anew Wednesday.

The Perfect Circle plant has been the scene of labor unrest since the CIO United Auto Workers went on strike here and at three other Perfect Circle plants in Hagerstown and Richmond July 25. Nine persons were injured in a wild shooting melee between strikers and nonstrikers here Oct. 5.

Patrols were alerted to look for a dark-colored, postwar model car bearing Kentucky license plates. Three men were believed to have been in the car.

The shooting incident was the first time a car almost ran down guardsmen, Anderson said, although other cars have crashed through blockades.

Earlier, guardsmen confiscated eight pistols, shotguns and rifles from cars. Troops have been authorized by Mayor Paul McCormack to make arrests and confiscate arms under modified martial law.

Angry Fight Develops Between East, West Texans Over Cotton Allotments

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 26 (AP)—Uncle Sam's control program over cotton had run afoul of Mother Nature today and the result was threatening letters, a court suit and an angry fight between East Texas and West Texas farmers.

The ruckus would never have come up but for a changing geographical pattern in cotton growing; growing popularity in recent years of cotton in West Texas, especially on newly cultivated, irrigated land. The blacklands of East Texas are the state's traditional cotton area.

In 1956, under the federal government's price support and acreage control program, Texas' acreage allotment is to be cut by 200,000 acres—from the 7,410,983 acres planted this year to 7,210,983.

How to distribute that cut is one issue. But the state committee also holds back 10 per cent of the state's acreage to satisfy individual farm hardship cases and to "recognize" sectional trends in growing.

The big sectional growing trend in recent years has been the shift to West Texas. West Texas farmers have heard the state committee plans to give less weight to that factor in setting 1956 county allotments than it did in determining 1955 allotments.'

Four West Texas cotton growers have asked federal court at Houston to enjoin the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee from putting into effect its plans. And three members of the committee have reportedly received threatening letters, which have been turned over to the FBI.

Committee members met in Houston yesterday with U.S. Atty. Carlos Watson and attorneys for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to plan their fight against the suit. The committee members are to give depositions in the case in College Station Monday. Federal Judge Ben Connally is expected to hear the case by Dec. 10.

The Agriculture Department is holding up the county allotments until the dispute is settled, which poses two problems: 1. Cotton growers are to vote Dec. 13 in a national referendum whether they want the price support and controls program next year. They would like to know what their county allotments are before making up their minds. 2. Cotton farmers, especially in the Rio Grande Valley where cotton is planted as early as late January, need to know soon how much of their land to prepare for cotton.

Contents of the threatening letters have never been disclosed. President E. O. Lundgren of the Old Cotton Belt Assn. of Texas who disclosed they had been received, would not even say which of the five committee members had received them.

The state committee has never publicly announced its formula for 1956. But Fred Husband, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said the committee plans to take 20,000 acres from South and West Texas and assign it to East and Central Texas.

Russia Reports Successful Test Of Its H-Bomb

Confirms Previous U.S. Announcement Of Red Explosion

MOSCOW, Nov. 26—UP—Russia announced Saturday it has set off "the most powerful of all" hydrogen bomb explosions.

An official statement said the blast was one of a series of recent explosions of "new types of atomic and thermo-nuclear (hydrogen) weapons" by the Soviets. It said the H-bomb was exploded at a "great height" in order to prevent the consequences of atomic fallout.

(The announcement confirmed the disclosure by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission last Wednesday that the Soviets had exploded their largest nuclear weapon so far).

"The last explosion of the hydrogen bomb was the most powerful of all explosions carried out so far," the announcement issued by the Soviet Tass news agency declared.

(Speaking in Bangalore, India, touring Soviet Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev said the new Soviet bomb had the explosive power of one million tons of TNT. He said it was designed to get the maximum explosion from a minimum amount of material.

(This week's announcement of AEC director Lewis Strauss said the Soviet explosion was "in the range of megatons." A megaton equals 1 million tons of TNT in explosive power.

(The official Soviet announcement failed to specify whether its reference to "most powerful" applied only to tests carried out within Russia or also to tests known to have been carried out in the United States.

(But informed sources in Washington said the United States had

U. S. Hydrogen Weapon Dwarfs Soviet's Bomb

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 —UP— The United States has developed H-bombs of such violence and immensity that they would dwarf the one recently set off by Russia.

Informed atomic sources gave that assessment Saturday to the Soviet Union's announcement about its test which Moscow called the "most powerful of all explosions carried out so far."

At the same time, other administration officials charged that Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev was trying to "knife" President Eisenhower's mutual aerial arms inspection proposal, a key section of his East-West disarmament program.

At Gettysburg, Pa., Assistant Presidential Press Secretary Murray Snyder declined comment on Russia's bomb claim or on Krushchev's statement that Mr. Eisenhower's proposal would not work.

Khrushchev described the bomb as equalling 1 million tonts of TNT. If he were correct, U.S. experts said Moscow must have meant it was the "most powerful" set off by Russia.

The H-bomb exploded by the United States at the Eniwetok proving ground in the Pacific on March 1, 1954, has been reliably reported to have equalled from 12 million to 20 million tons of TNT. And an even bigger bomb is understood to be ready for testing at Eniwetok next spring.

As for the aerial inspection plan, Khrushchev said that American planes flying over Russia and Russian planes flying over America "would lead to an arms race because each would try to equal the other."

Although there was no official reaction, U.S. officials privately rejected such a thesis. They said it is in line with other recent Soviet statements on President Eisenhower's plan and represents another effort to kill it.

Irish Fail In Effort To Seize Arms

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 26—UP—A heavily-armed raiding party, believed to be members of the Outlawed Irish Republican Army, stole across the border before dawn Saturday and bombed a police station in an unsuccessful attempt to seize arms.

One policeman was shot seven times during the hot exchange. His condition was described as "serious." It was not known whether the raiders suffered any casualties.

Authorities said the daring raid, on a lonely barracks just a mile from the Irish border, had all the trademarks of the IRA which is dedicated to the use of violence to force the withdrawal of Britain from Northern Ireland and secure unification of the Irelands under one government.

The IRA struck last on Aug. 13 when 20 armed raiders attacked a British army depot at Arborfield in England and escaped with quantities of arms. Three IRA men were sentenced to life imprisonment for their part in the raid.

Police said part of Saturday's 10-man party stood guard on a nearby hill while other raiders planted a bomb that blasted a huge gap in the barracks wall and split the two-story structure from base to roof.

Before the smoke cleared, police said, the raiders swept into the station and shouted for the surrender of the six-man garrison.

Five constables and the garrison sergeant rushed out of their sleeping quarters with guns blazing. They forced the raiders to retreat to the dark grounds outside.

The battle raged for 15 minutes before the raiders jumped into two cars and fled across the border. They not only failed to secure police arms, but they had to leave behind weapons and supplies of their own.

Britain Orders Death Penalty For Cypriot Rioters

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Nov. 26—UP—Britain decreed a state of emergency on this terrorist-torn island Saturday and ordered the death penalty for all Cypriots caught carrying bombs or firing other weapons.

The state of emergency order was issued by Field Marshal Sir John Harding, governor of this strategic British colony. The order banned all meetings except religious services, movies and theatrical shows.

The decree said sports contests could be held at the discretion of local commissioners.

The firm tightening of British security followed the death of five British soldiers in the past week at the hands of terrorists. There have been daily incidents of violence by Cypriots demanding an end to British rule and union of this island with Greece.

Harding also ordered that anyone caught committing sabotage against water supplies, electricity lines or communications systems would be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Second NAACP Leader Shot In Belzoni, Miss.

BELZONI, Miss., Nov. 26—UP—A critically wounded fighter for Negro rights gasped out Saturday that white men shot him down only a few blocks from the spot where another Negro leader, a minister, was slain seven months ago.

Gus Courts, a member of the National Association For The Advancement Of Colored People, told doctors from a hospital bed in the all-Negro community of Mound Bayou that three or four white men rolled up to his store about 8 p.m. Friday night and shot him through the window as he stood at the cash register.

Sheriff Ike Shelton, however, quoted two witnesses, Courts' wife and a woman customer who was in the store, as saying there was only one man in the car—"a white man or a light skinned Negro." They said the attacker fled the scene after firing two or three shots with a shotgun.

Shelton said his investigation was hampered by the fact that Courts' friends rushed him out of this Delta farming town to Mound Bayou, almost 75 miles north of here "without even letting a doctor here see him."

"I couldn't even swear that he was shot," Shelton said. The sheriff said he did not plan to question Courts in the Mound Bayou hospital.

Neither white nor Negro leaders could provide a direct motive for the shooting. The NAACP chapter "hadn't made much noise here lately," a white leader said.

"Just being a member of the NAACP is the only motive I know of," said Medgar Evers, of Jackson, Miss., state NAACP field secretary.

Last spring the NAACP charged that Courts was forced to move from his store because he refused to remove his name as a registered voter, a charge denied by the Humphreys county pro-segregation white Citizens Council.

On May 7, the Rev. George W. Lee, another NAACP member, was found fatally wounded after his car crashed into a Negro home and officers said he had been shot in the head. The NAACP charged Lee was slain because he had been active in urging Negroes to register to vote at a time when the

'Copter Takes Imperiled Crew From Tanker

Ship Being Torn Apart Near Cliffs Of Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 26 —UP— Twenty - one men stranded for 28 nightmarish hours aboard a grounded, blizzard - lashed tanker only 25 feet from the rugged Cape Breton cliffs were rescued by a helicopter Saturday. The perilous operation took only 45 minutes.

The helicopter ran a mercy shuttle service between the helpless Liberian tanker Kismet II and an emergency rescue station on the snowbanked shore.

It hovered mothlike over the 2,800-ton vessel in 35-mile-an-hour winds as waves inched the ship closer and closer to the deadly sharp-edged rocks at the bottom of the rock walls on the northeastern tip of Cape Breton.

The men, who had clung to ropes and every available object during their ordeal, were plucked one by one from the little ship. A rope was lowered and the men were pulled into the safety of the 'copter's cabin.

On the first trip, the hellcopter took four men. Then it successfully rescued six and five, leaving the ship abandoned. All the men were reported to be in good condition.

The Kismet ran aground on reefs about 300 yards from shore in a dense fog and high winds early Friday while sailing from Philadelphia to Summerside, Prince Edward Island, with a general cargo.

Credit Demands Of Auto Makers Hit By Senator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 —UP— Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney called on auto manufacturers Saturday to permit their dealers to tighten credit terms and to cut trade-in allowances on motor car sales.

The Wyoming Democrat said dealers throughout the country are being "forced to the economic breaking point" by having to give too easy credit terms and too high trade-ins to buyers of new cars. The manufacturers, he added, are determined to keep car sales at a record rate.

O'Mahoney is chairman of the Senate Monopoly subcommittee which is studying General Motors Corp. to gauge the effect of operations of large auto manufacturers on the nation's economy.

"I don't want to impose any rule or program upon the manufacturers," he told reporters. "I want them to realize they are following a policy, which if persisted in, will bring ruin—first to the dealers, then to the suppliers of raw materials, and eventually to themselves."

The senator criticized the manufacturers for forcing dealers to "carry out inflationary practices" even while the Federal Reserve Board has been increasing stock market margin requirements and basic interest rates to tighten credit generally.

He said all manufacturers, but particularly General Motors and Ford, are exerting such pressure on their dealers.

Extreme Needs Voiced In Letters To Good Fellows

Letters are being received that indicate genuine need in homes of the cities here. A mother writes:

"It is a dark outlook for us as my husband has been given 90 days in jail, so he can be of no help to us. I do want my children to have a bit of a Christmas. We shall thank you for any and all help."

Another letter states: "I am writing to ask you about a Christmas box. I have two small boys and a nephew. They won't have much Christmas. My father does not make enough to buy presents for them.

"I have applied for a welfare check but money will not come until the first of the year. I will greatly appreciate any aid. We have seven in the family; my mother, father, sister and nephew besides my two small children and myself.

The Perfect Circle plant has been the scene of labor unrest since the CIO United Auto Workers went on strike here and at three other Perfect Circle plants in Hagerstown and Richmond July 25. Nine persons were injured in a wild shooting melee between strikers and nonstrikers here Oct. 5.

Patrols were alerted to look for a dark-colored, postwar model car bearing Kentucky license plates. Three men were believed to have been in the car.

The shooting incident was the first time a car almost ran down guardsmen, Anderson said, although other cars have crashed through blockades.

Earlier, guardsmen confiscated eight pistols, shotguns and rifles from cars. Troops have been authorized by Mayor Paul McCormack to make arrests and confiscate arms under modified martial law.

Angry Fight Develops Between East, West Texans Over Cotton Allotments

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 26 (AP)—Uncle Sam's control program over cotton had run afoul of Mother Nature today and the result was threatening letters, a court suit and an angry fight between East Texas and West Texas farmers.

The ruckus would never have come up but for a changing geographical pattern in cotton growing: growing popularity in recent years of cotton in West Texas, especially on newly cultivated, irrigated land. The blacklands of East Texas are the state's traditional cotton area.

In 1956, under the federal government's price support and acreage control program, Texas' acreage allotment is to be cut by 200,000 acres—from the 7,410,983 acres planted this year to 7,210,983.

How to distribute that cut is one issue. But the state committee also holds back 10 per cent of the state's acreage to satisfy individual farm hardship cases and to "recognize" sectional trends in growing.

The big sectional growing trend in recent years has been the shift to West Texas. West Texas farmers have heard the state committee plans to give less weight to that factor in setting 1956 county allotments than it did in determining 1955 allotments.

Four West Texas cotton growers have asked federal court at Houston to enjoin the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee from putting into effect its plans. And three members of the committee have reportedly received threatening letters, which have been turned over to the FBI.

Committee members met in Houston yesterday with U.S. Atty. Carlos Watson and attorneys for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to plan their fight against the suit. The committee members are to give depositions in the case in College Station Monday. Federal Judge Ben Connally is expected to hear the case by Dec. 10.

The Agriculture Department is holding up the county allotments until the dispute is settled, which poses two problems: 1. Cotton growers are to vote Dec. 13 in a national referendum whether they want the price support and controls program next year. They would like to know what their county allotments are before making up their minds. 2. Cotton farmers, especially in the Rio Grande Valley where cotton is planted as early as late January, need to know soon how much of their land to prepare for cotton.

Contents of the threatening letters have never been disclosed. President E. O. Lundgren of the Old Cotton Belt Assn. of Texas who disclosed they had been received, would not even say which of the five committee members had received them.

The state committee has never publicly announced its formula for 1956. But Fred Husband, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said the committee plans to take 20,000 acres from South and West Texas and assign it to East and Central Texas.

Russia Reports Successful Test Of Its H-Bomb

Confirms Previous U.S. Announcement Of Red Explosion

MOSCOW, Nov. 26—UP—Russia announced Saturday it has set off "the most powerful of all" hydrogen bomb explosions.

An official statement said the blast was one of a series of recent explosions of "new types of atomic and thermo-nuclear (hydrogen) weapons" by the Soviets. It said the H-bomb was exploded at a "great height" in order to prevent the consequences of atomic fallout.

(The announcement confirmed the disclosure by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission last Wednesday that the Soviets had exploded their largest nuclear weapon so far).

"The last explosion of the hydrogen bomb was the most powerful of all explosions carried out so far," the announcement issued by the Soviet Tass news agency declared.

(Speaking in Bangalore, India, touring Soviet Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev said the new Soviet bomb had the explosive power of one million tons of TNT. He said it was designed to get the maximum explosion from a minimum amount of material.

(This week's announcement of AEC director Lewis Strauss said the Soviet explosion was "in the range of megatons." A megaton equals 1 million tons of TNT in explosive power.

(The official Soviet announcement failed to specify whether its reference to "most powerful" applied only to tests carried out within Russia or also to tests known to have been carried out in the United States.

(But informed sources in Washington said the United States had

U. S. Hydrogen Weapon Dwarfs Soviet's Bomb

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 —UP— The United States has developed H-bombs of such violence and immensity that they would dwarf the one recently set off by Russia.

Informed atomic sources gave that assessment Saturday to the Soviet Union's announcement about its test which Moscow called the "most powerful of all explosions carried out so far."

At the same time, other administration officials charged that Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev was trying to "knife" President Eisenhower's mutual aerial arms inspection proposal, a key section of his East-West disarmament program.

At Gettysburg, Pa., Assistant Presidential Press Secretary Murray Snyder declined comment on Russia's bomb claim or on Krushchev's statement that Mr. Eisenhower's proposal would not work.

Khrushchev described the bomb as equalling 1 million tonts of TNT. If he were correct, U.S. experts said Moscow must have meant it was the "most powerful" set off by Russia.

The H-bomb exploded by the United States at the Eniwetok proving ground in the Pacific on March 1, 1954, has been reliably reported to have equalled from 12 million to 20 million tons of TNT. And an even bigger bomb is understood to be ready for testing at Eniwetok next spring.

As for the aerial inspection plan, Khrushchev said that American planes flying over Russia and Russian planes flying over America "would lead to an arms race because each would try to equal the other."

Although there was no official reaction, U.S. officials privately rejected such a thesis. They said it is in line with other recent Soviet statements on President Eisenhower's plan and represents another effort to kill it.

21 Sailors Rescued From Sinking Ship

Irish Fail In Effort To Seize Arms

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 26—UP—A heavily-armed raiding party, believed to be members of the Outlawed Irish Republican Army, stole across the border before dawn Saturday and bombed a police station in an unsuccessful attempt to seize arms.

One policeman was shot seven times during the hot exchange. His condition was described as "serious." It was not known whether the raiders suffered any casualties.

Authorities said the daring raid, on a lonely barracks just a mile from the Irish border, had all the trademarks of the IRA which is dedicated to the use of violence to force the withdrawal of Britain from Northern Ireland and secure unification of the Irelands under one government.

The IRA struck last on Aug. 13 when 20 armed raiders attacked a British army depot at Arborfield in England and escaped with quantities of arms. Three IRA men were sentenced to life imprisonment for their part in the raid.

Police said part of Saturday's 10-man party stood guard on a nearby hill while other raiders planted a bomb that blasted a huge gap in the barracks wall and split the two-story structure from base to roof.

Before the smoke cleared, police said, the raiders swept into the station and shouted for the surrender of the six-man garrison.

Five constables and the garrison sergeant rushed out of their sleeping quarters with guns blazing. They forced the raiders to retreat to the dark grounds outside.

The battle raged for 15 minutes before the raiders jumped into two cars and fled across the border. They not only failed to secure police arms, but they had to leave behind weapons and supplies of their own.

Britain Orders Death Penalty For Cypriot Rioters

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Nov. 26—UP—Britain decreed a state of emergency on this terrorist-torn island Saturday and ordered the death penalty for all Cypriots caught carrying bombs or firing other weapons.

The state of emergency order was issued by Field Marshal Sir John Harding, governor of this strategic British colony. The order banned all meetings except religious services, movies and theatrical shows.

The decree said sports contests could be held at the discretion of local commissioners.

The firm tightening of British security followed the death of five British soldiers in the past week at the hands of terrorists. There have been daily incidents of violence by Cypriots demanding an end to British rule and union of this island with Greece.

Second NAACP Leader Shot In Belzoni, Miss.

BELZONI, Miss., Nov. 26—UP—A critically wounded fighter for Negro rights gasped out Saturday that white men shot him down only a few blocks from the spot where another Negro leader, a minister, was slain seven months ago.

Gus Courts, a member of the National Association For The Advancement Of Colored People, told doctors from a hospital bed in the all-Negro community of Mound Bayou that three or four white men rolled up to his store about 8 p.m. Friday night and shot him through the window as he stood at the cash register.

Sheriff Ike Shelton, however, quoted two witnesses, Courts' wife and a woman customer who was in the store, as saying there was only one man in the car—"a white man or a light skinned Negro." They said the attacker fled the scene after firing two or three shots with a shotgun.

Shelton said his investigation was hampered by the fact that Courts' friends rushed him out of this Delta farming town to Mound Bayou, almost 75 miles north of here "without even letting a doctor here see him."

"I couldn't even swear that he was shot," Shelton said. The sheriff said he did not plan to question Courts in the Mound Bayou hospital.

Neither white nor Negro leaders could provide a direct motive for the shooting. The NAACP chapter "hadn't made much noise here lately," a white leader said.

"Just being a member of the NAACP is the only motive I know of," said Medgar Evers, of Jackson, Miss., state NAACP field secretary.

Last spring the NAACP charged that Courts was forced to move from his store because he refused to remove his name as a registered voter, a charge denied by the Humphreys county pro-segregation white Citizens Council.

On May 7, the Rev. George W. Lee, another NAACP member, was found fatally wounded after his car crashed into a Negro home and officers said he had been shot in the head. The NAACP charged Lee was slain because he had been active in urging Negroes to register to vote at a time when the

Ship Being Torn Apart Near Cliffs Of Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 26 —UP— Twenty - one men stranded for 28 nightmarish hours aboard a grounded, blizzard - lashed tanker only 25 feet from the rugged Cape Breton cliffs were rescued by a helicopter Saturday. The perilous operation took only 45 minutes.

The helicopter ran a mercy shuttle service between the helpless Liberian tanker Kismet II and an emergency rescue station on the snowbanked shore.

It hovered mothlike over the 2,800-ton vessel in 35-mile-an-hour winds as waves inched the ship closer and closer to the deadly sharp-edged rocks at the bottom of the rock walls on the northeastern tip of Cape Breton.

The men, who had clung to ropes and every available object during their ordeal, were plucked one by one from the little ship. A rope was lowered and the men were pulled into the safety of the 'copter's cabin.

On the first trip, the helicopter took four men. Then it successfully rescued six and five, leaving the ship abandoned. All the men were reported to be in good condition.

The Kismet ran aground on reefs about 300 yards from shore in a dense fog and high winds early Friday while sailing from Philadelphia to Summerside, Prince Edward Island, with a general cargo.

Credit Demands Of Auto Makers Hit By Senator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 —UP— Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney called on auto manufacturers Saturday to permit their dealers to tighten credit terms and to cut trade-in allowances on motor car sales.

The Wyoming Democrat said dealers throughout the country are being "forced to the economic breaking point" by having to give too easy credit terms and too high trade-ins to buyers of new cars. The manufacturers, he added, are determined to keep car sales at a record rate.

O'Mahoney is chairman of the Senate Monopoly subcommittee which is studying General Motors Corp. to gauge the effect of operations of large auto manufacturers on the nation's economy.

"I don't want to impose any rule or program upon the manufacturers," he told reporters. "I want them to realize they are following a policy, which if persisted in, will bring ruin—first to the dealers, then to the suppliers of raw materials, and eventually to themselves."

The senator criticized the manufacturers for forcing dealers to "carry out inflationary practices" even while the Federal Reserve Board has been increasing stock market margin requirements and basic interest rates to tighten credit generally.

He said all manufacturers, but particularly General Motors and Ford, are exerting such pressure on their dealers.

Extreme Needs Voiced In Letters To Good Fellows

Letters are being received that indicate genuine need in homes of the cities here. A mother writes:

"I am mother of five and we are not expecting to have any Christmas, unless someone aids us. I do get a little welfare check, but it is so small and our needs so many. After rent and immediate essentials are paid for I buy a few groceries and that is all.

"It is a dark outlook for us as my husband has been given 90 days in jail, so he can be of no help to us. I do want my children to have a bit of a Christmas. We shall thank you for any and all help."

Another letter states: "I am writing to ask you about a Christmas box. I have two small boys and a nephew. They won't have much Christmas. My father does not make enough to buy presents for them.

"I have applied for a welfare check but money will not come until the first of the year. I will greatly appreciate any aid. We have seven in the family; my mother, father, sister and nephew besides my two small children and myself.

"I will be willing to come and pick up anything you may have for us. My sons would appreciate

Stocks Near New Record High; Year End Rally Seen

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The stock market kept its recovery rolling this week and stood ready to launch the traditional yearend rally with a little encouragement. The market in the great majority of cases advanced in December.

The Associated Press average this week gained $2.30 and closed at $181.30. That is 20 cents away from the historic high mark reached Sept. 23 on the eve of the break brought on by President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Some stocks took off for striking gains in anticipation of the good news, and then they declined rather sharply when the announcement was made and speculators took their profits.

Speculators looked for a Du Pont split. Directors declared a yearend dividend of $3 as against $2.50. Nothing was said about a split. The stock was engulfed in selling and lost 9¾ pints.

Union Pacific directors declared an extra dividend of $3 as against $2 and a proposed 5-1 split. The stock on the week advanced 16½ at 202½. Santa Fe Railroad, a candidate for a split, attracted went up 18 points on the week at 160.

Stocks Near New Record High; Year End Rally Seen

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The stock market kept its recovery rolling this week and stood ready to launch the traditional yearend rally with a little encouragement. The market in the great majority of cases advanced in December.

The Associated Press average this week gained $2.30 and closed at $181.30. That is 20 cents away from the historic high mark reached Sept. 23 on the eve of the break brought on by President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Some stocks took off for striking gains in anticipation of the good news, and then they declined rather sharply when the announcement was made and speculators took their profits.

Speculators looked for a Du Pont split. Directors declared a yearend dividend of $3 as against $2.50. Nothing was said about a split. The stock was engulfed in selling and lost 9¾ pints.

Union Pacific directors declared an extra dividend of $3 as against $2 and a proposed 5-1 split. The stock on the week advanced 16½ at 202½. Santa Fe Railroad, a candidate for a split, attracted went up 18 points on the week at 160.

Cotton Futures Continue March To Better Prices

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The cotton futures market continued its upward climb this week but failed to match the impressive gains of the week before.

Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange scored net advances which ranged from 20 cents to $1.60 a bale. This compared with gains of $1.60 to $7.80 a week ago.

Short covering helped the market this week, as did buying influenced by prospects of a tight supply of free cotton at the end of the current season.

Meanwhile, offerings were furnished through hedge selling. As in past weeks, there was some liquidation which reflected uncertainty among traders as to the price at which the U.S. government would offer its surplus cotton stocks on the world market after Jan. 1.

Attracting considerable attention in trade quarters was the government's latest report on loan entries which showed growers had pledged 557,000 bales to the 1955 loan in the week ended Nov. 18.

This brought entries for the season through Nov. 18 to 2,929,000 bales, and led many in the trade to believe the total for the full season would exceed five million.

Also of interest was the latest U.S. Census Bureau report on ginnings. As of mid-November, ginnings totaled 11,424,000 bales, or 78 per cent of the total prospective crop.

Total for the season through Nov. 22 was estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 489,000 bales, or 53 per cent less than the 1,038,000 bales exported at approximately the same time last year.

Fewer U. S. GIs Go AWOL From Military Units

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 —UP— Fewer servicemen are going over the hill.

The big drop in AWOL's and desertions was attributed by the armed services Saturday to educational programs, help on the GI's personal and family problems, and stiffer penalties authorized by President Eisenhower.

The Army reported it has cut it monthly AWOL rate from 15.2 per 1,000 enlisted men in 1952 to 5.2 per 1,000 this year. In 1952, the Navy had 29,490 "absence" offenses of more than three days, including desertions. Last year the number was cut to 18,542, and in the first eight months of this year only 6,841 sailors have gone over the hill for three days or more.

The Air Force, which had a monthly AWOL rate of 7.6 per 1,000 men in 1950 and 5.13 per 1,000 in 1952, has cut the number to 1.86 per 1,000 this year. The rate of Air Force desertions has dropped from .346 per 1,000 last year to .225 per 1,000 this year.

The Marine Corps said it had 5,849 "administrative desertions" in 1952 and cut that to 4,882 last year. For the first seven months this year, the number was 1,895.

AWOL's and desertions reached their peak during the Korean war. The Army in 1953 adopted a policy of sending AWOL's to combat duty in Korea. After the Korean war, the rate continued high, and President Eisenhower on Sept. 28, 1954, authorized stiffer maximum penalties.

The Navy reported that despite its cut in AWOL's and desertions, unauthorized absence "continues to be a major disciplinary problem." It said "a continuous educational program is in effect and all commands are being kept informed of the seriousness of the problem."

Funeral Services Held For Alice, Circus Fat Lady

DALLAS, Nov. 26 —UP—Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Frank T. Julian, 62, the fat lady known as "Alice from Dallas" for almost 20 years with Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

Mrs. Julian died Friday in a hospital. She had been dieting and was down to 425 pounds from her peak of 685 when she was with the circus.

Her husband, a former tatooed man for the circus, said she was "the champion fat lady of all time. There was never a fat lady with the weight, personality and showmanship of Alice."

Cotton Futures Continue March To Better Prices

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The cotton futures market continued its upward climb this week but failed to match the impressive gains of the week before.

Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange scored net advances which ranged from 20 cents to $1.60 a bale. This compared with gains of $1.60 to $7.80 a week ago.

Short covering helped the market this week, as did buying influenced by prospects of a tight supply of free cotton at the end of the current season.

Meanwhile, offerings were furnished through hedge selling. As in past weeks, there was some liquidation which reflected uncertainty among traders as to the price at which the U.S. government would offer its surplus cotton stocks on the world market after Jan. 1.

Attracting considerable attention in trade quarters was the government's latest report on loan entries which showed growers had pledged 557,000 bales to the 1955 loan in the week ended Nov. 18.

This brought entries for the season through Nov. 18 to 2,929,000 bales, and led many in the trade to believe the total for the full season would exceed five million.

Also of interest was the latest U.S. Census Bureau report on ginnings. As of mid-November, ginnings totaled 11,424,000 bales, or 78 per cent of the total prospective crop.

Total for the season through Nov. 22 was estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 489,000 bales, or 53 per cent less than the 1,038,000 bales exported at approximately the same time last year.

Fewer U. S. GIs Go AWOL From Military Units

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 —UP— Fewer servicemen are going over the hill.

The big drop in AWOL's and desertions was attributed by the armed services Saturday to educational programs, help on the GI's personal and family problems, and stiffer penalties authorized by President Eisenhower.

The Army reported it has cut it monthly AWOL rate from 15.2 per 1,000 enlisted men in 1952 to 5.2 per 1,000 this year. In 1952, the Navy had 29,490 "absence" offenses of more than three days, including desertions. Last year the number was cut to 18,542, and in the first eight months of this year only 6,841 sailors have gone over the hill for three days or more.

The Air Force, which had a monthly AWOL rate of 7.6 per 1,000 men in 1950 and 5.13 per 1,000 in 1952, has cut the number to 1.86 per 1,000 this year. The rate of Air Force desertions has dropped from .346 per 1,000 last year to .225 per 1,000 this year.

The Marine Corps said it had 5,849 "administrative desertions" in 1952 and cut that to 4,882 last year. For the first seven months this year, the number was 1,895.

AWOL's and desertions reached their peak during the Korean war. The Army in 1953 adopted a policy of sending AWOL's to combat duty in Korea. After the Korean war, the rate continued high, and President Eisenhower on Sept. 28, 1954, authorized stiffer maximum penalties.

The Navy reported that despite its cut in AWOL's and desertions, unauthorized absence "continues to be a major disciplinary problem." It said "a continuous educational program is in effect and all commands are being kept informed of the seriousness of the problem."

Funeral Services Held For Alice, Circus Fat Lady

DALLAS, Nov. 26 —UP—Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Frank T. Julian, 62, the fat lady known as "Alice from Dallas" for almost 20 years with Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

Mrs. Julian died Friday in a hospital. She had been dieting and was down to 425 pounds from her peak of 685 when she was with the circus.

Her husband, a former tatooed man for the circus, said she was "the champion fat lady of all time. There was never a fat lady with the weight, personality and showmanship of Alice."

Politics And The Farm Problem

Despite a recent public indorsement from President Eisenhower, Secretary of Agriculture Benson may quit the cabinet within a few weeks, according to reports being circulated in usually well-informed Washington political circles.

Mr. Benson, an able administrator, "heired" a Pandora's box of grief and trouble when he assumed office, following 20 years of Democratic rule. He has been made a scapegoat for Democratic errors involving plainly unworkable parity-price formulas and resulting farm surpluses that had reached mountainous proportions even before he assumed leadership of the department.

Three good crop years involving basic commodities ensued; and the surpluses have accumulated steadily. Farm income has declined, on the theoretical and arbitrary basis of parity—the relationship of commodities sold by the farmer to goods and services he buys.

Dissatisfaction with this situation is reflected throughout the Middle West and has spread into the South. Middle Western GOP politicians, including many members of Congress, are alarmed. Some of them such as Rep. Usher L. Burdick, Republican of North Dakota, are saying publicly that unless Mr. Benson and his flexible price-support program are replaced, a "farm uprising" may wreck Republican aspirations in Congress and the White House next year.

Thus, the embattled Mr. Benson finds himself between cross-fires—from the Democrats, who see in the farm issue one of their best campaign issues of 1956; and the Republicans, who fear party disaster unless the agricultural elements are placated quickly.

One of the major legislative aims of the Democrats at the session of Congress beginning next January apparently is to ram through Congress a law restoring rigid price supports at 90 per cent of parity.

Viewed factually, the recent decline in individual farm income from a parity index standpoint apparently has little direct relation to the row over rigid versus flexible farm price supports; since the flexible supports have not as yet gone into effect, except on a few dairy items such as butter.

That a serious farm problem exists in the United States is a valid assumption, in most persons' minds. That it can be assuaged through a partisan political approach is open to severe question.

Under the New Deal and the Fair Deal the farmer accepted a measure of regimentation, involving acreage quotas on various crops, together with parity setups—in effect, a government guarantee of minimum prices.

In so doing, he priced himself more and more out of the great export markets on which American agriculture relied for more than 200 years as a source of prosperity. Our export cotton market, for instance, is a mere shadow of what it was three or four decades ago.

Today, taking advantage of every worth-while advance in machine tools and modern fertilizers, land utilization and husbandry geared to science, the farmer produces prodigiously and expects the taxpayers generally to bail him out.

The question of flexible versus rigid price supports for basic farm commodities is far less important than the question of what to do with the farm surpluses accumulated as a result of government interference with the law of supply and demand.

How shall we dispose of these surpluses? There are only two methods, broadly speaking—to increase domestic consumption greatly, or to recapture and enlarge our foreign export markets.

A combination of these two methods is indicated as a probable solution.

• A recent national survey by experts revealed that, despite the high tide of prosperity, some 20 per cent of the American people are undernourished; and that the worst sufferers are children and the aged, the latter often attempting to exist on pension and welfare doles utterly inadequate to their needs.

Large-scale distribution of basic commodities to the poor might appear "socialistic," but it is no more socialistic than for government to buy these foodstuffs and clog every warehouse in the land with the surplus. The spectacle of mountains of mouldering grain owned by the government, and hungry people who lack the money to buy, does our civilization very poor credit.

Such commodities as cotton cannot be absorbed domestically. These should be sold abroad, realistically, at competitive world prices; and the Department of Agriculture should replace the State Department as final authority, under the President, in all such transactions.

The American farmer might have been far better off had he resisted the tinseled lure of government aid, and stood on his own feet, as the cattleman has done. But he chose the road of regimentation, within present limits, and the problem now is a practical one—how to make his regimented economy workable without bankrupting the taxpayers.

Railroads Seek No Advantage

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads has simply and clearly explained the industry's attitude toward regulation. "The railroads do not seek any advantage or any preferential treatment over their competitors," he said. "They do seek, however, the right to use the cost advantages inherent in the railroad method of hauling goods and persons in trains of cars on tracks, just as every other form of transportation uses its particular inherent advantages, whatever they might be."

Why, at present, cannot the railroads do this? The reason lies in regulatory restrictions, and in laws and principles of regulation which in large part came about when the railroads had a virtual monopoly of commercial land traffic. Times have changed, and transportation has become an extremely competitive business. But the philosophy of regulation has not changed basically.

Giving each carrier the opportunity to use its inherent advantages is the main proposal of the report of the Advisory Committee on Transport Policy and Organization, which was made at the cabinet level and has been given near-unanimous endorsement by the country's newspapers. This would be accomplished by a reasonable relaxation of regulation over rate-making. The result would be the best and cheapest transportation possible by all carriers.

Fulton Lewis Rebuffed By First Monroe League Voter

Monroe, La.
Editor, Morning World:

Please, may I ask a favor of you? I would like to make a few timely statements for the sake of some of your reading public who may be confused by Mr. Fulton Lewis's recent articles. I hope you will find the heart and space to publish my forum letter.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that you permit Mr. Fulton Lewis to pursue a subject on your editorial page to the point of unfairness and rank misguidance and no one ever gives the other side of the question. Why not give some space to the answering Mr. Fulton Lewis on the subject of the Fund of the Republic and The League of Women Voters. Many league members are subscribers to your papers.

I find that Mr. Fulton Lewis makes loose, unsubstantiated statements, and quotes for authorities those who have not been recognized as authorities on any subjects. November 9 in your evening paper, and I quote: "Two basic objections are being raised to the so-called Freedom Agenda program: the leftist slanted nature of pamphlets used as source material, and the frequency with which 'liberals' emerge as leaders of local Freedom Agenda discussion projects."

Let us take the first of Mr. Fulton Lewis's basic objections — the leftist slanted pamphlets used—If anyone would like to read those pamphlets for himself please see Miss Edith Gunby in the Ouachita National Bank. She is publications chairman for the local League of Women Voters. She will order a whole series — about eight in number — of those pamphlets for you for 25 cents each. One can take them in a brief case and read them leisurely. See if Mr. Fulton Lewis is right. He says they are leftist slanted. I say they are slanted to our Constitution, to our Declaration of Independence, and to our Bills of Rights.

The League of Women Voters is very proud of the fact that they have been able to accumulate a Reserve Fund for research — the Carrie Chapman Catts fund. It gave the League a basis on which they could ask the Fund of the Republic for help. With these Funds the League is able to put on an extensive study throughout the nation. The first of these pamphlets, a kind of introduction, entitled, "Individual Liberty, U. S. A." was written by a very fine person, originally from Louisiana, Mrs. Kathryn H. Stone. I know Mrs. Stone quite well. I consider her one of the most intelligent, best informed, and fairest-minded persons I ever knew. She knows government too. I have sat in conference with her in Washington, D. C.; in Kansas City; and in Grand Rapids, Wis.

There are now throughout the United States and Alaska more than 500 of these discussion groups and they are not compelled to use these pamphlets. Some groups use the great books, some use Bruce and Esther Findlays' book, Our Rugged Constitution, some use a variety of books from their local libraries, and many of the groups use the pamphlets, Freedom Agenda. The Board of Freedom Agenda was very fortunate to secure men of unquestioned ability and loyalty to America to write these pamphlets. The League of Women Voters is made up of women of very high type. They are Democratic Women of liberal and conservative hue, and they are Republican Women of liberal and conservative hue. They never undertake any project without a tremendous amount of deliberation—two sides always.

The pamphlets are so handy and nice to have. The one written by Dr. T. V. Smith on the Bill of Rights and Our Individual Liberties has very little explanation by the author. It contains The Bill of Rights, The Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution of the United States. Such dignity! These documents are allowed to speak for themselves. One of the League members said recently, "I think the people are really hungry for the information taught in Dr. Zachariah Shaffee, Jr.s the Freedom Agenda pamphlets." pamphlet on Freedom of Speech and the Press seems most timely. Dr. Chaffee is one of America's most learned men and, in his practice of law as had unlimited experience with courts and the Congress that his pamphlet is principally "quotes" from decisions by the courts and laws by the Congress. He is a master in the field in which he wrote. It is nice to have one small volume in which all those laws and decisions are collected. I quote here the last paragraph in his pamphlet:

"In 1920 Hughes, in a speech at Harvard law school, wondered 'whether constitutional government as heretofore maintained in this republic could survive another great war even victoriously waged.' Yet his prediction was to prove utterly false in World War II. This, I believe, was because the nation was facing calmly and courageously the greatest dangers it had confronted since General Lee marched south from Gettysburg. Freedom of speech belongs to a people which is free from fear." End of quote. That, certainly, is the statement of a man who loves his country. Mr. Fulton Lewis's first basic objection has no foundation.

Mr. Lewis's second "basic" objection, and I quote, "the frequency with which liberals emerge as leaders of local Freedom Agenda discussion projects." This is a democracy and if local units wish to elect liberal leaders they have that privilege. In our city of Monroe, La., we do not operate as liberals and conservatives, but as Democrats and Republicans. Our leader did not "emerge". She studied. Mrs. DeWitt Henry studies more than any member of our local league. She is well prepared to lead the group. She is a person who is always prepared. She is invited to speak before the most conservative groups. She was chosen one year as the Woman of the Year. She is somebody for our city to be proud of. However, I am sure she would welcome some of our Republican friends to lead the discussions. Personally, I would welcome it sometimes. It should be interesting and stimulating. With tolerance we could have lively discussions. Mr. Lewis should know that tolerance is one of our "basic" principles. And may we have some conservatives "emerge" now and then, here and there as leaders of Freedom Agenda discussion projects.

I have said that Mr. Fulton Lewis made loose and unsubstantiated statements. Mr. Lewis tells about the Jr. Bar Association of Dallas, Tex., disavowing any responsibility for the Freedom Agenda Pamphlets, but he did not tell us that the Dallas, Texas group was still very active led by the Dallas College and the Dallas League of Women Voters. Dallas College is the Night College of S. M. U. for adults. Those two groups invited the Junior Bar Association to join them and the two groups are not disturbed by what has happened.

Mr. Lewis also failed to tell that the New York City Bar Association is studying our freedoms in groups. Mr. Lewis told about the disapproval of the American Legion (?) of the Freedom Agenda pamphlets, but he failed to tell how a group of Legionaires in Chicago is studying the same pamphlets following the outburst against the Girl Scouts when one of their own members yelled to them, "How screwy can one be?!" Some of them began to think. Today that study of the Constitution is conducted by Legionaires throughout the State of Illinois.

All Legionaires do not think alike any more than any other large group organized on one principle only. Many Legionaires have dropped their membership in the Legion because of the steamroller method of the leaders. But I have great faith that the finest among them will overcome this era of histeria with genuine Americanism.

Mr. Lewis makes much of "tax free" funds. I confess that I do not know too much about money, but I think it is wonderful that we can have a little tax free money to spend for research, humanitarian causes and religious causes. Why I am permitted to spend 20 per cent of my income tax free, besides other deductions. I think the Carrie Chapman Catts Fund and the Fund of the Republic are being well spent.

And there is a big group of Americans who think so, too. More than 500 groups studying our Constitution! I think that is a real revival and I am proud that the League of Women Voters spear heads the movement. Newspapers all over the country are commending the League and the Fund of the Republic for this splendid work. Let me mention a few of those newspapers. It would be impossible to give them all: South Orange, New Jersey the News - Record says editorially, "Speaking of freedom, there's something exciting in the air . . . The people shall judge, but only in knowledge and understanding of liberty can the people be free." He encouraged the study; Montgomery Advertiser Montgomery, Ala., headlined, The League of Women Voters Grasps the Nettle; Portland Oregonian, Everyone's For Freedom; Princeton, N. J. Town Topics: Verona - Cedar Grove New Jersey Times comments most favorably; Wellesley, Mass., Townsman; the New York Times; the Minneapolis Morning Tribune; Riverhead, New York News-Review; Bloomington, Indiana, Daily Herald Telephone. These are only a few of the fine papers that are encouraging the study of our freedoms.

I would like to quote from the national president of The League of Women Voters, Mrs. John G. Lee, an excerpt from the speech she made before the Constitutional Rights subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Speaking of the ideals of The League of Women Voters she says, "I am devoted to its ideals. It should be noted that The League of Women Voters was born when the last stronghold of obstructionism to complete 'government by the consent of governed' was abandoned. Political freedom has been a gradual achievement in the United States. It was not until 1920 that America accepted it in theory for all her adult citizens. The purpose of the League of Women Voters, founded in 1920 as a result of the granting of the franchise to women, is 'to promote informed and active participation of citizens in government.' By the very nature of its purpose and work the League is the very antithesis of totalitarianism. One cannot honestly support the purpose and policies of the League of Women Voters and be other than unalterably opposed to communism — to totalitarianism in any form. One cannot work in the League and fail to recognize the menace and threat that communism presents to all we hold most dear. Yet it is not our way in the League of Women Voters to fight it by destroying our own

Israel Will Not Retreat

Not since the battle for Irish freedom has a foreign cause had such dedicated support in the United States as that of Israel in its clash with Egypt.

As in the case of Ireland, Americans have raised and sent millions of dollars to Israeli, some of which — again as in the case of Ireland — is being used for purchase of arms.

Politicians are thinking in terms of what is loosely described as the Jewish vote, just as during the twenties they talked about the Irish vote. Neither exists in fact, any more than does a solid farm vote, or a mass labor vote. Voters of Jewish faith may be classified as Zionists and non Zionists, and there are other divisions as well. But a substantial proportion of Jews in the United States are thoroughly in sympathy with Israel, and are giving assistance.

With that in mind, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett received more attention on his visit to Washington than any statesman since Premier Mendez-France of France last year. Sharett was born in Russia, educated in England and well trained in the ways of American thought. That background has equipped him for the difficult job he now has.

As he spoke at a National Press Club luncheon, among his listeners were Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, George V. Allen, assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern affairs and two White House aides—Arthur Burns, economic advisor to the president and Max Rabb, secretary for the cabinet.

They heard Sharett propose a security guarantee for Israell by treaty with the United States, and state very positively that Israeli will preserve its borders, which amounted to a flat rejection of the proposal of Foreign Minister Anthony Eden that both Israel and the Arab nations make territorial concessions. The security pact with the United States would be designed to preserve Israel's present boundaries.

Thus the next political campaign in the U. S. could see that issue raised just as some of the friends of Ireland in the 20's, and on occasions since, have sought to involve this country in the Irish-British controversy on Ireland's side.

Premier Sharett answered some blunt questions, including one, "In moral or international law, how does the armed eviction of Arabs from their ancestral homes by Israeli troops differ from crimes inflicted on Poland and the Baltic peoples by the Nazis and the Communists?"

"We refute the contention that these Arabs were expelled by armed force," he replied. "We begged these Arabs to stay, but they didn't. The reasons were, first, panic. They fled. The second reason, they were urged by the Egyptians to withdraw at the outbreak of the war which the Egyptians started against us. The Egyptian military commanders told these Arabs to withdraw back into the Eygpian lines and assured them that after winning the war they would be restored to their homes.

"But we asked these Arabs to stay. And we are the only nation which offered compensation to the masses who were driven from their homes."

Another queston was "If you fail to receive assurances from the state department that your present request for arms and support will be granted, do you plan to carry your appeal to the American voters and the American congress?"

The reply was, "The government of Israel deals only with the state department. If we get a negative reply to our requests, we shall certainly seek no appeal from the decisions of the U. S. government."

Asked about "the destruction of Catholic shrines in the Holy Land," Premier Sharett said it was true that some of the historic Catholic places were destroyed or damaged, including the Catholic Church of Notre Dame and a French monastery. Armies might have used or misused and caused damage to Christian shrines in Jerusalem and the Holy Land, he said, but added: "Our relations with the Vatican are better than normal."

To a written question from "a patriotic American military officer" who suggested that the best interests of this country in the Middle East demanded the friendship of 40 million Moslems in that strategic oil area rather than the two or four million Jews," Share replied.

"When any respectable American tells me that his friendship with the Arabs is worth more than his friendship with the Jews, I say he is short sighted and narrow minded."

Politicians Can't Be Funny

I know a chap who can get off a practical joke better than anybody. Ray Hinch has a gift for making a prank turn out funny.

He can plant a detonating device in your coat pocket, and you'll laugh at the resultant cap - size explosion.

He can get up in the middle of the night at our fishing camp, steal into Dr. Hadlac's cabin, kidnap the distinguished doctor's tackle box, and file the barbs off all the fish hooks.

Doc fishes all the next day, catches nothing.

If you or I did the same thing we'd be blacklisted and never invited fishing again.

Ray is invited everywhere.

However well-intentioned, most of us would be wise to leave pranks and witticisms to those with a knack for them. They backfire too easily.

I have been on the political beat for 20 years and I have seen many jesters seek public office. Most also-ran.

The reason, I think, is that people won't always vote for the kind of man they'll laugh at.

This misleads the candidate. He has an idea if he can keep them laughing he'll keep them on his side. But most Americans have an old-fashioned idea that our most capable men should do our thinking for us, and the comic, however skillful, somehow seems to lack depth.

Some politicians read about how President Lincoln used to be quite a reconteur. They fail to understand the difference between a man so very big he does not need to act the part, and the lesser man who, to be thought and become big, must remain on his best behavior.

To shuck right down to the cob, as we say in the Ozarks, if Adlai Stevenson were in the White House some of his aphorisms would become classics.

But while he's still a candidate, the twisted tails of his little quips are too slippery, somehow, for the hard hands of us farm folks to hang onto.

Also, in his effort to make every utterance worthy of Bartlett, he is inclined to fence himself in with fancy phrases.

You take in 1955 Mr. Stevenson says, "I shall do all I can to persuade my party to entrust that immense responsibility to me . . ."

In 1952 he was saying, "I have no fitness, tempermentally, mentally or physically for the job."

Even after accepting the 1952 nomination, he told the convention, "I have asked the merciful Father of us all to let this cup pass from me."

Lights Over Broadway

By Walter Winchell

The city is filled with the hushed sounds of dawn when a columnist sandwiches carbon paper between white sheets, rolls them into a typewriter and begins his two-finger drumming. Within a few hours these words will be transported —via magic carpet — to the 48 states and several foreign nations. There is much cause for thanks in this privilege, of course. And even more reason for thankfulness in the knowledge that somewhere, sometime, the words may amuse or enlighten someone. . . . A reporter's expression of gratitude to a free press goes beyond individual emotion, naturally. Thousands of words pour into newspaper offices from hundreds of sources. The news is transmitted by the nervous fingers of teletypers and local reporters. This torrent of information must be sorted and condensed, read, re-read, written and checked, printed and distributed — within several breakneck hours. Recording the highlights of the world's experience daily is not only a miracle of technology, but a triumph of human ingenuity and diligence.

Expressing thanks for unfettered journalism goes beyond mechanical wonders. It extends to the frontiers of our history. There is a direct link between the newsboy on the corner of Broadway and 50th and the unknown young American farmer who stood at Lexington in 1775 and fired the first shot. . . . After a British officer bellowed: "Lay down your arms, God damn you!" . . . When the ragged patriots raised their muskets in the 18th Century they were struggling for the right of a newsboy to peddle free papers in the 20th.

The Thunderers were more than newspapermen. They were soldiers. And they echoed Pulitzer's battle cry. "What is everybody's business is nobody's business — except the journalist's. It is his by adoption. But for his care every reform would be still-born. He holds officials to their duties. He promotes every hopeful plan of progress. Without him public opinion would be shapeless and dumb. Our Republic and its press will rise or fall together. An able, disinterested, public - spirited press, with trained intelligence to know the right and courage to do it, can preserve that public virtue without which popular government is a sham and a mockery . . . An honest journalist is an officer in the Department of Intelligence of the Armies of the Good."

Every newspaperman must take fierce pride and be humbly grateful to be part of a profession that produced such men as Greeley, Hearst, Pulitzer, Bennett and Dana. The Great Thunderers — and universal lamplighters — who gave journalism so much of its fire and fervor . . . They were not only recorders of events but enthusiastic participants. They recorded history and made it. They were constantly aware that the free press must utilize its liberty to battle for its preservation. In the final analysis, a paper demonstrates it is free only when it battles those who seek to undermine democracy — at home and overseas.

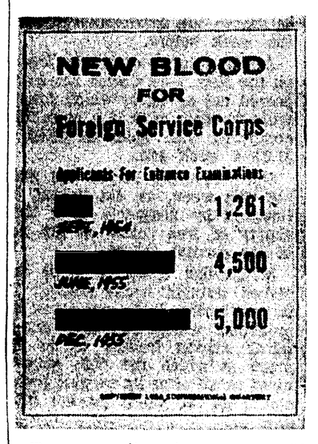
State Department Racing For Reorganization Goal

WASHINGTON, (CQ) — The department of state, racing to meet a self - imposed March 1, 1956, deadline, is still a long way from its reorganization goals.

Basic aim of the plan adopted by the department in 1954, following recommendations of a special personnel committee headed by Henry M. Wriston of Brown University, is to expand the ranks of the foreign service officer corps to 3,900 — almost three times the 1,285 on duty 18 months ago.

As of Sept. 30, the corps numbered 2,146 members. That meant the additional 1,754 members would have to be found within five months. The department's chances of meeting that quota appear slight.



Two recruitment sources are open to the department: civil service personnel among the state department's 20,000 employees, and young college graduates.

Under the 1954 reorganization plan, the department set out to integrate into the select foreign service officer corps many of the foreign policy experts who work for the department in Washington or abroad but who do not have FSO appointments.

By Oct. 31, 37 departmental officers had accepted integration (which means they now face assignments overseas), but 226 had refused — among them many highly qualified specialists whose services the department can ill afford to lose.

So far, the problem is unresolved, and it seems likely that years will pass before integration is completed.

Outwardly, at least, the department is meeting with greater success in attracting new recruits. Applications to take the entrance examination for the foreign service jumped from 1,261 for the September, 1954, exam to about 4,500 for the June, 1955 test, largely because the examination was simplified.

But of the 4,500 only 3,334 actually took the exam, and only 652 passed. Of these some 391 currently are eligible, the others still attend college or are in military service. But many eligible applicants may yet be washed out by the stiffer oral examination or by security checks.

A second examination is being offered on Dec. 9, and already the department has received more than 5,000 applications from would-be diplomats. Net additions to the foreign service from these two groups will probably run between 500 and 1,000 over the next year.

For the long run, the Department hopes to be able to offer $900 scholarships to promising college undergraduates who will sign up for six years in the Foreign Service. The scholarship program, which also was recommended by the Wriston Committee and would cost about $2 million a year, has yet to clear the Bureau of the Budget.

Meanwhile, time is running out for the reorganizers, and no one will be surprised if Congress asks some sharp questions when hearings start on next year's State Department appropriations.

Politics And The Farm Problem

Despite a recent public indorsement from President Eisenhower, Secretary of Agriculture Benson may quit the cabinet within a few weeks, according to reports being circulated in usually well-informed Washington political circles.

Mr. Benson, an able administrator, "heired" a Pandora's box of grief and trouble when he assumed office, following 20 years of Democratic rule. He has been made a scapegoat for Democratic errors involving plainly unworkable parity-price formulas and resulting farm surpluses that had reached mountainous proportions even before he assumed leadership of the department.

Three good crop years involving basic commodities ensued; and the surpluses have accumulated steadily. Farm income has declined, on the theoretical and arbitrary basis of parity—the relationship of commodities sold by the farmer to goods and services he buys.

Dissatisfaction with this situation is reflected throughout the Middle West and has spread into the South. Middle Western GOP politicians, including many members of Congress, are alarmed. Some of them such as Rep. Usher L. Burdick, Republican of North Dakota, are saying publicly that unless Mr. Benson and his flexible price-support program are replaced, a "farm uprising" may wreck Republican aspirations in Congress and the White House next year.

Thus, the embattled Mr. Benson finds himself between cross-fires—from the Democrats, who see in the farm issue one of their best campaign issues of 1956; and the Republicans, who fear party disaster unless the agricultural elements are placated quickly.

One of the major legislative aims of the Democrats at the session of Congress beginning next January apparently is to ram through Congress a law restoring rigid price supports at 90 per cent of parity.

Viewed factually, the recent decline in individual farm income from a parity index standpoint apparently has little direct relation to the row over rigid versus flexible farm price supports; since the flexible supports have not as yet gone into effect, except on a few dairy items such as butter.

That a serious farm problem exists in the United States is a valid assumption, in most persons' minds. That it can be assuaged through a partisan political approach is open to severe question.

Under the New Deal and the Fair Deal the farmer accepted a measure of regimentation, involving acreage quotas on various crops, together with parity setups—in effect, a government guarantee of minimum prices.

In so doing, he priced himself more and more out of the great export markets on which American agriculture relied for more than 200 years as a source of prosperity. Our export cotton market, for instance, is a mere shadow of what it was three or four decades ago.

Today, taking advantage of every worth-while advance in machine tools and modern fertilizers, land utilization and husbandry geared to science, the farmer produces prodigiously and expects the taxpayers generally to bail him out.

The question of flexible versus rigid price supports for basic farm commodities is far less important than the question of what to do with the farm surpluses accumulated as a result of government interference with the law of supply and demand.

How shall we dispose of these surpluses? There are only two methods, broadly speaking—to increase domestic consumption greatly, or to recapture and enlarge our foreign export markets.

A combination of these two methods is indicated as a probable solution.

A recent national survey by experts revealed that, despite the high tide of prosperity, some 20 per cent of the American people are undernourished; and that the worst sufferers are children and the aged, the latter often attempting to exist on pension and welfare doles utterly inadequate to their needs.

Large-scale distribution of basic commodities to the poor might appear "socialistic," but it is no more socialistic than for government to buy these foodstuffs and clog every warehouse in the land with the surplus. The spectacle of mountains of mouldering grain owned by the government, and hungry people who lack the money to buy, does our civilization very poor credit.

Such commodities as cotton cannot be absorbed domestically. These should be sold abroad, realistically, at competitive world prices; and the Department of Agriculture should replace the State Department as final authority, under the President, in all such transactions.

The American farmer might have been far better off had he resisted the tinseled lure of government aid, and stood on his own feet, as the cattleman has done. But he chose the road of regimentation, within present limits, and the problem now is a practical one—how to make his regimented economy workable without bankrupting the taxpayers.

Railroads Seek No Advantage

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads has simply and clearly explained the industry's attitude toward regulation. "The railroads do not seek any advantage or any preferential treatment over their competitors," he said. "They do seek, however, the right to use the cost advantages inherent in the railroad method of hauling goods and persons in trains of cars on tracks, just as every other form of transportation uses its particular inherent advantages, whatever they might be."

Why, at present, cannot the railroads do this? The reason lies in regulatory restrictions, and in laws and principles of regulation which in large part came about when the railroads had a virtual monopoly of commercial land traffic. Times have changed, and transportation has become an extremely competitive business. But the philosophy of regulation has not changed basically.

Giving each carrier the opportunity to use its inherent advantages is the main proposal of the report of the Advisory Committee on Transport Policy and Organization, which was made at the cabinet level and has been given near-unanimous endorsement by the country's newspapers. This would be accomplished by a reasonable relaxation of regulation over rate-making. The result would be the best and cheapest transportation possible by all carriers.

Fulton Lewis Rebuffed By First Monroe League Voter

Monroe, La.
Editor, Morning World:

Please, may I ask a favor of you? I would like to make a few timely statements for the sake of some of your reading public who may be confused by Mr. Fulton Lewis's recent articles. I hope you will find the heart and space to publish my forum letter.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that you permit Mr. Fulton Lewis to pursue a subject on your editorial page to the point of unfairness and rank misguidance and no one ever gives the other side of the question. Why not give some space to the answering Mr. Fulton Lewis on the subject of the Fund of the Republic and The League of Women Voters. Many league members are subscribers to your papers.

I find that Mr. Fulton Lewis makes loose, unsubstantiated statements, and quotes for authorities those who have not been recognized as authorities on any subjects. November 9 in your evening paper, and I quote: "Two basic objections are being raised to the so-called Freedom Agenda program: the leftist slanted nature of pamphlets used as source material, and the frequency with which 'liberals' emerge as leaders of local Freedom Agenda discussion projects."

Let us take the first of Mr. Fulton Lewis's basic objections — the leftist slanted pamphlets used—. If anyone would like to read those pamphlets for himself please see Miss Edith Gunby in the Ouachita National Bank. She is publications chairman for the local League of Women Voters. She will order a whole series — about eight in number — of those pamphlets for you for 25 cents each. One can take them in a brief case and read them leisurely. See if Mr. Fulton Lewis is right. He says they are leftist slanted. I say they are slanted to our Constitution, to our Declaration of Independence, and to our Bills of Rights.

The League of Women Voters is very proud of the fact that they have been able to accumulate a Reserve Fund for research — the Carrie Chapman Catts fund. It gave the League a basis on which they could ask the Fund of the Republic for help. With these Funds the League is able to put on an extensive study throughout the nation. The first of these pamphlets, a kind of introduction, entitled, "Individual Liberty, U. S. A." was written by a very fine person, originally from Louisiana, Mrs. Kathryn H. Stone. I know Mrs. Stone quite well. I consider her one of the most intelligent, best informed, and fairest-minded persons I ever knew. She knows government too. I have sat in conference with her in Washington, D. C.; in Kansas City; and in Grand Rapids, Wis.

There are now throughout the United States and Alaska more than 500 of these discussion groups and they are not compelled to use these pamphlets. Some groups use the great books, some use Bruce and Esther Findlays' book, Our Rugged Constitution, some use a variety of books from their local libraries, and many of the groups use the pamphlets, Freedom Agenda. The Board of Freedom Agenda was very fortunate to secure men of unquestioned ability and loyalty to America to write these pamphlets. The League of Women Voters is made up of women of very high type. They are Democratic Women of liberal and conservative hue, and they are Republican Women of liberal and conservative hue. They never undertake any project without a tremendous amount of deliberation—two sides always.

The pamphlets are so handy and nice to have. The one written by Dr. T. V. Smith on the Bill of Rights and Our Individual Liberties has very little explanation by the author. It contains The Bill of Rights, The Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution of the United States. Such dignity! These documents are allowed to speak for themselves. One of the League members said recently, "I think the people are really hungry for the information taught in Dr. Zachariah Shaffee, Jr.s the Freedom Agenda pamphlets." pamphlet on Freedom of Speech and the Press seems most timely. Dr. Chaffee is one of America's most learned men and, in his practice of law as had unlimited experience with courts and the Congress that his pamphlet is principally "quotes" from decisions by the courts and laws by the Congress. He is a master in the field in which he wrote. It is nice to have one small volume in which all those laws and decisions are collected. I quote here the last paragraph in his pamphlet:

"In 1920 Hughes, in a speech at Harvard law school, wondered 'whether constitutional government as heretofore maintained in this republic could survive another great war even victoriously waged.' Yet his prediction was to prove utterly false in World War II. This, I believe, was because the nation was facing calmly and courageously the greatest dangers it had confronted since General Lee marched south from Gettysburg. Freedom of speech belongs to a people which is free from fear." End of quote. That, certainly, is the statement of a man who loves his country. Mr. Fulton Lewis's first basic objection has no foundation.

Mr. Lewis's second "basic" objection, and I quote, "the frequency with which liberals emerge as leaders of local Freedom Agenda discussion projects." This is a democracy and if local units wish to elect liberal leaders they have that privilege. In our city of Monroe, La., we do not operate as liberals and conservatives, but as Democrats and Republicans. Our leader did not "emerge". She studied. Mrs. DeWitt Henry studies more than any member of our local league. She is well prepared to lead the group. She is a person who is always prepared. She is invited to speak before the most conservative groups. She was chosen one year as the Woman of the Year. She is somebody for our city to be proud of. However, I am sure she would welcome some of our Republican friends to lead the discussions. Personally, I would welcome it sometimes. It should be interesting and stimulating. With tolerance we could have lively discussions. Mr. Lewis should know that tolerance is one of our "basic" principles. And may we have some conservatives "emerge" now and then, here and there as leaders of Freedom Agenda discussion projects.

I have said that Mr. Fulton Lewis made loose and unsubstantiated statements. Mr. Lewis tells about the Jr. Bar Association of Dallas, Tex., disavowing any responsibility for the Freedom Agenda Pamphlets, but he did not tell us that the Dallas, Texas group was still very active led by the Dallas College and the Dallas League of Women Voters. Dallas College is the Night College of S. M. U. for adults. Those two groups invited the Junior Bar Association to join them and the two groups are not disturbed by what has happened.

Mr. Lewis also failed to tell that the New York City Bar Association is studying our freedoms in groups. Mr. Lewis told about the disapproval of the American Legion (?) of the Freedom Agenda pamphlets, but he failed to tell how a group of Legionaires in Chicago is studying the same pamphlets following the outburst against the Girl Scouts when one of their own members yelled to them, "How screwy can one be?!" But I have great faith that the finest among them will overcome this era of histeria with genuine Americanism.

Mr. Lewis makes much of "tax free" funds. I confess that I do not know too much about money, but I think it is wonderful that we can have a little tax free money to spend for research, humanitarian causes and religious causes. Why I am permitted to spend 20 per cent of my income tax free, besides other deductions. I think the Carrie Chapman Catts Fund and the Fund of the Republic are being well spent.

And there is a big group of Americans who think so, too. More than 500 groups studying our Constitution! I think that is a real revival and I am proud that the League of Women Voters spear heads the movement. Newspapers all over the country are commending the League and the Fund of the Republic for this splendid work. Let me mention a few of those newspapers. It would be impossible to give them all: South Orange, New Jersey the News - Record says editorially, "Speaking of freedom, there's something exciting in the air . . . The people shall judge, but only in knowledge and understanding of liberty can the people be free." He encouraged the study; Montgomery Advertiser Montgomery, Ala., headlined, The League of Women Voters Grasps the Nettle; Portland Oregonian, Everyone's For Freedom; Princeton, N. J. Town Topics: Verona - Cedar Grove New Jersey Times comments most favorably; Wellesley, Mass., Townsman; the New York Times; the Minneapolis Morning Tribune; Riverhead, New York News-Review; Bloomington, Indiana, Daily Herald Telephone. These are only a few of the fine papers that are encouraging the study of our freedoms.

I would like to quote from the national president of The League of Women Voters, Mrs. John G. Lee, an excerpt from the speech she made before the Constitutional Rights subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Speaking of the ideals of The League of Women Voters she says, "I am devoted to its ideals. Thus the next political campaign in the U. S. could see that issue raised just as some of the friends of Ireland in the 20's, and on occasions since, have sought to involve this country in the Irish-British controversy on Ireland's side.

Premier Sharett answered some blunt questions, including one, "In moral or international law, how does the armed eviction of Arabs from their ancestral homes by Israeli troops differ from crimes inflicted on Poland and the Baltic peoples by the Nazis and the Communists?"

"We refute the contention that these Arabs were expelled by armed force," he replied. "We begged these Arabs to stay, but they didn't. The reasons were, first, panic. They fled. The second reason, they were urged by the Egyptians to withdraw at the outbreak of the war which the Egyptians started against us. The Egyptian miliary commanders told these Arabs to withdraw back into the Eygpian lines and assured them that after winning the war they would be restored to their homes.

"But we asked these Arabs to stay. And we are the only nation which offered compensation to the masses who were driven from their homes."

Another queston was "If you fail to receive assurances from the state department that your present request for arms and support will be granted, do you plan to carry your appeal to the American voters and the American congress?"

The reply was, "The government of Israel deals only with the state department. If we get a negative reply to our requests, we shall certainly seek no appeal from the decisions of the U. S. government."

Asked about "the destruction of Catholic shrines in the Holy Land," Premier Sharett said it was true that some of the historic Catholic places were destroyed or damaged, including the Catholic Church of Notre Dame and a French monastery. Armies might have used or misused and caused damage to Christian shrines in Jerusalem and the Holy Land, he said, but added: "Our relations with the Vatican are better than normal."

To a written question from "a patriotic American military officer" who suggested that the best interests of this country in the Middle East demanded the friendship of 40 million Moslems in that strategic oil area rather than the two or four million Jews," Share replied.

"When any respectable American tells me that his friendship with the Arabs is worth more than his friendship with the Jews, I say he is short sighted and narrow minded."

Politicians Can't Be Funny

I know a chap who can get off a practical joke better than anybody. Ray Hinch has a gift for making a prank turn out funny.

He can plant a detonating device in your coat pocket, and you'll laugh at the resultant cap - size explosion.

He can get up in the middle of the night at our fishing camp, steal into Dr. Hadlac's cabin, kidnap the distinguished doctor's tackle box, and file the barbs off all the fish hooks.

Doc fishes all the next day, catches nothing.

If you or I did the same thing we'd be blacklisted and never invited fishing again.

Ray is invited everywhere.

However well-intentioned, most of us would be wise to leave pranks and witticisms to those with a knack for them. They backfire too easily.

I have been on the political beat for 20 years and I have seen many jesters seek public office. Most also-ran.

The reason, I think, is that people won't always vote for the kind of man they'll laugh at.

This misleads the candidate. He has an idea if he can keep them laughing he'll keep them on his side. But most Americans have an old-fashioned idea that our most capable men should do our thinking for us, and the comic, however skillful, somehow seems to lack depth.

Some politicians read about how President Lincoln used to be quite a reconteur. They fail to understand the difference between a man so very big he does not need to act the part, and the lesser man who, to be thought and become big, must remain on his best behavior.

To shuck right down to the cob, as we say in the Ozarks, if Adlai Stevenson were in the White House some of his aphorisms would become classics.

But while he's still a candidate, the twisted tails of his little quips are too slippery, somehow, for the hard hands of us farm folks to hang onto.

Also, in his effort to make every utterance worthy of Bartlett, he is inclined to fence himself in with fancy phrases.

You take in 1955 Mr. Stevenson says, "I shall do all I can to persuade my party to entrust that immense responsibility to me . . ."

In 1952 he was saying, "I have no fitness, tempermentally, mentally or physically for the job."

Even after accepting the 1952 nomination, he told the convention, "I have asked the merciful Father of us all to let this cup pass from me."

Lights Over Broadway

By Walter Winchell

The city is filled with the hushed sounds of dawn when a columnist sandwiches carbon paper between white sheets, rolls them into a typewriter and begins his two-finger drumming. Within a few hours these words will be transported —via magic carpet — to the 48 states and several foreign nations. There is much cause for thanks in this privilege, of course. And even more reason for thankfulness in the knowledge that somewhere, sometime, the words may amuse or enlighten someone. . . . A reporter's expression of gratitude to a free press goes beyond individual emotion, naturally. Thousands of words pour into newspaper offices from hundreds of sources. The news is transmitted by the nervous fingers of teletypers and local reporters. This torrent of information must be sorted and condensed, read, re-read, written and checked, printed and distributed — within several breakneck hours. Recording the highlights of the world's experience daily is not only a miracle of technology, but a triumph of human ingenuity and diligence.

Expressing thanks for unfettered journalism goes beyond mechanical wonders. It extends to the frontiers of our history. There is a direct link between the newsboy on the corner of Broadway and 50th and the unknown young American farmer who stood at Lexington in 1775 and fired the first shot. . . . After a British officer bellowed: "Lay down your arms, God damn you!" . . . When the ragged patriots raised their muskets in the 18th Century they were struggling for the right of a newsboy to peddle free papers in the 20th.

The Thunderers were more than newspapermen. They were soldiers. And they echoed Pulitzer's battle cry. "What is everybody's business is nobody's business — except the journalist's. It is his by adoption. But for his care every reform would be still-born. He holds officials to their duties. He promotes every hopeful plan of progress. Without him public opinion would be shapeless and dumb. Our Republic and its press will rise or fall together. An able, disinterested, public - spirited press, with trained intelligence to know the right and courage to do it, can preserve that public virtue without which popular government is a sham and a mockery . . . An honest journalist is an officer in the Department of Intelligence of the Armies of the Good."

Every newspaperman must take fierce pride and be humbly grateful to be part of a profession that produced such men as Greeley, Hearst, Pulitzer, Bennett and Dana. The Great Thunderers — and universal lamplighters — who gave journalism so much of its fire and fervor . . . They were not only recorders of events but enthusiastic participants. They recorded history and made it. They were constantly aware that the free press must utilize its liberty to battle for its preservation. In the final analysis, a paper demonstrates it is free only when it battles those who seek to undermine democracy — at home and overseas.

State Department Racing For Reorganization Goal

WASHINGTON, (CQ) — The department of state, racing to meet a self - imposed March 1, 1956, deadline, is still a long way from its reorganization goals.

Basic aim of the plan adopted by the department in 1954, following recommendations of a special personnel committee headed by Henry M. Wriston of Brown University, is to expand the ranks of the foreign service officer corps to 3,900 — almost three times the 1,285 on duty 18 months ago.

As of Sept. 30, the corps numbered 2,146 members. That meant the additional 1,754 members would have to be found within five months. The department's chances of meeting that quota appear slight.

Two recruitment sources are open to the department: civil service personnel among the state department's 20,000 employees, and young college graduates.

Under the 1954 reorganization plan, the department set out to integrate into the select foreign service officer corps many of the foreign policy experts who work for the department in Washington or abroad but who do not have FSO appointments.

By Oct. 31, 37 departmental officers had accepted integration (which means they now face assignments overseas), but 226 had refused — among them many highly qualified specialists whose services the department can ill afford to lose.

So far, the problem is unresolved, and it seems likely that years will pass before integration is completed.

Outwardly, at least, the department is meeting with greater success in attracting new recruits. Applications to take the entrance examination for the foreign service jumped from 1,261 for the September, 1954, exam to about 4,500 for the June, 1955 test, largely because the examination was simplified.

But of the 4,500 only 3,334 actually took the exam, and only 652 passed. Of these some 391 currently are eligible, the others still attend college or are in military service. But many eligible applicants may yet be washed out by the stiffer oral examination or by security checks.

A second examination is being offered on Dec. 9, and already the department has received more than 5,000 applications from would-be diplomats. Net additions to the foreign service from these two groups will probably run between 500 and 1,000 over the next year.

For the long run, the Department hopes to be able to offer $900 scholarships to promising college undergraduates who will sign up for six years in the Foreign Service. The scholarship program, which also was recommended by the Wriston Committee and would cost about $2 million a year, has yet to clear the Bureau of the Budget.

Meanwhile, time is running out for the reorganizers, and no one will be surprised if Congress asks some sharp questions when hearings start on next year's State Department appropriations.

Ike's Brother Participant In State Law Meet

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26—UP—Edgar N. Eisenhower, brother of the President, was scheduled to arrive here Saturday to take part in sessions of the Deep South regional group of the American Bar Association.

The Tacoma, Wash., attorney will also attend sessions of the standing committee on unauthorized practices of the ABA, which is meeting jointly with the regional group.

A panel discussion on "Freedom of the Press and Fair Trial" will open the four-day meeting Sunday.

Participants will be George W. Healy Jr., editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune, who will present the viewpoint of the press; Justice James D. Sim of the Louisiana Supreme Court, who will present the views of the courts; and Robert D. Swezey, executive vice-president of WDSU-TV, New Orleans, who will present the viewpoint of radio and television.

Edwin M. Otterbourg, past president of the New York county Lawyer's Association, will serve as moderator.

One of the topics of the discussion will be the subject of taking news pictures in court without upsetting the court's decorum.

Nearly 2,000 attorneys and judges from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas are expected to take part in the conference.

Eastern Airline Official Scoffs At 'Monopoly Talk'

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26—UP—An Eastern Air Lines official said talk of monopoly on New Orleans-New York City air service by his firm is a "common accusation."

H.Walton Cutshall, Eastern sales and traffic manager here, said his firm has no monopoly, but admitted Eastern was the only airline licensed to travel from here to New York City via Washington.

Capital Airlines, a competitor for direct service from here to New York, is certified for non-stop service, but must fly via Pittsburgh. The "natural gateway" for New Orleans-New York service is considered through Washington, rather than Pittsburgh.

In a decision made Tuesday, the Civil Aeronautics Board opened the way to Capital and Delta-C&S for service to New York City via Birmingham, Atlanta, Charlotte, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

values and heritage; it is our belief that it must be fought by developing a realization of what communism is and by strengthening devotion to the American way."

I quote again from Mrs. Lee, "As president of the League of Women Voters, I am convinced that the strict adherance of the organization to Democratic principles and procedures is more important in the long run than are the causes which it pursues. I believe tolerance and respect for the opinions of others is being jeopardized by men and women whose instincts are worthily patriotic, but whose minds are apparently unwilling to accept the necessity for dissent within a democracy. If reason and understanding and faith in the capacity of Americans to discover truth are not brought to bear upon the matter, this country will take a long step backward. We will fall heir to the very thing we fear the most."

I wish to quote from the most recent speech by Mrs. Lee in which she spoke of "rising pressures on organizations which operate from the premise of good faith." Mrs. Lee says, "If our belief in our American heritage is truly deep, we will refuse to be intimidated and will not allow our ideals to be compromised."

"There are two areas in which the League of Women Voters has already begun to feel the impact of these developing pressures.

"There are extremist groups in the country today which seem to be embarking on a campaign to discredit the ideas and work of reputable individuals and organizations. These groups use the techniques of half truths, untruths, and innuendos in an attempt to make their political opinions prevail . . . Every member has a responsibility to maintain the standards and ideals for the league."

Mr. Editor, I have not been commissioned by any group to write this letter to your Forum, but I feel constrained to do so out of the fact I was the first member of the league in this city and I believe in its good work and future good work. I have told league board members that I was assuming this responsibility. They were very happy to know that some one informed was answering Mr. Lewis and there are hundreds in this state and elsewhere who will be glad to read the truth. I am sure you will do the fair thing and give ample space to my letter in Sunday's paper. Thank you.

An Antiquated Law

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Would you like to spend time in jail unjustly? Is there any doubt in your mind that ALL laws within our nation, within the state of Louisiana, are just and fair? I can hear your emphatic answer now, "No, they aren't! Nor would you like to spend time in jail, unjustly.

A chiropractor is now faced with this problem, thanks to the overbearing and mighty arm of the association which has forced the issue, using an antiquated law that is so wide in scope that everyone some time or other has violated the Medical Practice Act of the State of Louisiana.

Do you care if the chiropractors are driven out of the state of Louisiana? Well, the pressure is on and unless something is done and soon, they may well be forced to practice their professionally trained means of health building, in adjoining states. I'm sure your elected members of Government would do something about it if you would only let them know. That is as easy as writing a postcard to your favorite friend. That's all it takes to stop this bitter and galling situation. But who cares, is the question? There is one thing for sure, the association hopes you don't care, for only the people can defeat such a giant.

Brown, who holds 35 wins out of 37 bouts, was "definitely engaged in the actual holdup," police said. McKinley Peterson, 18, Negro was the other participant in the holdup who kept the barmaid under the muzzle of a gun while his crime companions escaped from Vic's Package Liquor Store with about $4,000.

Both Brown and Peterson were nabbed by police within 30 minutes after the robbery.

1955 Business Year To Smash All Prior Records

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—Business in 1955 will smash all prior records.

Measured in dollars, the total volume of goods and services produced in the United States this year will hit 387 billions. That's $2,500 apiece for every man, woman and child in the country. It's 26½ billions, or 7 per cent, more than in 1954.

Lending force to the government's official estimate of "gross national product" this week were the latest business indicators.

People, off to an early start on their Christmas shopping, stepped up their spending in the nation's retail stores. Merchants looked for an increase of at least five per cent in Christmas business.

Shiny new automobiles rolled off assembly lines at the rate of more than 3,000 a day. One day's production was lost on Thanksgiving. But for the time actually worked, the daily rate was higher than in the week before when total output came to 180,000.

Steel production roared along at 99 per cent of capacity. Production and refining of crude oil increased. For the first time in history, weekly output of electric power reached 11 billion kilowatt hours.

Check clearings were 17 per cent higher than a year ago. Stock averages moved up sharply.

There was one potential trouble spot. Auto dealers reported signs here and there of buyer resistance to higher price tags on 1956 models.

List prices announced by manufacturers for the new models range from $10 to $500 above factory prices on the 1955 line. Another source of customer complaints: some accessories formerly included as standard equipment (such as dashboard clocks) have now become extra-cost "optional" items.

Right now, the booming auto industry is in a period of intensive inventory building. With production running at peak levels for this time of year, stocks of unsold new cars may soon be back where they were last summer. In June, new car inventories reached an all-time high of 850,000.

Steel, for some time now a hard-to-get-item, was in even shorter supply this week. According to the Iron age, national metalworking weekly, shortages of steel are forcing production cutbacks for manufacturers of washing machines, tractors, bulldozers, railroad cars and Army tanks. In some cities, lagging deliveries of steel have held up school construction programs.

Owner Of $1,500 Watch Found; Not Aware It Missing

ATLANTA, Nov. 26 —UP— Atlanta detectives W. E. Peabody and J. W. Elliott worked diligently for three months to find the owner of a $1,500 watch.

They located the watch in a pawn shop here and learned it had been found in a Miami Beach, Fla., thereafter. Next Peabody and Elliott wrote the factory where the watch was manufactured and were told it had been sold to James Lowell Oakes Jr. of Miami.

The Oakes family was then at a Spring Lake, N. J., summer home but when the detectives sought them there, the family had gone to Europe.

Elliott and Peacock finally reached Oakes in Paris, France. Oakes expressed his thanks but added that he didn't even know the watch was missing.

District Awards In Alexandria

Ouachita 4-H'er, Local Leader To Be Honored

A Ouachita parish 4—H club good provider, and a local leader will be honored as tops in the northeast district, in a ceremony Thursday, December 1, at the Bentley Hotel in Alexandria.

They are Georgia Ruth Owens, 15, president of the West Monroe High School 4—H club, and Mrs. Marvin Shipp of Bosco community, local leader for the Logtown 4—H club. They will be accompanied on the trip to Alexandria by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, associate home demonstration agent for 4—H work in Ouachita parish.

To Georgia Ruth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Owens, Cypress community will go the good provider award of $50 for placing first among 4—H'ers in the northeast district in the competition sponsored jointly by the New Orleans Times — Picayune.

Mrs. Shipp will receive a district plaque in recognition of her outstanding service as a local leader working with 4—H club members in Ouachita parish. The awards will be presented at a banquet.

Georgia Ruth Owen's work in being a good provider at home through her 4—H Club projects was the basis for her selection for the award.

She has been carrying on poultry projects for five years, which have provided meat and eggs for home use, as well as supplying a source of income. This year she has 50 pullets in her laying flock. She has exhibited several grand championship winning chickens at parish, district and state shows, earning considerable premium money.

A Jersey heifer won three years ago at the Ouachita Valley Fair on the basis of her outstanding 4—H project record for the year, has been a source of milk for home use, and it also has won several awards at expositions.

Also among Georgia Ruth's annual projects is a home garden. This spring and summer she canned and processed for the deep freeze a variety of vegetables for home consumption.

She is enrolled in a 4-H landscaping project which has made an effective mark at home where she did an outstanding job of landscaping the yard.

Other projects which help make her a good provider are baking, sewing, and clothing. She was the parish 4-H girls' representative this year at the state junior leadership thaining camp at Camp Grant Walker.

She is majoring in home economics at school, and wants to continue that study in college. She also is studying piano, and is a member of the West Monroe High School Glee Club. She is gaining administrative experience in the role of president of the 250-member 4-H Club at her school.

Mrs. Shipp has been local leader for the Logtown 4-H Junior Club for eight years, and is a member of the Logtown Home Demonstration Club.

She has three sons, Jimmy, Waynne and Bobbie, who have chalked up excellent records in 4-H projects including beef calves, poultry and crops. Four-H officials described Mrs. Shipp as being generous with her time as a club leader.

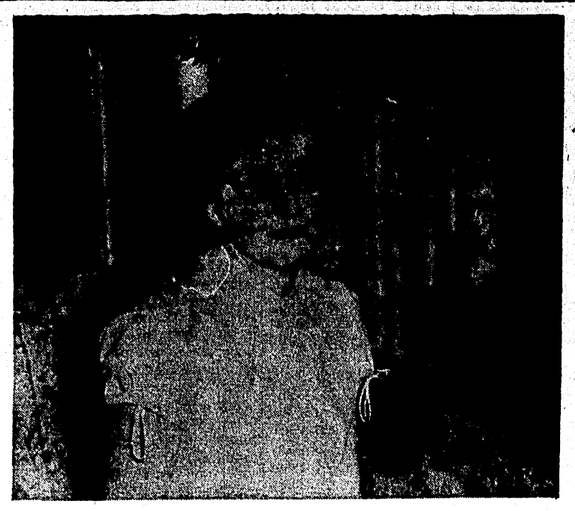
She has attended every 4-H executive meeting for the past four years, served on club planning committee for three years, attended and assisted with the annual parish 4-H achievement day programs for six years.

This year her Logtown club placed second in junior division competition at the achievement day program. It was ranked second in freezing, first in poultry, first, second and third in crop judging, fourth in home improvement, and third in club song.

Mrs. Shipp has attended annual 4-H camp four years, and the annual short course at Baton Rouge, to assist club members, for two years.

It was Mrs. Shipp who assisted in training the parish 4-H meat identification team which placed second in the state short course competition last year, and she is working with the team for its next competition. Recently she attended a one-week training course in Baton Rouge for local 4-H leaders.

The local leader's husband farms a large cotton acreage, and she has a big household to manage, in addition to her work with 4-H'ers. Members of the Logtown club have won many honors in parish, district and state shows with their projects.



OUTSTANDING LOCAL LEADER—Mrs. Marvin Shipp of Bosco, will receive a plaque in ceremonies in Alexandria Thursday in recognition of her outstanding work as a local 4-H leader with the Logtown Club. She placed first in northeast district competition. (Staff Photo)

Morrison Backs Projects Planned In Northwest La.

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 26 (Special)—State aid for northwestern Louisiana, including help on the Overton-Red River Lateral Canal project, was pledged here today by Chep Morrison in a stump speech for governor.

Speaking before a large crowd on the courthouse square, Morrison pledged himself to help with the completion of the Shreveport-Bossier City expressway and in plans of the northwest Louisiana industrial development program.

At the same time the candidate pointed to several instances in the legislature where the New Orleans delegation had acted unselfishly in assisting several sections of the state, including Shreveport.

Morrison spoke today with C. E. "Cap" Barham, candidate for reelection for lieutenant governor, at Shreveport, Minden, Haynesville, Homer and Ruston.

Barham took note of "the sudden interest of one candidate for governor in increased salaries and other assistance for school teachers."

"This candidate, in the past, tried every way he knew to get all of the money coming into the state treasury for use by the highway system," Barham said.

"It wasn't until he became a candidate for governor that he developed this sudden interest in the teachers."

The lieutenant governor said that he felt well-qualified to discuss improvements in education and to pledge a better deal for the schools because he had once been a class room teacher.

Barham said that the present governor "is making the same mistake that Earl Long made four years ago in trying to dictate to the people who his successor will be.

In discussing the Shreveport-Bossier expressway, Morrison said, "We have spent $56 million in Orleans Parish under my administration for traffic improvement-overpasses, underpasses, bridges and streets. We have found it cheaper for the taxpayers to construct these things quickly and put them into use. Practically every citizen either drives a truck or an automobile and he knows that without the proper facilities he is wasting money in gasoline, oil and time."

Morrison said that what is needed is the "push and drive of the governor's office behind lagging highway projects to expedite them and see that they are completed as rapidly as possible."

"I would like to acknowledge, however, that our highway engineers have been working hard and trying to do a good job."

In describing the unselfishness of New Orleans, Morrison said, "We have been pictured by our opponents as selfish people but I submit that this is not true. For the past 10 years the record of the New Orleans group has been one of trying to assist in all good projects throughout Louisiana.

"In the Shreveport area, for example, we helped make possible your new bridge from Shreveport to Barksdale Field by giving up a portion of the annual gas tax allocation to New Orleans to support your bond issues.

"Secondly," he said, "our legislative group has twice supported the $15 million per year allocation for rural roads when not one penny of this money was to be spent in Orleans Parish."

Doctor Ordered To Surrender His Kidnaped Child

BIG SPRING, Tex., Nov. 26 — UP— A district court ordered Dr. Frank Philip Sainburg Saturday to surrender the son he kidnaped from his divorced wife in Ithaca, N.Y., but he refused.

The boy is Philip C. Sainburg II, four years old, who was given to his mother when the Sainburgs were divorced in Ithaca. His father moved to Longview, Tex., and then to Big Spring, where he works for the Veterans Administration.

He has kidnaped the boy twice. The first time, about two years ago, he returned him on a state appellate court order. He kidnaped him the second time on November 14 and brought him to Big Spring.

The court that issued the "seizure" order that two officers served Saturday was the 124th District Court in Longview. Dr. Sainburg was not at home when the officers arrived with the order.

The boy, a sturdy youngster with dark red hair, was trying to play the piano. When Dr. Sainburg returned, the boy rushed into his arms and said, "Don't let them take me," or "Don't let them take you." A reporter could not distinguish which.

Morrison Backs Projects Planned In Northwest La.

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 26 (Special)—State aid for northwestern Louisiana, including help on the Overton-Red River Lateral Canal project, was pledged here today by Chep Morrison in a stump speech for governor.

Speaking before a large crowd on the courthouse square, Morrison pledged himself to help with the completion of the Shreveport-Bossier City expressway and in plans of the northwest Louisiana industrial development program.

At the same time the candidate pointed to several instances in the legislature where the New Orleans delegation had acted unselfishly in assisting several sections of the state, including Shreveport.

Morrison spoke today with C. E. "Cap" Barham, candidate for reelection for lieutenant governor, at Shreveport, Minden, Haynesville, Homer and Ruston.

Barham took note of "the sudden interest of one candidate for governor in increased salaries and other assistance for school teachers."

"This candidate, in the past, tried every way he knew to get all of the money coming into the state treasury for use by the highway system," Barham said.

"It wasn't until he became a candidate for governor that he developed this sudden interest in the teachers."

The lieutenant governor said that he felt well-qualified to discuss improvements in education and to pledge a better deal for the schools because he had once been a class room teacher.

Barham said that the present governor "is making the same mistake that Earl Long made four years ago in trying to dictate to the people who his successor will be.

In discussing the Shreveport-Bossier expressway, Morrison said, "We have spent $56 million in Orleans Parish under my administration for traffic improvement-overpasses, underpasses, bridges and streets. We have found it cheaper for the taxpayers to construct these things quickly and put them into use. Practically every citizen either drives a truck or an automobile and he knows that without the proper facilities he is wasting money in gasoline, oil and time."

Morrison said that what is needed is the "push and drive of the governor's office behind lagging highway projects to expedite them and see that they are completed as rapidly as possible."

"I would like to acknowledge, however, that our highway engineers have been working hard and trying to do a good job."

In describing the unselfishness of New Orleans, Morrison said, "We have been pictured by our opponents as selfish people but I submit that this is not true. For the past 10 years the record of the New Orleans group has been one of trying to assist in all good projects throughout Louisiana.

"In the Shreveport area, for example, we helped make possible your new bridge from Shreveport to Barksdale Field by giving up a portion of the annual gas tax allocation to New Orleans to support your bond issues.

"Secondly," he said, "our legislative group has twice supported the $15 million per year allocation for rural roads when not one penny of this money was to be spent in Orleans Parish."

GOOD GOVERNMENT IS A KEYSTONE OF DEMOCRACY

We wish to acquaint the public with the official duties of a Coroner in the state of Louisiana. A series of articles will appear between now and Election Day, Jan. 17, the first of which follows:

The coroner is authorized to take charge of any and all personal effects and property of the deceased at the scene of death, and to hold same until proper disposition can be made by lawful process. As soon as practicable all of the effects and property shall be turned over to the lawful owner after use in court when needed. The coroner is authorized to take, or cause to be taken, any physical property or evidence connected with the death, or at the scene of the crime or accident, and to hold same for any possible use at a coroner's inquest or investigation, or for the grand jury or court, the evidence or effects then to be disposed of by the coroner in accordance with law. It shall be unlawful for any person to touch or remove any weapons, money, or valuable property from the body of a deceased person, or from the scene prior to the arrival of the coroner, deputy, or assistant coroner, sheriff, or coroner's investigator.

Doctor Ordered To Surrender His Kidnaped Child

BIG SPRING, Tex., Nov. 26 — UP— A district court ordered Dr. Frank Philip Sainburg Saturday to surrender the son he kidnaped from his divorced wife in Ithaca, N.Y., but he refused.

The boy is Philip C. Sainburg II, four years old, who was given to his mother when the Sainburgs were divorced in Ithaca. His father moved to Longview, Tex., and then to Big Spring, where he works for the Veterans Administration.

He has kidnaped the boy twice. The first time, about two years ago, he returned him on a state appellate court order. He kidnaped him the second time on November 14 and brought him to Big Spring.

The court that issued the "seizure" order that two officers served Saturday was the 124th District Court in Longview. Dr. Sainburg was not at home when the officers arrived with the order.

The boy, a sturdy youngster with dark red hair, was trying to play the piano. When Dr. Sainburg returned, the boy rushed into his arms and said, "Don't let them take me," or "Don't let them take you." A reporter could not distinguish which.

Case Of Missing Monroe Man Still Stumps Searchers

By EZRA ADAMS
Of The Morning World Staff

FERRIDAY, Nov. 26 —Is there a trained detective around who might figure the mystery of Homer S. Chilton, the 58-year-old Monroe man who was reported last seen as he talked to two men while leaving a motel here on Tuesday evening, November 15, about 6 p.m.?

He entered this friendly, but busy - with - a harvest town a few hours earlier, supposedly on a business mission — contacting business firms and soliciting their "bad" accounts for his New Orleans company to collect. It was to have been a routine day's work for him, though he did not arrive here until about mid-day and went, apparently, straight to the motel.

His college - teacher wife, Evelyn recalls that, as was Chilton's habit through the years, he arose early that morning and prepared breakfast for the two of them, while she hustled to get ready for school.

Evelyn asked her nearly bald, 200-pound and jovial husband if he would need to leave for work earlier than usual, since he had mentioned that he expected to work in Newellton, some 80 miles away. He answered, "No, as long as I can leave about 8:30 or 9, it's okay."

Because she does not drive, Chilton always drove his wife to the college before he left for work.

On this Tuesday, he let her out there about 7:30 a.m., explaining that he would likely be home a little later than usual due to the distance involved in the planned day's run.

So Evelyn was not alarmed when he did not show up at home early that night, as he usually did.

But early Wednesday, when she received no word from him, Evelyn became worried. She called one of her best friends, who advised her to tell the police immediately.

And she did.

The next day, she called her married and only child, Alice, long distance to Minnesota. Alice and husband Neil Campbell drove to Monroe post haste.

Evelyn also called her brother, J. W. Sanders, of Lafayette, who with Neil, made a three-day search of the Ferriday - Newellton area earlier this week.

Their investigation turned up Chilton's briefcase in the Ferriday motel room where he checked in shortly after noon on the day he left home, to get rid of a "terrible headache."

About 4 or 4:30 p.m., he got up and went from his rented cabin-in-the-back to the cafe and ordered a steak.

He was alone, but chatted with Mrs. Emma Lee Larry, the lady who was then in charge of cafe operations, and daughter of the owner. He told her he felt better.

While he ate, the time arrived for W. S. Archer, the owner, to come in and relieve his daughter, who left the establishment.

Archer said yesterday that Chilton (Archer recognized Chilton's newspaper picture published four days before) finished his steak and left "about dark" in the company of two other men whom he (Archer) did not know.

He said he remembered this even though the cafe was busy with meal time customers, because he noticed that Chilton and the other two men stood "right in the door" talking for a couple of minutes before going on out.

After that, he said he did not know about them. He said he did not see them go to Chilton's car in the cabin's dark garage behind the cafe.

Maybe they did not go anywhere together.

May be.

But where is Chilton?

Six Persons Hurt In Five-Car Crash In Slidell Area

SLIDELL, La., Nov. 26—UP—Six persons were injured in a five-car crash near here Saturday, and two were arrested in connection with the Highway 190 mishap.

It was a chain reaction accident with the cars running into each other from behind. It was started when a car plowed into the rear of a pickup truck being towed by a third car.

All the injured were brought to Charity hospital in New Orleans for treatment.

Injured were Clifford Bowden, 4, Slidell; Audrey Mae Richard, 32, Negro, Picayune, Miss.; Clyde Gray, 23, Negro, Picayune; Evelyn Craft, 18, and her husband Lester Craft and son Lester, Jr., 2, of New Orleans.

State Trooper Wilson D. Bulloch said M. L. Hall, Negro, of Picayune, and R. Lemuel Newbill, Slidell, were booked with drunken driving and causing property damage and personal injury.

for Thanksgiving the other day.

The collegians comprised daughters of prominent Monroe residents and were Ashley Hamilton, Roxana Marks, Marcia Faulk, Lynn Minard, Linda Noe and Craig Morgan. Awaiting at the airport were a group of papas and mamas, several grandparents, and three or four aunts. It was a loud and happy reunion for these freshmen as they returned home for the first time from college.

The Twin Cities' annual Christmas party at the Alexandria Veterans' Hospital will be held Sunday December 4 at 6 p. m. For the seventh successive year the Red Cross is acting as coordinator for all interested groups in the Twin Cities.

Entertainment is being arranged by Pete McCaustland who is to produce a volunteer variety show. Considerable help is needed to furnish approximately 500 small gifts appropriate for donation to the patients. These may be socks, ball point pens or mechanical pencils.

Clubs are to be asked to ascertain if they can, through their members, aid in providing these presents. Help is needed and at least 455 small gifts are required. Further information can be had from Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive director of the Red Cross here.

The party is to be at 6 p. m and the affair will end two hours later so as to facilitate return to homes here.

The Monroe Lions Club will have a program of interest Tuesday when guest of honor will be Sam H. Jones, former governor of Louisiana. An advocate of the rapid economic development of the south, Mr. Jones has written a series of articles for national magazines and has lectured in many cities of the nation.

Guests are cordially invited to attend this local luncheon meeting.

Still more school buildings are on the way. Bids are to be opened December 1 at 4:30 p. m. by the city of Monroe school board for the construction of a cafeteria addition at Carroll High School and an entirely new elementary school building on Renwick street not far from Carroll High School.

Thousands of persons in Ouachita parish have received their annual supply of TB Christmas seals from the Ouachita Parish TB and Public Health Association. The seals show a boy and girl with rosy cheeks and happy smiles.

They are indicative of the great cause they represent, the stamping out of tuberculosis. The Christmas seal designer was Jean Simpson of New York City.

In his column in the Dallas News, Paul Crume, the writer lets loose the following which seems good common sense:

"In Dallas a man spends time and money and sweat making an oak tree grow on a barren spot where a hundred years ago was a grove of trees. In 20 years, he may have a passable tree, and in 20 years the neighboring business district spreads around him and his oak is cut down to make way for progress, until the business houses themselves, crumble and someone plants another oak.

"Lately, when anybody has said, 'Well, we have to have progress' we have always been tempted to ask 'Why?' "

"In the long view, man has only to be born and to die, and in between to hang on as best he can and hope, perhaps, for his immortal soul."

St. Albans Episcopal Church on Jackson Street, is probably the youngest or among the youngest churches in the city but it is already endeavoring to go places and do things.

Not to be outdone by older and bigger churches, it is staging a bazaar at the church morning and afternoon Thursday, December 1. Women of the church have worked like beavers to make ready for the sale of a small myriad of articles for Christmas presents and novelties for the home that delight women.

Then there will be a lunch served at noon and through the day soft drinks, pies and cakes will be dispensed to the hungry.

The sale is to end at 7 p.m. and those who attend are urged to come early to avoid getting in too big a crowd. All the money netted will go to a worthy cause for this church. The public is urged to be generous.

Tulane Medical School To Get $750,000 Gift

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26—UP—Tulane University medical school has been designated to receive $750,000 from the Commonwealth Fund of New York as one of 10 schools selected to share in a $7.1 million fund.

Recipient universities were told they may use the grants as they choose to strengthen their medical education programs.

The Commonwealth fund which was established in 1918 by Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness, said, "It is expected that these grants will enable the medical schools to make faster progress in this critical period when medical educators are re-examining their education structure."

anything, and so would my nephew. Most sincerely."

Figures today will show that our Good Fellows fund is progressing, but it is only creeping along. However, there are few persons who can not put aside a little sum to relieve distressed homes at the holiday time. Certainly people of the Twin Cities are not going to close their pocketbooks and hearts when confronted by extreme want.

From now to Christmas we should be receiving as much as $100 a day to be able to anywhere realize the sum that will be required to buy groceries, warm clothes and the supplying of other needs.

In the midst of unusual prosperity here, just stop and have a heart for those unnumbered persons who are barely living from day to day without essentials of life.

One of the means of helping out and at the same time paying tribute to those of one's family, who are here no longer, is in donating a sum, be it little or large, in the memory of a son, daughter, perhaps parent. We would be pleased to see a large number of such donations.

M'Lemore Offers 'Blueprint' For La. Government

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 —UP—Gubernatorial candidate James McLemore laid down a seven-point program for his administration today and called for Louisiana to advance rather than "recede into a government of treat or trick."

McLemore said "we must not return to the days of the Hoovers when labor was paid 15 cents an hour, crude oil sold for 10 cents a barrel and cotton was a nickel a pound."

He said his broad seven-point program is "not a platform, but a blueprint for a stable government founded upon sincerity integrity, and our belief in the individual right of the people."

Among the seven points in the candidate's blueprint for state government was a pledge to fight integration "and shall never end our opposition to it."

McLemore also called for increased teacher's salaries, law enforcement, raising of welfare payments, and a "progressive farm program."

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26—UP—Dwayne L. Oglesby, associate professor of business law at Louisiana Tech, has been elected president of the Southern region of the American Business Law Teachers Association.

Six Persons Hurt In Five-Car Crash In Slidell Area

SLIDELL, La., Nov. 26—UP—Six persons were injured in a five-car crash near here Saturday, and two were arrested in connection with the Highway 190 mishap.

It was a chain reaction accident with the cars running into each other from behind. It was started when a car plowed into the rear of a pickup truck being towed by a third car.

All the injured were brought to Charity hospital in New Orleans for treatment.

Injured were Clifford Bowden, 4, Slidell; Audrey Mae Richard, 32, Negro, Picayune, Miss.; Clyde Gray, 23, Negro, Picayune; Evelyn Craft, 18, and her husband Lester Craft and son Lester, Jr., 2, of New Orleans.

State Trooper Wilson D. Bulloch said M. L. Hall, Negro, of Picayune, and R. Lemuel Newbill, Slidell, were booked with drunken driving and causing property damage and personal injury.

for Thanksgiving the other day.

The collegians comprised daughters of prominent Monroe residents and were Ashley Hamilton, Roxana Marks, Marcia Faulk, Lynn Minard, Linda Noe and Craig Morgan. Awaiting at the airport were a group of papas and mamas, several grandparents, and three or four aunts. It was a loud and happy reunion for these freshmen as they returned home for the first time from college.

The Twin Cities' annual Christmas party at the Alexandria Veterans' Hospital will be held Sunday December 4 at 6 p. m. For the seventh successive year the Red Cross is acting as coordinator for all interested groups in the Twin Cities.

Entertainment is being arranged by Pete McCaustland who is to produce a volunteer variety show. Considerable help is needed to furnish approximately 500 small gifts appropriate for donation to the patients. These may be socks, ball point pens or mechanical pencils.

Clubs are to be asked to ascertain if they can, through their members, aid in providing these presents. Help is needed and at least 455 small gifts are required. Further information can be had from Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive director of the Red Cross here.

The party is to be at 6 p. m and the affair will end two hours later so as to facilitate return to homes here.

The Monroe Lions Club will have a program of interest Tuesday when guest of honor will be Sam H. Jones, former governor of Louisiana. An advocate of the rapid economic development of the south, Mr. Jones has written a series of articles for national magazines and has lectured in many cities of the nation.

Guests are cordially invited to attend this local luncheon meeting.

Still more school buildings are on the way. Bids are to be opened December 1 at 4:30 p. m. by the city of Monroe school board for the construction of a cafeteria addition at Carroll High School and an entirely new elementary school building on Renwick street not far from Carroll High School.

Thousands of persons in Ouachita parish have received their annual supply of TB Christmas seals from the Ouachita Parish TB and Public Health Association. The seals show a boy and girl with rosy cheeks and happy smiles.

They are indicative of the great cause they represent, the stamping out of tuberculosis. The Christmas seal designer was Jean Simpson of New York City.

In his column in the Dallas News, Paul Crume, the writer lets loose the following which seems good common sense:

"In Dallas a man spends time and money and sweat making an oak tree grow on a barren spot where a hundred years ago was a grove of trees. In 20 years, he may have a passable tree, and in 20 years the neighboring business district spreads around him and his oak is cut down to make way for progress, until the business houses themselves, crumble and someone plants another oak.

"Lately, when anybody has said, 'Well, we have to have progress' we have always been tempted to ask 'Why?' "

"In the long view, man has only to be born and to die, and in between to hang on as best he can and hope, perhaps, for his immortal soul."

St. Albans Episcopal Church on Jackson Street, is probably the youngest or among the youngest churches in the city but it is already endeavoring to go places and do things.

Not to be outdone by older and bigger churches, it is staging a bazaar at the church morning and afternoon Thursday, December 1. Women of the church have worked like beavers to make ready for the sale of a small myriad of articles for Christmas presents and novelties for the home that delight women.

Then there will be a lunch served at noon and through the day soft drinks, pies and cakes will be dispensed to the hungry.

The sale is to end at 7 p.m. and those who attend are urged to come early to avoid getting in too big a crowd. All the money netted will go to a worthy cause for this church. The public is urged to be generous.

Tulane Medical School To Get $750,000 Gift

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26—UP—Tulane University medical school has been designated to receive $750,000 from the Commonwealth Fund of New York as one of 10 schools selected to share in a $7.1 million fund.

Recipient universities were told they may use the grants as they choose to strengthen their medical education programs.

The Commonwealth fund which was established in 1918 by Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness, said, "It is expected that these grants will enable the medical schools to make faster progress in this critical period when medical educators are re-examining their education structure."

anything, and so would my nephew. Most sincerely."

Figures today will show that our Good Fellows fund is progressing, but it is only creeping along. However, there are few persons who can not put aside a little sum to relieve distressed homes at the holiday time. Certainly people of the Twin Cities are not going to close their pocketbooks and hearts when confronted by extreme want.

From now to Christmas we should be receiving as much as $100 a day to be able to anywhere realize the sum that will be required to buy groceries, warm clothes and the supplying of other needs.

In the midst of unusual prosperity here, just stop and have a heart for those unnumbered persons who are barely living from day to day without essentials of life.

One of the means of helping out and at the same time paying tribute to those of one's family, who are here no longer, is in donating a sum, be it little or large, in the memory of a son, daughter, perhaps parent. We would be pleased to see a large number of such donations.

"This is not the time for moderation," said Williams, who himself has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate.

"It is time," he said, "for getting up off the seat of our pants and doing the job that waits to be done.

"If we followed the counsel of Chicago," he said, "I suspect we would find that we had relaxed ourselves into a position where we would have lost the last shred of our Democratic party's identity as the nation's great and moving force."

man Leonard W. Hall who will fly here for a frankly political confab. It will be the first meeting of Mr. Eisenhower with his political lieutenant since he suffered his heart attack on Sept. 24.

It will be a busy week for Mr. Eisenhower after he starts it off Monday with a meeting with Hall and later the same day with Secretry of Labor James P. Mitchell. Later in the week he will confer with Republican Congressional leaders.

In reference to Mr. Eisenhower's endorsement of the appeal by George, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Snyder said:

"I don't have a statement from the President on it, but I asked him if he had read the statement. He said he had and that he approved it and that he has always held that view.

"I might add," Snyder continued "that the President has sought to conduct the nation's foreign policy without partisanship and that he has frequently expressed his appreciation for the statesmanlike cooperation given to the administration by Senator George in foreign affairs."

M'Lemore Offers 'Blueprint' For La. Government

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 —UP—Gubernatorial candidate James McLemore laid down a seven-point program for his administration today and called for Louisiana to advance rather than "recede into a government of treat or trick."

McLemore said "we must not return to the days of the Hoovers when labor was paid 15 cents an hour, crude oil sold for 10 cents a barrel and cotton was a nickel a pound."

He said his broad seven-point program is "not a platform, but a blueprint for a stable government founded upon sincerity integrity, and our belief in the individual right of the people."

Among the seven points in the candidate's blueprint for state government was a pledge to fight integration "and shall never end our opposition to it."

McLemore also called for increased teacher's salaries, law enforcement, raising of welfare payments, and a "progressive farm program."

Blamed For Death

DECATUR, Nov. 26 — UP — A housing shortage was blamed Saturday for the death of Okey.

Okey and Dokey, brown bears at Fairview Park zoo, were sold to a Kankakee, Ill., animal dealer to make room for new cubs.

Okey was put in a shipping crate but he didn't like it, and started to chew his way out. Park custodian Clyde McKnight said the bear had to be shot to prevent his escape.

Several French Jet Planes Sent To Israeli Force

PARIS NOV. 26(AP)—An authorized spokesman said yesterday some of the slower French Ouragan fighter planes have been delivered to Israel.

He reported this after a responsible source in Rome said that eight to ten French jets had passed through Ciampino Airport there en route to Israel in the past 48 hours.

The Rome source tentatively identified these jets as the latest model French fighter called the Mystere. But in Paris the Foreign Office denied authorization had been given for the export of Mysteres to Israel.

While he declined to give the number, the authorized spokesman said a number of the Ouragans already are in Israel and shipments of others have been authorized.

The Ouragan has a top speed of about 550 miles an hour. About 350 have been manufactured, but they have been outclassed by the swifter Mystere and jets turned out in other countries.

In Tel Aviv, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, chief of staff of the Israeli armed forces, said in an interview: "We do not have the French Mystere jets. . . . We have nothing to meet the Russian MIG 15s."

Egypt is reported to be getting possibly as many as 200 MIGs under its recent arms deal with Communist Czechoslovakia. If so, these doubtless will outperform the Ouragan.

Revival Set In Fairbanks Church

Tonight marks the beginning of a week of special services to be held in the Fairbanks Presbyterian church. Dr. S. E. McFadden, pastor of the Alabama Presbyterian church of Choudrant, will be the speaker.

Three services a day will be featured during the week. Of special interest will be the early morning men's breakfast and devotional, held at 6 a.m. each morning. The men of the community will prepare their own breakfast at the church, and after eating, will be led in a brief study of the Apostles' Creed by Dr. McFadden.

Parker Wink In Race For Ward 5 Police Jury Post

Wink, who was born and raised in Ouachita parish, graduated from Ouachita Parish High School in 1933. Immediately thereafter he was employed by the paper mill and has been employed there for 22 years.

He is a member of the Peniel Baptist Church and is a charter member of the West Monroe High School Quarterback Club. He is married to the former Ethel Golden Schanks and has one son, Thomas Earl Wink.

Wink's formal statement was as follows:

"Being a resident of Ouachita Parish all my life and living in Ward five for the past 23 years, I am well qualified to know the needs of Ward five and the parish as a whole. I have seen every foot of black top and paved streets and roads of West Monroe, Monroe, and Ouachita Parish.

I invite the public for any information that might make Ward five and Ouachita Parish a better place to live and will consider every proposal from a humanitarian standpoint. I plan to work as a teammate with all the police jurors for the benefit of all the people.

"Ward five property owners pay a great share of all the taxes of Ouachita parish and should be entitled to its share of drainage and good roads.

"We need better drainage and better roads for better mail service, industry and the public as a whole. I will do all in my power to help secure a major highway through Ouachita parish and a new bridge across the Ouachita river.

"I believe in making Ouachita Parish an attractive site for new industry and I will work in anyway possible for a new hospital and polio center in Ward five.

"In regards to juvenile delinquency I think adult delinquency causes juvenile delinquency. I don't mean that the parents of a juvenile are to blame in every case. We have too many things enticing the youth of today. My suggestion to helpt he situation is to be very careful in selecting leaders. You know the rotten apple can spoil a whole box of good apples. It is especially important that you select the proper ones to lead all branches of government.

"I am a man with little money, but I have a great big heart full of love and gratitude for everyone and a desire to serve my community.

"If elected as a police juror from Ward five I assure all of the voters that I will work diligently and untiringly to make West Monroe and Ward Five a better place in which to live."

New Techniques Squeeze Out Most Oil From Wells

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Science has brought a marked increase in production of oil from "dying" wells—and the quest goes on for methods that will keep a well producing almost to the last drop.

The Bureau of Mines and the oil industry, working together, have achieved greatly improved techniques in the last few years for getting more and more oil out of a well. Now they hope new studies will show them the way to do even better.

"Secondary recovery" is their term for methods used to bring up oil from a well after it ceases to flow or cannot be pumped in paying quantities. Such methods have been used successfully in many areas, especially in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma and California.

One method is to push up some of the oil remaining in the underground strata by forcing water into the oil-bearing structure through a nearby hole.

A second method is through injection of gas instead of water into the underground structures. Sometimes the gas pressure can be used to make a well flow again.

At its Bartlesville, Okla., experiment station, the bureau has conducted research on what it terms "surface tension effects" to determine why some oil sticks to underground sands and is hard to get out.

The bureau found that components of crude oil are about the same as hemoglobin of blood and chlorophyl of plants, forming a film which holds some petroleum to the sands.

Radioactive tracers are helping to determine just where the water goes that is forced into the ground. The water doesn't always go where it is planned. But with a radioactive tracer in the water, the bureau said, the course of the water can be followed underground and various steps can be taken to route it in the direction desired.

FRED PREAUS

The fundamental qualification of any man or woman who seeks public office is that they possess the honest virtues which we associate with family, home, church, school, and community service. Unless the basic character of the man reflects these qualities, all other abilities go for naught.

Fred Preaus, of Farmerville, among all the candidates for Governor of Louisiana, best fulfills these requirements of personal character. Born and reared in a pioneer Union Parish family steeped in several generations of public service to city, parish and state, Fred Preaus is a typically successful small town businessman who has devoted much of his time to public duty.

His family, of French, German and English origin (the name is pronounced Pruce) is in the great tradition of the parish which gave Louisiana two noted governors, W. W. Heard and Ruffin G. Pleasant. Fred's mother was the first woman registered to vote in Union Parish.

Educated in Farmerville schools, Fred was graduated from Louisiana Tech at Ruston in 1933. Twenty years later he served two terms as president of the Tech Alumni.

An auto agency owner and small timberland farmer, Preaus came up "the hard way" as bookkeeper, salesman, general manager, then owner of his business.

Many years of service on the Farmerville board of aldermen gave Preaus the firm conviction that local parish and city governments must maintain their independent status. Appointed to the State Highway Board in 1952, Preaus served with distinction, recognized by his election to the chairmanship in 1954. In the past four years he has traveled throughout Louisiana, playing a major role in the program which has done so much to improve our highways and streets.

Preaus is the kind of a man who likes people, asks about their problems, then seeks a solution. At 43 he is a man of mature judgement, yet young enough to carry forward an aggressive program for our State.

He is honored and beloved in his own community. Two days after he announced for Governor of Louisiana, a crowd of 5,000 home folks, the largest gathering in the history of Union Parish, turned out to wish him success in the campaign. At that time he said: "We are pledged to serve and in the serving to build a better life for all."

That is a pledge every citizen of Louisiana can trust and respect.

The PREAUS FAMILY—Fred and Mrs. Preaus, the former Mona Gill of Ruston, with their sons, Frederick 18, and Eugene 14, in their home at Farmerville which was built by Fred's grandfather, Fred F. Preaus, formerly for many years district attorney for Lincoln, Union and Jackson Parishes.

The MOORE FAMILY—A. Brown Moore and Mrs. Moore, both natives of New Orleans, with their boys, Edward Gay III, 16 and Fenner Gay, 13. "Brownie" Moore, able New Orleans attorney and city councilman, is widely known there for his fight against crime.

BROWN MOORE

Elected twice to the New Orleans City Council by overwhelming majorities, Brownie Moore's ability was well recognized when he received the endorsement of all the City's Democratic organizations and the three daily newspapers.

"The voters don't have to be sold on Brownie Moore," one newspaper editorial said in the 1954 Council campaign. "They know him for his capability and incorruptibility. They know that anything contrary to the public interest is wrong in his book, and that he has the courage to oppose it regardless of politics . . . the Council will need a member of Mr. Moore's independence, integrity and ability."

A graduate of Tulane law school in 1934, Moore practiced law in New Orleans, served with Gen. Patton's Third Army in Europe, and returned to New Orleans after the war to practice law until his election as Commissioner of Public Utilities in 1950. Re-elected to the Council under the City's new charter in 1954, Moore serves as a member of the legislative committee of the Louisiana Municipal Assn. and on the executive board of the Louisiana Police Jury Assn.

A leader in business, civic and religious life in New Orleans, Moore spearheads plans of the Preaus-Moore team to attract and expand industry for Louisiana. Heretofore the Lieutenant-Governorship has been treated as a part-time job. But both Preaus and Moore believe it should be a full-time task, with the Lieutenant-Governor serving around the calendar to assist the Governor. Moore has pledged himself to that duty in Baton Rouge.

Parker Wink In Race For Ward 5 Police Jury Post

Wink, who was born and raised in Ouachita parish, graduated from Ouachita Parish High School in 1933. Immediately thereafter he was employed by the paper mill and has been employed there for 22 years.

He is a member of the Peniel Baptist Church and is a charter member of the West Monroe High School Quarterback Club. He is married to the former Ethel Golden Schanks and has one son, Thomas Earl Wink.

Wink's formal statement was as follows:

"Being a resident of Ouachita Parish all my life and living in Ward five for the past 23 years, I am well qualified to know the needs of Ward five and the parish as a whole. I have seen every foot of black top and paved streets and roads of West Monroe, Monroe, and Ouachita Parish.

I invite the public for any information that might make Ward five and Ouachita Parish a better place to live and will consider every proposal from a humanitarian standpoint. I plan to work as a teammate with all the police jurors for the benefit of all the people.

"Ward five property owners pay a great share of all the taxes of Ouachita parish and should be entitled to its share of drainage and good roads.

"We need better drainage and better roads for better mail service, industry and the public as a whole. I will do all in my power to help secure a major highway through Ouachita parish and a new bridge across the Ouachita river.

"I believe in making Ouachita Parish an attractive site for new industry and I will work in anyway possible for a new hospital and polio center in Ward five.

"In regards to juvenile delinquency I think adult delinquency causes juvenile delinquency. I don't mean that the parents of a juvenile are to blame in every case. We have too many things enticing the youth of today. My suggestion to helpt he situation is to be very careful in selecting leaders. You know the rotten apple can spoil a whole box of good apples. It is especially important that you select the proper ones to lead all branches of government.

"I am a man with little money, but I have a great big heart full of love and gratitude for everyone and a desire to serve my community.

"If elected as a police juror from Ward five I assure all of the voters that I will work diligently and untiringly to make West Monroe and Ward Five a better place in which to live."

New Techniques Squeeze Out Most Oil From Wells

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Science has brought a marked increase in production of oil from "dying" wells—and the quest goes on for methods that will keep a well producing almost to the last drop.

The Bureau of Mines and the oil industry, working together, have achieved greatly improved techniques in the last few years for getting more and more oil out of a well. Now they hope new studies will show them the way to do even better.

"Secondary recovery" is their term for methods used to bring up oil from a well after it ceases to flow or cannot be pumped in paying quantities. Such methods have been used successfully in many areas, especially in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma and California.

One method is to push up some of the oil remaining in the underground strata by forcing water into the oil-bearing structure through a nearby hole.

A second method is through injection of gas instead of water into the underground structures. Sometimes the gas pressure can be used to make a well flow again.

At its Bartlesville, Okla., experiment station, the bureau has conducted research on what it terms "surface tension effects" to determine why some oil sticks to underground sands and is hard to get out.

The bureau found that components of crude oil are about the same as hemoglobin of blood and chlorophyl of plants, forming a film which holds some petroleum to the sands.

Radioactive tracers are helping to determine just where the water goes that is forced into the ground. The water doesn't always go where it is planned. But with a radioactive tracer in the water, the bureau said, the course of the water can be followed underground and various steps can be taken to route it in the direction desired.

FRED PREAUS

The fundamental qualification of any man or woman who seeks public office is that they possess the honest virtues which we associate with family, home, church, school, and community service. Unless the basic character of the man reflects these qualities, all other abilities go for naught.

Fred Preaus, of Farmerville, among all the candidates for Governor of Louisiana, best fulfills these requirements of personal character. Born and reared in a pioneer Union Parish family steeped in several generations of public service to city, parish and state, Fred Preaus is a typically successful small town businessman who has devoted much of his time to public duty.

His family, of French, German and Enalish origin (the name is pronounced Pruce) is in the great tradition of the parish which gave Louisiana two noted governors, W. W. Heard and Ruffin G. Pleasant. Fred's mother was the first woman registered to vote in Union Parish.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Neville of Monroe, Jena, Ferriday, LaSalle of Olla, Sicily Island and Delhi still carry the colors of their respective schools into extended prep championship playoffs as representatives of this area of the state, and nearly all of them will be in action this week. Neville, which clinched a Class AA semi-final spot by edging Bossier High, 14-13, here Friday night will spend this week preparing for their date with the Jena-DeRidder winner.

LaSalle and Ferriday are rivals in a Friday night game at Olla in a Class A bi-district playoff with the Ferriday machine ruling as the defending state champion but LaSalle priming for a possible upset. Jena invades DeRidder Friday night with the winner to appear in a Class AA semi-final against Neville the following week. Delhi is at home Friday to Logansport in a Class B inter-district contest, and Sicily Island is priming for its playoff game with Basile in further Class B action.

Fair Park of Shreveport opposes Lake Charles and St. Aloysius of New Orleans faced Istrouma of Baton Rouge in the triple-A semi-finals. Other contenders include Reserve, Morgan City and Cathedral of LaFayette in Class AA; Marksville, West Lake, Baker, LaRose-Cutoff, and Redemptorist of Baton Rouge in Class A; and St. Amant, Holy Name of New Orleans, and Clinton in Class B.

The Northeast State Indians, who opened their basketball season with a triumph over East Texas Baptist at Marshall, Tex., the past week, make their season's introductory bow before the home folks Tuesday night in Ouachita Parish High gym against Henderson State of Arkansas.

Basketball is definitely booming at Northeast where the Redskins came up with their finest campaign record last season, and followers of the Tribe are counting on even more improvement. Arnold Kilpatrick, the cage coach who doubles as athletic director, had done a good building job with the current schedule which sends the Tribe against its greatest variety of opponents in their most expansive slate. In fact, that schedule announced by Kilpatrick a few days ago looks pretty ambitious, and if the Redskins can win a good percentage of their games, future schedules may be even more attractive to basketball fans of this area.

Squads of from 20 to 25 boys have been working out the past week with Coach Holliman who will have six lettermen back from last season's team — Robert Whitten, Johnny Maroney, Jeff Spence, Dickie Crowe, T. L. Fuller, and Thomas Doss.

Congratulations to "Woody" Boyles and Mark Boatright for a successful first season as a coaching team at Texarkana Junior College. Head Coach Boyles, former assistant at Northeast State here, and assistant Boatright, who was assistant coach at Ouachita High here a year ago marshalled T.J.C. to a co-championship with only one league loss in the Texas Junior College Conference.

Both Boyles, a former Northeast grid star, and coach at Delhi High School before his tenure at Northeast, and Boatright are well known in this area. Boatright also was a star athlete at Northeast after completing his prep career at Ouachita.

And another of Coach Jim Hodgins' Ouachita assistants of a year ago didn't do too bad this season either. He's Bob Parker, now coach of the Mt. Carmel Eagles of Abbeville. His team was runner-up for the district 5-B championship. Mt. Carmel had a season record of six wins, two ties, and two losses. Parker's boys were unbeaten in conference play with four wins and two ties, but finished second under powerful Breaux Bridge, the district champion.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 26 (AP)—Jim Swink closed out with one of his greatest games today to carry Texas Christian to a 20-13 victory over Southern Methodist and win the Southwest Conference football championship.

T.C.U. wound up with the championship by a half-game margin. It already was in the Cotton Bowl and the victory today just added icing to the cake.

Swink ran his scoring total for the season to 125 points just three points under the all-time conference record of 128 set by Joel Hunt of Texas A. and M. in 1927. And his yardage of 1,283 for the season was only 19 under the record of 1,302 set by Bob Smith of Texas A. and M. in 1950.

Engineers Paired Against Panthers In Sugar Classic

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Georgia Tech today accepted an invitation to make its fourth appearance in the Sugar Bowl, where it will meet Pittsburgh Jan. 2.

Sugar Bowl president Bernie Grenrood announced Tech's acceptance shortly after the Engineers ended their season with a smashing 21-3 victory over Georgia.

It gave the sparkling Georgians a record of eight victories, a 14-12 loss to Auburn and a 7-7 tie with Tennessee. Pitt won seven and lost three.

Tech brings one of the most colorful teams in the nation to New Orleans. It's T formation offense features all the razzle-dazzle that brought the team to prominence more than 35 years ago.

Tech's deception is called the "belly series", in which quarterbacks Wade Mitchell and Toppy Vann fake handoffs.

Tech relies on smart football rather than brute force and uses passing both as a weapon and to set up running plays. In Pitt, the Tech defense will be called on to stop what has been primarily a running offense.

The Sugar Bowl said both teams were selected by unanimous votes of the selection committee. Pitt was named earlier in the week after finishing its season with decisive victories over West Virginia and Penn State.

Grenrood was pleased with the pairings:

"We have an intersectional clash that brings together two of the best teams of the season and we believe we will have one of the most thrilling contests of our series."

Tech coach and athletic director Bobby Dodd said, "Our boys voted unanimously for the Sugar Bowl bid. Our boys played their best game today (against Georgia) and we'll be ready for the Panthers."

Tech and Pitt played only two common opponents. Pitt smashed Duke 26-7 and the following week Tech won 27-0 over the Blue Devils. Tech beat Miami (Fla) 14-6 in its season opener, while Miami beat Pitt 21-7 late in the season.

Tech boasts a sizzling line, headed by guard Franklin Brooks and accenting rangy ends and tackles. Halfback George Volkert, a 176-pound junior, combines both power and speed, with halfbacks Stan Flowers and Paul Rotenberry better than average runners.

It will be Dodd's seventh bowl team in 11 seasons. Dodd scored a 24-7 victory over Mississippi in 1953 and a 42-19 triumph over West Virginia in 1954 in winning Sugar Bowl crowns.

In the Orange Bowl, Dodd's teams defeated Kansas 20-14 in 1948 and Baylor 17-14 in 1952. Tech beat Arkansas 14-6 in the Cotton Bowl this year and St. Mary's 41-19 in the old Oil Bowl in Houston in 1947.

Tech's record this season shows victories over Miami 14-6, Florida 14-7, SMU 20-7, LSU 7-0 Florida State 34-0, Duke 27-0, Alabama 26-2 and Georgia 21-3, with a 14-12 loss to Auburn and a 7-7 tie with Tennessee.

Pitt defeated California 27-7, Syracuse 22-12, Nebraska 21-7, Duke 26-7, Virginia 18-7, West Virginia 26-7 and Penn State 20-0. The Panthers lost 26-14 to Oklahoma, 21-0 to Navy and 21-7 to Miami.

Baylor Scores 12 In Second Period To Beat Rice, 15-7

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 26 (AP)—Baylor turned back two first-period Rice threats and then exploded with an 84-yard touchdown pass and a 54-yard punt return for a 15-7 victory over the Owls today in the "cellar bowl" game of the Southwest Conference.

The victory before 33,000 gave Baylor a fifth place tie with Southern Methodist in final conference standings with a 2-4 record. The defeat left Rice in the cellar for the first time since 1939. It also was the first time for Rice to lose all six of its conference games.

Rice dominated first quarter play but quarterback Bobby Jones turned the tide for Baylor on a beautiful 84-yard touchdown pass to halfback Delbert Shoefner after only 21 seconds in the second period. Minutes later, halfback Weldon Holley returned an Owl punt 54 yards to the Rice five. Halfback Bobby Peters plunged over from the two to make it 12-0 two plays later.

Trojans Upset Irish, 42-20

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26 (AP)—Southern California's Trojans whipped out of the football wilderness today, emerging into the bright sunshine with an astonishing 42-20 victory over the favored Irish of Notre Dame.

Taking a quick lead and scoring the first three times they got the ball, the four-times defeated Trojans plastered the fifth ranking Irish with six touchdowns all told to score the most points the school ever registered against Notre Dame in the 27 times they have met on the gridiron.

The triumph, and only the second defeat for Notre Dame this season, was unreeled before a crowd of 94,892 fans who were by turn amazed and frenzied.

U.S.C. got out in front and Notre Dame tied it up in the first period. Then U.S.C. moved into a 14-7 lead and was never behind from there on to the finish.

Two fumbles by the Irish, one on their own 21 that U.S.C. turned into its third touchdown, and another on the Trojan goal line, killed the Notre Dame chances of overhauling the men of Troy.

It was a 21-13 ball game going into the fourth quarter, and then U.S.C. went to town.

All but forgotten as they poured over three touchdowns was a 78-yard touchdown pass thrown to halfback Jim Morse by the brilliant Irish quarterback, Paul Hornung, and another to Morse for 60 yards that set up another score that pulled Notre Dame up to a 20-21 margin.

Just as suddenly, the Trojans pulled away during the fourth quarter on a 64-yard pass play, quarterback Jim Contratto to halfback Jon Arnett for six points, and there went the ball game.

Score by quarters:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Notre Dame | 7 | 6 | 0 | 7 | —20 |

Oklahoma Batters Ags, 53-0, For 29th Consecutive Win

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 26 (AP)—Oklahoma's undefeated football team, trying to look impressive enough to retain No. 1 ranking without revealing too much of its murderous offense to Maryland scouts, battered Oklahoma A. and M. 53-0 today.

The Sooners took their 29th straight victory by using only their bread and butter handoffs and option plays mixed with some passes. It was also their fourth successive shutout.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Neville of Monroe, Jena, Ferriday, LaSalle of Olla, Sicily Island and Delhi still carry the colors of their respective schools into extended prep championship playoffs as representatives of this area of the state, and nearly all of them will be in action this week. Neville, which clinched a Class AA semi-final spot by edging Bossier High, 14-13, here Friday night will spend this week preparing for their date with the Jena-DeRidder winner.

LaSalle and Ferriday are rivals in a Friday night game at Olla in a Class A bi-district playoff with the Ferriday machine ruling as the defending state champion but LaSalle priming for a possible upset. Jena invades DeRidder Friday night with the winner to appear in a Class AA semi-final against Neville the following week. Delhi is at home Friday to Logansport in a Class B inter-district contest, and Sicily Island is priming for its playoff game with Basile in further Class B action.

Fair Park of Shreveport opposes Lake Charles and St. Aloysius of New Orleans faced Istrouma of Baton Rouge in the triple-A semi-finals. Other contenders include Reserve, Morgan City and Cathedral of LaFayette in Class AA; Marksville, West Lake, Baker, LaRose-Cutoff, and Redemptorist of Baton Rouge in Class A; and St. Amant, Holy Name of New Orleans, and Clinton in Class B.

The Northeast State Indians, who opened their basketball season with a triumph over East Texas Baptist at Marshall, Tex., the past week, make their season's introductory bow before the home folks Tuesday night in Ouachita Parish High gym against Henderson State of Arkansas.

Basketball is definitely booming at Northeast where the Redskins came up with their finest campaign record last season, and followers of the Tribe are counting on even more improvement. Arnold Kilpatrick, the cage coach who doubles as athletic director, had done a good building job with the current schedule which sends the Tribe against its greatest variety of opponents in their most expansive slate. In fact, that schedule announced by Kilpatrick a few days ago looks pretty ambitious, and if the Redskins can win a good percentage of their games, future schedules may be even more attractive to basketball fans of this area.

Squads of from 20 to 25 boys have been working out the past week with Coach Holliman who will have six lettermen back from last season's team — Robert Whitten, Johnny Maroney, Jeff Spence, Dickie Crowe, T. L. Fuller, and Thomas Doss.

Congratulations to "Woody" Boyles and Mark Boatright for a successful first season as a coaching team at Texarkana Junior College. Head Coach Boyles, former assistant at Northeast State here, and assistant Boatright, who was assistant coach at Ouachita High here a year ago marshalled T.J.C. to a co-championship with only one league loss in the Texas Junior College Conference.

Both Boyles, a former Northeast grid star, and coach at Delhi High School before his tenure at Northeast, and Boatright are well known in this area. Boatright also was a star athlete at Northeast after completing his prep career at Ouachita.

And another of Coach Jim Hodgins' Ouachita assistants of a year ago didn't do too bad this season either. He's Bob Parker, now coach of the Mt. Carmel Eagles of Abbeville. His team was runner-up for the district 5-B championship. Mt. Carmel had a season record of six wins, two ties, and two losses. Parker's boys were unbeaten in conference play with four wins and two ties, but finished second under powerful Breaux Bridge, the district champion.

Trojans Upset Irish, 42-20

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26 (AP)—Southern California's Trojans whipped out of the football wilderness today, emerging into the bright sunshine with an astonishing 42-20 victory over the favored Irish of Notre Dame.

Taking a quick lead and scoring the first three times they got the ball, the four-times defeated Trojans plastered the fifth ranking Irish with six touchdowns all told to score the most points the school ever registered against Notre Dame in the 27 times they have met on the gridiron.

The triumph, and only the second defeat for Notre Dame this season, was unreeled before a crowd of 94,892 fans who were by turn amazed and frenzied.

U.S.C. got out in front and Notre Dame tied it up in the first period. Then U.S.C. moved into a 14-7 lead and was never behind from there on to the finish.

Two fumbles by the Irish, one on their own 21 that U.S.C. turned into its third touchdown, and another on the Trojan goal line, killed the Notre Dame chances of overhauling the men of Troy.

It was a 21-13 ball game going into the fourth quarter, and then U.S.C. went to town.

All but forgotten as they poured over three touchdowns was a 78-yard touchdown pass thrown to halfback Jim Morse by the brilliant Irish quarterback, Paul Hornung, and another to Morse for 60 yards that set up another score that pulled Notre Dame up to a 20-21 margin.

Just as suddenly, the Trojans pulled away during the fourth quarter on a 64-yard pass play, quarterback Jim Contratto to halfback Jon Arnett for six points, and there went the ball game.

Score by quarters:

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 26 (AP)—Oklahoma's undefeated football team, trying to look impressive enough to retain No. 1 ranking without revealing too much of its murderous offense to Maryland scouts, battered Oklahoma A. and M. 53-0 today.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26 (AP)—Brookmeade's Sailor, one of the youngest and least regarded horses in the race, took an early lead and held it all the way today for a two and a half length upset victory in the $50,000 Pimlico Special.

Then came Maine Chance Farm's Jet Action, three lengths, and the Venezuelan Prendase, Walmac farm's Hasseyampa, Everglades farm's Nance's Lad and Christiana stable's Thinking Cap in that order.

Sailor, completing the route in the mediocre time of 1.57 3-5, paid $24, $11 and $5. The prices on Mister Gus were $8.60 and $4.20, and Social Outcast $2.40.

Day, Blair Fire Ole Miss Rebs Past Maroons, 26-0

By H. L. STEVENSON

STARKVILLE, Miss., Nov. 26—UP— Eagle Day's quarterbacking artisty and the brilliant running of halfback Earl Blair gave Mississippi a 26-0 win over rival Mississippi State Saturday and a second straight Southeastern Conference title for the Rebels.

Day engineered two quick scoring thirsts in the first half with Blair going oer on both occasinos to spark the Rebels to their ninth win in 10 starts before a sell-out crowd of 35,000.

Ole Miss will meet Texas Christian University in the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas on Jan. 2, it was announced in Dallas.

Sub - quarterback John Wallace Blalack lobbed a 30-yard touchdown pass to end Don Williams in the third period and Rebel tackle Bill Yelverton, one of the host of Mississippi defenders who stopped every State effort nailed Maroon Bill Stanton in the end zone for a safety.

Day passed 24 yards to halfback Bill Kinard to launch a Rebel drive late in the first period after the Maroons managed to stop one 70 yard march just 10 yards shy of a touchdown. Kinard added two yards and then the flashy Blair swept around right end nine yards for the first touchdown.

A shade more than five minutes later Kinard lunged on a bobbled punt by Jim Harness and the Rebels took over on the State 21. Cothran tore off 15 yards and two plays later Blair went across standing up from the three.

Harvey Haddix, 2 Other Cardinals Sign 1956 Pacts

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Harvey (The Kitten) Haddix, top winner on the St. Louis Cardinals' mound staff despite a losing season, and two young players have signed their 1956 contracts, general manager Frank Lane said tonight.

He finished the past season with a 12-16 record but was still third in the league with 150 strikeouts behind Chicago's Sam Jones and Robin Roberts of Philadelphia. The two previous seasons Haddix won 20 and 18 games. He still topped the Cardinal pitchers in victories in 1955.

Lane said the other two players to return signed contracts were first baseman Tom Alston and relief pitcher Harry Hoitsma.

Alston, lanky Negro, spent most of the season at Omaha where he compiled a .274 batting mark. He started and finished the year with the Birds. Hoitsma, relief ace of the Houston Buffs, finished with a 13-3 mark and a 2.64 earned run mark.

Ouachita Wildlife Unit Holds Final Meeting Of Year

The Ouachita Wildlife unit holds its final meeting of the year here Tuesday night with a solid program that includes an appearance of Armand Rabun, president of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, candidates for representative and senate offices in the forthcoming state elections, and showings of three wildlife films.

Arthur "Bud" Tidwell, member of the Ouachita unit, last night said the candidates for state offices will each be permitted five minutes to discuss conservation subjects and participate in "roundtable discussions."

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Ball Room of Hotel Virginia.

Tidwell said it will be the final meeting of the year as the December meeting will be passed since it would normally fall in conflict with the Christmas holidays.

Washington Grid Club Gets Aid In Coaching Revolt

SEATTLE, Nov. 26 (AP)—Grumbling members of the University of Washington football squad who have been saying they don't like coach John Cherberg picked up support today from a former star quarterback.

Bobby Cox said one of the reasons he packed his bags at the end of the 1954 season and headed for the University of Minnesota, leaving Husky fans and coaches wailing over his loss, because "It was so hard to get along with Johnny Cherberg." He made the comment in a telephone interview with the Seattle Times.

Cox's statement was in line with what some 30 members of the 50-man Washington squad put in writing yesterday in support of their demands that the university get rid of Cherberg, who has served three years as head coach.

"At the time I left Washington, I said only that I was unhappy here," said Cox. "I didn't want to elaborate then and I hate to do it now. But I've been reading what the squad is trying to do, and I know they are trying to help improve Washington football. It was the same story last year, the same trouble in the squad over the coach."

Meanwhile, the widely publicized dispute spread to a new quarter as the dissident players accused Harvey Cassill, Washington athletic director, of stabbing them in the back.

The revolting players told how they went to Cassill to present their list of grievances over the coaching situation and were cautioned to "keep the thing in the family."

"The next we know," said fullback Bob McNamee, "we were being called cry-babies in the press, and then Jim Sutherland (backfield coach) is fired. And none of us let out anything about the meeting."

"We are the stabbed, not the stabbers," said McNamee.

Up to last night most of the complaints voiced against Cherberg were more or less anonymous. But then 31 men put it in writing.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Automobile dealer T. A. Grissom of Detroit registered his second feature victory of the young Fair Grounds season today when his By Far won the $3,500 Crescent City Handicap.

By Far, an outsider in the betting at 10-1, went into the lead as the field moved out of the backstretch, as the front-running Peu-A-Peu began to fode. Jockey Bobby Baird urged By Far on as Ed The Great moved up in the stretch. By Far was a head in front as he swept over the finish line, running the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5.

By Far, coupled in the race with My Fault, returned $20.60, $9., and $5.40. Ed The Great paid $28.40 and $14.80 with Peu-A-Peu returning $7.40.

Penalty On Extra Point Try Costs Tigers Win Shot

By WARNER RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 26 (AP) — Louisiana State University overcame a 13-0 lead today and tied Tulane 13-13. The Tigers might have won but for a penalty that cost an extra point.

Center Durwood Graham's extra point try after the first LSU score went cleanly through the uprights, but the Tigers were penalized for holding and Graham's second try was wide.

Fullback O. K. Ferguson scored the first LSU touchdown a one-yard dash plunge and halfback Johns took a pass from Reynolds for the second, dodging two tacklers nearly in a 22-yard playing effort.

The other senior halfback, Vince Gonzales, played a brilliant game, both on offense and defense.

Tulane jumped to an early lead in the first quarter, scoring on a 25-yard drive after an LSU kick was partially blocked by Tulane tackle Emmett Zalenka.

Tulane recovered an LSU fumble on the Tiger 21 early in the second quarter and struck for its second touchdown in five plays. Sophomore quarterback Gene Newton swept around left end on a keep play for a six-yard scoring run after faking to Quillian.

LSU took the next kickoff and drove 70 yards for its first touchdown. The drive took 13 plays and set LSU fans roaring for the first time. Some 55,000 saw the game.

The key play in the Tiger drive came on fourth down and one to go on the Tulane 47 when Ferguson bulled for 11 yards to keep the drive rolling.

Reynolds completed a 17-yard pass to end Joe Tuminello and Gonzales pitched a 12-yarder to Johns to put the ball in scoring position where Ferguson bucked it over.

Tulane dominated the first half. LSU didn't make a first down until it began its scoring drive in the second quarter with less than six minutes left in the half.

Newton, using Quillian as a workhorse, directed Tulane to eight first downs and 147 yards on total offense.

LSU made only four first downs in the first half, all in its scoring drive and was limited to 77 yards, 44 rushing and 33 passing. Tulane used an eight-man line until Reynolds began passing in the second quarter.

At the end of the first quarter, Tulane was knocking on the LSU goal line in a 71-yard drive that was halted at the Tiger six on the first play of the second quarter.

LSU's tying touchdown came after a Tulane quick-kick bounced the wrong way and wound up on the Green Wave 49. The Tigers scored in five plays.

Reynolds tossed twice in a row to Johns during the drive, once for 15 yards and again for 22 yards for the touchdown. Gonzales kicked the extra point.

Tulane still hasn't beaten LSU since 1948. It was the closest the New Orleans team has come since 1950, when the rivals played to a 14-14 tie.

Quillian was the game's top ground gainer. He carried 22 times for 95 yards and a 4.3 average. Ferguson was the top man for LSU with 21 carries for 48 yards and 2.5 average.

Jack Dempsey To Referee On 4-Bout Mat Program

Mario Calento and Charley Laye, last week's villainous tag feature winners, meet a new combine Tuesday night at Kallio's Arena in a main event to be refereed by former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, known as the greatest knockout artist to ever appear in boxing circles; when they take on George Curtis and rugged Buddy Fuller.

The Manassa Mauler will be accompanied here by Bobby Manziel, ex-Monroe sports promoter turned Texas oilman. Manziel, who housed his arena in the 100 block of DeSiard St. here over what is now a department store, promoted wrestling and boxing in addition to operating a popular restaurant.

In the semi-final match, West Monroe's Bill Barney takes on Chico Cortez, a Mexican who will be remembered for his mean and illegal tactics in his only Monroe appearance; and opposing main event tag members provide the opposition in a pair of one-fall preliminaries, each of which will have a ten minute time limit.

The tag feature and the semi will require the best-of-three falls to win, but the tag main will have a 90-minute time limit, while the Barney-Cortez bout will have a 60-minute limit. According to Promoter Gus Kallio, an outside referee will be imported for the semi-final and preliminary matches.

Laye and fierce - looking, fierce-wrestling Calento defeated Lee Fields and Chief Little Eagle last Tuesday night in a nip-and-tuck mainevent, but will face sterner opposition this week. Curtis holds a win over Fields, and Fuller, 6-foot-2 husky from Mobile, engaged in a tag match here some months ago which many fans declared was the most rugged and thrilling they had ever witnessed.

Calento had a bad evening last week with the ringsiders after he had brutally beaten and thrown popular Fields out of the ring, but if he goes berserk again this Tuesday, he will indeed run into a storm of protest from Curtis fans, as well as more vigorous ones from referee Dempsey, who not only is an experienced wrestling official, but is capable of handling the rampaging Calento with a famous scowl.

The Babe Leaves Tampa By Air For Galveston Exams

The world's No. 1 woman golfer, woman athlete of the half century, departed at 1:20 p.m. (CST) and arrived at Houston, Tex., at 7:11 p.m. (CST).

From there she will go to the John Sealey Hospital at Galveston, Tex., where twice previously she has undergone treatment for cancer.

She walked to the plane, but was allowed to board ahead of time to avoid the usual crush.

Miss Dodd said the Babe, racked with pains in her hip for two weeks, had a bad night and didn't get much sleep. Mrs. Zaharias slept most of the morning, however, getting up about noon to make last minute preparations for the trip.

Released from the hospital last September, Mrs. Zaharias apparently was making a satisfactory recovery. She rested much of the time, but was able to play a little golf, though when she tried to go more than a few holes at a time she tired quickly.

With the pain getting worse, she had X-rays made here this week. Her Tampa physician "didn't like the way they looked," she related, and she telephoned her Galveston specialist, Dr. Robert M. Moore, yesterday.

Tennessee Spoils Vanderbilt Bowl Dreams, 20 To 14

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 26 (AP)—Tennessee, with tailbacks Johnny Majors and Al Carter doing the throwing, took to the airlanes today to whip Vanderbilt, 20-14, and derail the Commodores' post-season bowl express.

End Kyle (Buddy) Cruze, a hometown boy who played 60 minutes of brilliant football, was on the receiving end of two of three touchdown passes completed by the Vols.

Vanderbilt went into the game riding a six-game winning streak and favored slightly to trounce its ancient cross-state rival and pick up a bid to the Sugar, Cotton or Gator Bowl. The loss left Vanderbilt with a 7-3 record.

But the Vols came up with one of the most spectacular passing attacks seen here in years to overtake the Commodores twice and finally pull ahead to stay late in the fourth period.

Cruze was Majors' target for five of the eight passes that he completed. The lanky Knoxvillian netted 98 of the 174 yards Tennessee picked up on the aerials.

By H. L. STEVENSON

STARKVILLE, Miss., Nov. 26—UP— Eagle Day's quarterbacking artisty and the brilliant running of halfback Earl Blair gave Mississippi a 26-0 win over rival Mississippi State Saturday and a second straight Southeastern Conference title for the Rebels.

Day engineered two quick scoring thirsts in the first half with Blair going oer on both occasinos to spark the Rebels to their ninth win in 10 starts before a sell-out crowd of 35,000.

Ole Miss will meet Texas Christian University in the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas on Jan. 2, it was announced in Dallas.

Sub - quarterback John Wallace Blalack lobbed a 30-yard touchdown pass to end Don Williams in the third period and Rebel tackle Bill Yelverton, one of the host of Mississippi defenders who stopped every State effort nailed Maroon Bill Stanton in the end zone for a safety.

Day passed 24 yards to halfback Bill Kinard to launch a Rebel drive late in the first period after the Maroons managed to stop one 70 yard march just 10 yards shy of a touchdown. Kinard added two yards and then the flashy Blair swept around right end nine yards for the first touchdown.

A shade more than five minutes later Kinard lunged on a bobbled punt by Jim Harness and the Rebels took over on the State 21. Cothran tore off 15 yards and two plays later Blair went across standing up from the three.

Harvey Haddix, 2 Other Cardinals Sign 1956 Pacts

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Harvey (The Kitten) Haddix, top winner on the St. Louis Cardinals' mound staff despite a losing season, and two young players have signed their 1956 contracts, general manager Frank Lane said tonight.

He finished the past season with a 12-16 record but was still third in the league with 150 strikeouts behind Chicago's Sam Jones and Robin Roberts of Philadelphia. The two previous seasons Haddix won 20 and 18 games. He still topped the Cardinal pitchers in victories in 1955.

Lane said the other two players to return signed contracts were first baseman Tom Alston and relief pitcher Harry Hoitsma.

Alston, lanky Negro, spent most of the season at Omaha where he compiled a .274 batting mark. He started and finished the year with the Birds. Hoitsma, relief ace of the Houston Buffs, finished with a 13-3 mark and a 2.64 earned run mark.

The Ouachita Wildlife unit holds its final meeting of the year here Tuesday night with a solid program that includes an appearance of Armand Rabun, president of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, candidates for representative and senate offices in the forthcoming state elections, and showings of three wildlife films.

Arthur "Bud" Tidwell, member of the Ouachita unit, last night said the candidates for state offices will each be permitted five minutes to discuss conservation subjects and participate in "roundtable discussions."

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Ball Room of Hotel Virginia.

Tidwell said it will be the final meeting of the year as the December meeting will be passed since it would normally fall in conflict with the Christmas holidays.

Washington Grid Club Gets Aid In Coaching Revolt

SEATTLE, Nov. 26 (AP)—Grumbling members of the University of Washington football squad who have been saying they don't like coach John Cherberg picked up support today from a former star quarterback.

Bobby Cox said one of the reasons he packed his bags at the end of the 1954 season and headed for the University of Minnesota, leaving Husky fans and coaches wailing over his loss, because "It was so hard to get along with Johnny Cherberg." He made the comment in a telephone interview with the Seattle Times.

Cox's statement was in line with what some 30 members of the 50-man Washington squad put in writing yesterday in support of their demands that the university get rid of Cherberg, who has served three years as head coach.

"At the time I left Washington, I said only that I was unhappy here," said Cox. "I didn't want to elaborate then and I hate to do it now. But I've been reading what the squad is trying to do, and I know they are trying to help improve Washington football. It was the same story last year, the same trouble in the squad over the coach."

Meanwhile, the widely publicized dispute spread to a new quarter as the dissident players accused Harvey Cassill, Washington athletic director, of stabbing them in the back.

The revolting players told how they went to Cassill to present their list of grievances over the coaching situation and were cautioned to "keep the thing in the family."

"The next we know," said fullback Bob McNamee, "we were being called cry-babies in the press, and then Jim Sutherland (backfield coach) is fired. And none of us let out anything about the meeting."

"We are the stabbed, not the stabbers," said McNamee.

Up to last night most of the complaints voiced against Cherberg were more or less anonymous. But then 31 men put it in writing.

By Far Whips Ed The Great To Cop Crescent City Run

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Automobile dealer T. A. Grissom of Detroit registered his second feature victory of the young Fair Grounds season today when his By Far won the $3,500 Crescent City Handicap.

By Far, an outsider in the betting at 10-1, went into the lead as the field moved out of the backstretch, as the front-running Peu-A-Peu began to fode. Jockey Bobby Baird urged By Far on as Ed The Great moved up in the stretch. By Far was a head in front as he swept over the finish line, running the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5.

By Far, coupled in the race with My Fault, returned $20.60, $9., and $5.40. Ed The Great paid $28.40 and $14.80 with Peu-A-Peu returning $7.40.

Penalty On Extra Point Try Costs Tigers Win Shot

By WARNER RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 26 (AP) — Louisiana State University overcame a 13-0 lead today and tied Tulane 13-13. The Tigers might have won but for a penalty that cost an extra point.

Center Durwood Graham's extra point try after the first LSU score went cleanly through the uprights, but the Tigers were penalized for holding and Graham's second try was wide.

Fullback O. K. Ferguson scored the first LSU touchdown a one-yard dash plunge and halfback Johns took a pass from Reynolds for the second, dodging two tacklers nearly in a 22-yard playing effort.

The other senior halfback, Vince Gonzales, played a brilliant game, both on offense and defense.

Tulane jumped to an early lead in the first quarter, scoring on a 25-yard drive after an LSU kick was partially blocked by Tulane tackle Emmett Zalenka.

Tulane recovered an LSU fumble on the Tiger 21 early in the second quarter and struck for its second touchdown in five plays. Sophomore quarterback Gene Newton swept around left end on a keep play for a six-yard scoring run after faking to Quillian.

LSU took the next kickoff and drove 70 yards for its first touchdown. The drive took 13 plays and set LSU fans roaring for the first time. Some 55,000 saw the game.

The key play in the Tiger drive came on fourth down and one to go on the Tulane 47 when Ferguson bulled for 11 yards to keep the drive rolling.

Reynolds completed a 17-yard pass to end Joe Tuminello and Gonzales pitched a 12-yarder to Johns to put the ball in scoring position where Ferguson bucked it over.

Tulane dominated the first half. LSU didn't make a first down until it began its scoring drive in the second quarter with less than six minutes left in the half.

Newton, using Quillian as a workhorse, directed Tulane to eight first downs and 147 yards on total offense.

LSU made only four first downs in the first half, all in its scoring drive and was limited to 77 yards, 44 rushing and 33 passing. Tulane used an eight-man line until Reynolds began passing in the second quarter.

At the end of the first quarter, Tulane was knocking on the LSU goal line in a 71-yard drive that was halted at the Tiger six on the first play of the second quarter.

LSU's tying touchdown came after a Tulane quick-kick bounced the wrong way and wound up on the Green Wave 49. The Tigers scored in five plays.

Reynolds tossed twice in a row to Johns during the drive, once for 15 yards and again for 22 yards for the touchdown. Gonzales kicked the extra point.

Tulane still hasn't beaten LSU since 1948. It was the closest the New Orleans team has come since 1950, when the rivals played to a 14-14 tie.

Quillian was the game's top ground gainer. He carried 22 times for 95 yards and a 4.3 average. Ferguson was the top man for LSU with 21 carries for 48 yards and 2.5 average.

Jack Dempsey To Referee On 4-Bout Mat Program

Mario Calento and Charley Laye, last week's villainous tag feature winners, meet a new combine Tuesday night at Kallio's Arena in a main event to be refereed by former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, known as the greatest knockout artist to ever appear in boxing circles; when they take on George Curtis and rugged Buddy Fuller.

The Manassa Mauler will be accompanied here by Bobby Manziel, ex-Monroe sports promoter turned Texas oilman. Manziel, who housed his arena in the 100 block of DeSiard St. here over what is now a department store, promoted wrestling and boxing in addition to operating a popular restaurant.

In the semi-final match, West Monroe's Bill Barney takes on Chico Cortez, a Mexican who will be remembered for his mean and illegal tactics in his only Monroe appearance; and opposing main event tag members provide the opposition in a pair of one-fall preliminaries, each of which will have a ten minute time limit.

The tag feature and the semi will require the best-of-three falls to win, but the tag main will have a 90-minute time limit, while the Barney-Cortez bout will have a 60-minute limit. According to Promoter Gus Kallio, an outside referee will be imported for the semi-final and preliminary matches.

Laye and fierce - looking, fierce-wrestling Calento defeated Lee Fields and Chief Little Eagle last Tuesday night in a nip-and-tuck mainevent, but will face sterner opposition this week. Curtis holds a win over Fields, and Fuller, 6-foot-2 husky from Mobile, engaged in a tag match here some months ago which many fans declared was the most rugged and thrilling they had ever witnessed.

Calento had a bad evening last week with the ringsiders after he had brutally beaten and thrown popular Fields out of the ring, but if he goes berserk again this Tuesday, he will indeed run into a storm of protest from Curtis' fans, as well as more vigorous ones from referee Dempsey, who not only is an experienced wrestling official, but is capable of handling the rampaging Calento with a famous scowl.

The Babe Leaves Tampa By Air For Galveston Exams

The world's No. 1 woman golfer, woman athlete of the half century, departed at 1:20 p.m. (CST) and arrived at Houston, Tex., at 7:11 p.m. (CST).

From there she will go to the John Sealey Hospital at Galveston, Tex., where twice previously she has undergone treatment for cancer.

She walked to the plane, but was allowed to board ahead of time to avoid the usual crush.

Miss Dodd said the Babe, racked with pains in her hip for two weeks, had a bad night and didn't get much sleep. Mrs. Zaharias slept most of the morning, however, getting up about noon to make last minute preparations for the trip.

Released from the hospital last September, Mrs. Zaharias apparently was making a satisfactory recovery. She rested much of the time, but was able to play a little golf, though when she tried to go more than a few holes at a time she tired quickly.

With the pain getting worse, she had X-rays made here this week. Her Tampa physician "didn't like the way they looked," she related, and she telephoned her Galveston specialist, Dr. Robert M. Moore, yesterday.

B. C. Uses Pass Interceptions To Trip Holy Cross

By JOE PHELAN

BOSTON, Nov. 26—UP—Favored Boston College turned three pass interceptions and a Holy Cross fumble into touchdowns to score in every period and trounce the Crusaders 26 to 7 in the 52nd meeting between the two Jesuit college arch-rivals before 37,235 shivering fans.

Quarterback Billy Donlan and halfback Ed DeSilva scored twice each for the Eagles but it was the alert defensive work of the Eagle line that set up the Boston College scores. End Emerson Dickey picked off two Crusader passes that led to Eagle scores. Larry Plenty intercepted another pass and tackle Dick Myles recovered a Holy Cross bobble.

Holy Cross scored its only touchdown on one of the few passes it managed to snare itself. Quarterback Tom Roberts found Dick Arcand clear on the Boston College 15 and the Crusader end went the remaining distance after snatching the pass from two defenders to complete a spectacular 46 - yard play in the second period.

Gator Committee Continues Quest For Two Elevens

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 26 (AP)—With teams chosen for four of the five larger post-season football games, interest focused tonight on the remaining contest — the Gator Bowl game here Dec. 31.

Selection committee members headed by chairman Sam Butz admitted they were considering a number of possibilities but declined to name any team under consideration.

Two top ranking SEC teams have already been chosen for bowl games.

One report had Auburn meeting Army in the game here but Butz said there was "nothing to the report." Auburn has appeared in the Gator bowl for the past two years, winning once and losing one.

Committee members said they were giving careful thought to several possible matches in order "to come up with the best possible game rather than rush into a selection" for the 11th annual Gator Bowl game.

Wildcats Shade Baptist In Cage Opener, 90 To 87

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 26 (AP)—Louisiana College warded off a second half challenge tonight to beat East Texas Baptist 90-87 in the season's basketball opener for the Louisiana squad.

Louisiana College moved into the lead at 22-21 with more than six minutes remaining in the first half and swelled the margin to 43-34 by intermission.

But the Texas squad, fired by guard Don Upshaw and forward Harles Cone, moved to within one point of the lead at 84-83 with less than five minutes remaining.

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26 (AP)—Underdog Army, rocked by a quick Navy touchdown and stung by a clock which stopped an 85-yard march inches short of the goal, struck back for a dramatic 14-6 victory today which knocked the Midshipmen out of the Cotton Bowl.

Fullback Pat Uebel, living up to his role as the Navy nemesis, crashed 5 yards for the first of Army's scores in the third period and fleet Don Lash added the clincher with a 22-yard sprint in the fourth.

All-America Ralph Chesnauskas calmly kicked both extra points to put the finishing touches on one of the most stirring of these service football classics, witnessed by a crowd of 102,000 at Municipal Stadium.

Favored Navy, its touted passing attack frustrated by alert Army defenses and its every offensive gesture after the first one thwarted by costly fumbles, was kept on the defensive through most of the final half.

The most disheartening of these came early in the fourth period, with Army holding a slim 7-6 lead.

With two long passes to his fine receivers, All - America Ronnie Beagle and Jim Owen, Welsh propelled Navy 69 yards to the Army 23.

Driving goalward relentlessly, Welsh threw a short forward to Beagle, who fumbled. Stanley Slater, Army's crack sophomore guard, recovered on the Army 20 and the Cadets marched to their final touchdown.

Uebel, who scored three touchdowns in Army's 20-7 victory in 1953 and who was a workhorse in the 27-20 Army defeat a year ago, ripped off huge gains through Navy's staggering defenses, alternating with substitute Dick Murtland and Lash.

The other Army drive covered 41 yards and was strictly again the product of Army's swift infantry troops. Murtland, Uebel and Mike Zeigler carried the ball, with Uebel going the final 5 yards.

'Bama Takes 13th Straight Defeat; Auburn Wins, 26-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 26 (AP)—Power - laden Auburn smashed arch rival Alabama 26-0 today as its final bid for a post - season bowl engagement and an improvement in its No. 10 ranking in the Associated Press poll.

The Tigers drove 80 and 90 yards for touchdowns in the second quarter. Quarterback Howell Tubbs passed 23 to end Jerry Elliott for the first score, and 10 to the same man for the second.

Auburn's third marker came earlier in the final period when guard Tim Baker recovered a 'Bama fumble on the Alabama 24. Fullback Joe Childress took it the last three plunges.

Florida's Gators Hold Hurricanes To 7-6 Triumph

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 26 (AP)—Miami's Hurricanes, hard-pressed by a Florida team fighting desperately to salvage some glory out of a dismal football season, whipped the Gators 7-6 today in a bruising game that was in doubt right up to the final gun.

In the end, the hero was Miami's end Don Johnson, who pushed through the Florida line to block Dick Allen's extra-point kick after the Gators had smashed to a touchdown in the second period. That made Ed Oliver's conversion after an earlier Miami score the decisive point.

Mario Bonofiglio, who was Miami's No. 1 quarterback at the start of the season but had been demoted to the third string, directed the Hurricanes' "drive" offense to its only touchdown, scoring it himself on a 12-yard run off the "keep" play.

With Florida's fleet breakaway backs, Jackie Simpson and Jim Rountree, bottled up by the Miami line, fullback Joe Brodsky lugged the ball most of the way in a 78-yard advance that produced the Gator score. Brodsky bulled across the Miami goal from a yard out.

It was Florida's sixth defeat of the season, the most ever suffered by Coach Bob Woodruff in his nine years as a head coach, including six at Florida. Woodruff has been under fire in recent weeks, but even his worst enemies had to be satisfied with his team's performance today against heavily-favored Miami.

By JOE PHELAN

BOSTON, Nov. 26—UP—Favored Boston College turned three pass interceptions and a Holy Cross fumble into touchdowns to score in every period and trounce the Crusaders 26 to 7 in the 52nd meeting between the two Jesuit college arch-rivals before 37,235 shivering fans.

Quarterback Billy Donlan and halfback Ed DeSilva scored twice each for the Eagles but it was the alert defensive work of the Eagle line that set up the Boston College scores. End Emerson Dickey picked off two Crusader passes that led to Eagle scores. Larry Plenty intercepted another pass and tackle Dick Myles recovered a Holy Cross bobble.

Holy Cross scored its only touchdown on one of the few passes it managed to snare itself. Quarterback Tom Roberts found Dick Arcand clear on the Boston College 15 and the Crusader end went the remaining distance after snatching the pass from two defenders to complete a spectacular 46 - yard play in the second period.

Gator Committee Continues Quest For Two Elevens

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 26 (AP)—With teams chosen for four of the five larger post-season football games, interest focused tonight on the remaining contest — the Gator Bowl game here Dec. 31.

Selection committee members headed by chairman Sam Butz admitted they were considering a number of possibilities but declined to name any team under consideration.

Two top ranking SEC teams have already been chosen for bowl games.

One report had Auburn meeting Army in the game here but Butz said there was "nothing to the report." Auburn has appeared in the Gator bowl for the past two years, winning once and losing one.

Committee members said they were giving careful thought to several possible matches in order "to come up with the best possible game rather than rush into a selection" for the 11th annual Gator Bowl game.

Wildcats Shade Baptist In Cage Opener, 90 To 87

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 26 (AP)—Louisiana College warded off a second half challenge tonight to beat East Texas Baptist 90-87 in the season's basketball opener for the Louisiana squad.

Louisiana College moved into the lead at 22-21 with more than six minutes remaining in the first half and swelled the margin to 43-34 by intermission.

But the Texas squad, fired by guard Don Upshaw and forward Harles Cone, moved to within one point of the lead at 84-83 with less than five minutes remaining.

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26 (AP)—Underdog Army, rocked by a quick Navy touchdown and stung by a clock which stopped an 85-yard march inches short of the goal, struck back for a dramatic 14-6 victory today which knocked the Midshipmen out of the Cotton Bowl.

Fullback Pat Uebel, living up to his role as the Navy nemesis, crashed 5 yards for the first of Army's scores in the third period and fleet Don Lash added the clincher with a 22-yard sprint in the fourth.

All-America Ralph Chesnauskas calmly kicked both extra points to put the finishing touches on one of the most stirring of these service football classics, witnessed by a crowd of 102,000 at Municipal Stadium.

Favored Navy, its touted passing attack frustrated by alert Army defenses and its every offensive gesture after the first one thwarted by costly fumbles, was kept on the defensive through most of the final half.

The most disheartening of these came early in the fourth period, with Army holding a slim 7-6 lead.

With two long passes to his fine receivers, All - America Ronnie Beagle and Jim Owen, Welsh propelled Navy 69 yards to the Army 23.

Driving goalward relentlessly, Welsh threw a short forward to Beagle, who fumbled. Stanley Slater, Army's crack sophomore guard, recovered on the Army 20 and the Cadets marched to their final touchdown.

Uebel, who scored three touchdowns in Army's 20-7 victory in 1953 and who was a workhorse in the 27-20 Army defeat a year ago, ripped off huge gains through Navy's staggering defenses, alternating with substitute Dick Murtland and Lash.

The other Army drive covered 41 yards and was strictly again the product of Army's swift infantry troops. Murtland, Uebel and Mike Zeigler carried the ball, with Uebel going the final 5 yards.

The game was viciously fought on both sides, as is customary in and injuries frequent.

Army .....0 0 7 7—14

Navy scoring — Touchdown: Welsh (1, plunge).

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 26—(AP)—Power - laden Auburn smashed arch rival Alabama 26-0 today as its final bid for a post - season bowl engagement and an improvement in its No. 10 ranking in the Associated Press poll.

The win gave Auburn a season's record of eight wins, a loss to Tulane and a tie by Kentucky for second place in the tough Southeastern Conference.

The Tigers drove 80 and 90 yards for touchdowns in the second quarter. Quarterback Howell Tubbs passed 23 to end Jerry Elliott for the first score, and 10 to the same man for the second.

Auburn's third marker came earlier in the final period when guard Tim Baker recovered a 'Bama fumble on the Alabama 24. Fullback Joe Childress took it the last three plunges.

A fourth Auburn touchdown, with just two minutes left, was started when Fob James returned a punt 32 to his 48. Tubbs went 36 on a keeper, Childress slammed for 14 and Tubbs took it across on the third play of the drive.

It was Alabama's 13th consecutive loss, to tie a Southeastern Conference record set in the 1945, 1946 and 1947 seasons by Florida. A capacity crowd of 44,000 saw the game between the two intrastate rivals.

Illinois Boxing Exec Satisfied With Robinson

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., Nov. 26 (AP)—Lou Radzienda of the Illinois Athletic Commission watched Ray Robinson box four rounds today and expressed satisfaction over the former middleweight champion's condition.

"I'm pleased with Robinson's physical condition and his boxing ability," said Radzienda. "As far as his injured ankle is concerned, I'm sure the ankle is perfect now. He was on his toes in the four rounds he boxed today."

Florida's Gators Hold Hurricanes To 7-6 Triumph

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 26 (AP)—Miami's Hurricances, hard-pressed by a Florida team fighting desperately to salvage some glory out of a dismal football season, whipped the Gators 7-6 today in a bruising game that was in doubt right up to the final gun.

In the end, the hero was Miami's end Don Johnson, who pushed through the Florida line to block Dick Allen's extra-point kick after the Gators had smashed to a touchdown in the second period. That made Ed Oliver's conversion after an earlier Miami score the decisive point.

Mario Bonofiglio, who was Miami's No. 1 quarterback at the start of the season but had been demoted to the third string, directed the Hurricanes' "drive" offense to its only touchdown, scoring it himself on a 12-yard run off the "keep" play.

With Florida's fleet breakaway backs, Jackie Simpson and Jim Rountree, bottled up by the Miami line, fullback Joe Brodsky lugged the ball most of the way in a 78-yard advance that produced the Gator score. Brodsky bulled across the Miami goal from a yard out.

It was Florida's sixth defeat of the season, the most ever suffered by Coach Bob Woodruff in his nine years as a head coach, including six at Florida. Woodruff has been under fire in recent weeks, but even his worst enemies had to be satisfied with his team's performance today against heavily-favored Miami.

John T. Hart is shown above accepting delivery of his '56 Ford from V. H. Rivers, Vice President, McCain-Richards. Mr. Hart looked at all the '56 cars and got many offers from other dealers, but—as he puts it—"The allowance I was given by McCain-Richards was much bigger than I was offered anywhere else."

As more and more people see the '56 models of all makes and get offers from the various dealers, McCain-Richards' "go you one better" deals on '56 Fords become more and more attractive. The folks at McCain-Richards invite all residents in this area to make them prove that they'll "go you one better" than any deal you can get on any car, offered by anyone . . . anywhere. You'll enjoy the peace of mind that comes from owning a '56 Ford backed by the reputation which McCain-Richards has established during their more than 16 years in business in Monroe. Two Fertile Northeast Louisiana Delta Farms Will Be Sold December 10, 1955 To Settle An Estate

One farm consisting of 1174.4 acres (approximately) known as Gossyppia Plantation in East Carroll Parish, Lake Providence, La., has 700 acres of better-than-average seeded pastures, 400 acres of cultivatable land, a base cotton acreage of 142 for 1956, and a high yielding 30-year-old 50-acre Stuart Pecan grove. This is in the front yard of a two-story brick ante-bellum home built in 1856 with slave labor, which is now in excellent repair.

The other farm, known as Hollywood Plantation, consisting of 721 acres, all open, lies along beautiful Lake Providence within a mile of Lake Providence, La. All land is cultivatable, and the farm has a base cotton acreage of 293.4 for 1956.

Interested parties will contact the law firm of McIntosh, Hester and Gilfoil, P. O. Box 468, Lake Providence, La. for any further information.

Sealed bids will be received until 2:00 P.M., December 10, 1955, in care of the above law firm.

Two Fertile Northeast Louisiana Delta Farms Will Be Sold December 10, 1955 To Settle An Estate

One farm consisting of 1174.4 acres (approximately) known as Gossyppia Plantation in East Carroll Parish, Lake Providence, La., has 700 acres of better-than-average seeded pastures, 400 acres of cultivatable land, a base cotton acreage of 142 for 1956, and a high yielding 30-year-old 50-acre Stuart Pecan grove. This is in the front yard of a two-story brick ante-bellum home built in 1856 with slave labor, which is now in excellent repair.

The other farm, known as Hollywood Plantation, consisting of 721 acres, all open, lies along beautiful Lake Providence within a mile of Lake Providence, La. All land is cultivatable, and the farm has a base cotton acreage of 293.4 for 1956.

Interested parties will contact the law firm of McIntosh, Hester and Gilfoil, P. O. Box 468, Lake Providence, La. for any further information.

Sealed bids will be received until 2:00 P.M., December 10, 1955, in care of the above law firm.

U. S. Offers Buffalo For Sale To American Public

Ernest Greenwalt, manager of the Wichita Mountain Wildlife Refuge near Lawton, said about 60 of the shaggy animals have been sold from the refuge's herd of 1,250. About 300 to 400 will be sold altogether between now and mid-January.

The selling project is an annual affair and is designed to keep the herd down to about 1,000 animals, which is just about the right number to graze on the 59,000 acres in the refuge, Greenwalt said.

Greenwalt said that about 100 of the 160 sold so far have been butchered. The carcasses are processed and packaged and sold for about $15 to $150. The buyer pays the shipping cost.

About 60 buffalo have been sold live to ranchers and estate owners who want them for breeding purposes or for show.

"Some people have a desire to get in the buffalo business and raise them for sale, while some want them just for show," he said.

Zoos and parks which want the animals for exhibition purposes can get them free of charge, but the government requires that such enterprises be well equipped to care for the buffalo.

"These are wild animals and must be treated as such," Greenwalt said. "They have to be handled carefully, or you will get hurt."

The refuge manager said buffalo have been shipped in past years as far away as Melbourne, Australia, and he has an order this year for two buffalo for Guatemala.

"I think they want them for exhibition," he said.

Greenwalt said buffalo meat is pretty good when you compare it with that of other wild animals.

"It is wild meat, but it comes closer to the textture of beef than any other wild meat," he said. "It is dark red in color."

The herd at the Wichita Mountain refuge is the second largest in the nation and for many years was the largest. Recently the herd at Custer State Park in South Dakota passed the Oklahoma herd in numbers.

2 Cars Damaged In Accident Here

An automobile accident at 1:55 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Otis and North Seventh in West Monroe resulted in considerable damage to both vehicles but no one was reported injured, West Monroe police said last night.

The accident occurred, police said, when Osie A. Rogers, 42, West Monroe, was driving south on North Seventh about 30 miles per hour and a car driven by a juvenile girl, of West Monroe, attempted to cross North Seventh. The girl driver said she had stopped and looked for traffic, but did not see a car coming, then pulled onto North Seventh where Rogers' car struck that of the juvenile.

Police said Rogers applied his brakes but was afraid to stop too suddenly for fear he would throw his wife and child through the windshield.

No charges were filed, according to police, after the juvenile's parents offered to settle the incident with Rogers.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

There will be lots of activity at the Little Theatre from now until Friday, December 2 at 8:15 p.m. when the curtain goes up on the second show of the season "Dial M for Murder."

Theatre goers can look forward to an exciting drama ably portrayed by Mildred Jean Middleton, Bid Causey, Garland Moore, M. D. Swayze, Tom Keller and J. V. Spatafora.

Random notes: Coral draperies and glass curtains add a luxurious touch to the setting of "Dial M." The curtains were made by Marion Fisher who is continually surprising us with her diversity of talents. . . .

We told you about the mural being painted by Katherine Magruder. It's finished now. And wait until you see it. You'll wish you could have it for your very own . .

The latest member of the production crew is veteran Little Theatre worker Dorothy Elmendorf. She will handle lighting for the show. It's good to have you back on the active list of theaterites, Dot. . . .

Director Ivan Uttal hasn't a technical worry in the world with the stage crew he has lined up. In addition to Dorothy Elmendorf working lights, there is Aubrey McKeithen as stage manager, Randy Rainwater doing sound effects and Sally Peptone and Lila Merhige on properties. He couldn't ask for a more efficient crew. . . .

Set decorations of T. V.'s "Appointment with Adventure" are credited to former Little Theatre actor Bill Harp who is remembered for his excellent acting in "Rope," "For Love or Money" and "All My Sons." We aren't surprised that Bill is a success in the professional field. How could he miss with his talents. . . .

Former Little Theaterites Peggy and Gene Ritter, now residing in Houston, are (to borrow a Winchellism) infanticipating. . . .

M. D. Swayze . . . soon to be seen as Inspector Hubbard in "Dial M for Murder" is a native Monroyan. He attended Neville High School, Northeast State and is a graduate of LSU.

M. D. is married to the former June Bloomer of Little Rock, Ark. They have four children— a son and three lovely daughters.

Suzanna Rottink visited the Home Economics Department during her stay in Ouachita Parish. She was charmed with the class work done by girls in foods and nutrition, clothing and handicrafts. The schools in the Netherlands do not offer courses in homemakng and agriculture—instead students must learn six languages.

Following the visit to the classes, Mrs. Mary E. Blanchinston entertained the faculty and guest at a tea in her department. Mrs. W. A. Calloway and agent accompanied Suzanna and enjoyed the hospitality extended by Mrs. Blankinston.

Landscape Gardening

Christmas is near—give a lasting Christmas gift to your friend you want to remember. It may be a tree or a shrub, some choice bulbs or tubers she'd like to add to her garden. Think how long she will enjoy such a gift.

If your working on that landscape plan, here are a few suggestions to help you.

Enrich your garden with plants that provide fragrance, color, sound and varied textures (touch). These are the gems that add interest to an otherwise plain garden —good taste should play a major part in every landscape design.

Include dual purpose trees such as pear, persimmon, fig or pecan, or such plants as youngberries, strawberries, (citrus for S. Louisiana only) or scuppernong.

Birds add color and sound—berried shrubs attract birds. Include those that fit your needs. Water features may attract birds and can be used to produce varied sounds.

Trees, shrubs, and plants of varied textures: fine and coarse are our main concern since most plants are of medium texture—both senses are affected. Touch is perceived through the sense of sight.

If your garden is lacking in interest, you may want to revise your plan to include some of those gems. Include as many as you like, provided you can keep unity.

Psychologists tell us that the more we include those things that affect the five senses, the more pleasure we will receive from our garden. Enrich your garden with "living gems" instead of shining balls, pink cranes, and other "gimcrack" — make Christmas more enjoyable by giving "living gems".

In making your candies and cookies for the Christmas holidays, many uncooked types, containing many nutrients, can be made and stored in your home freezer for Christmas, recipes are available by calling 3-2251.

Miss Trousdale Makes New Orleans Debut

The theme of the party, "Disneyland" was carried out in the invitations and the unique decorations of the clubroom. Miss Trousdale, as Alice, wore a blue glazed chintz frock with white organdy apron and little girl shoes. Completing her costume were a small gold crown and a jeweled flamingo, which she carried. Her parents represented the "King and Queen of Hearts."

Miss Trousdale shared honors with Miss Sally Evans at a brunch, with dancing, given by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Labbe and Miss Marie Elise Labbe of Lafayette, at the Ponchartrain Hotel. She and Miss Evans with Miss Mathilde Villere were honor guests of the Teal McLeans and their daughter, Miss Carey McLean, at cocktails. Again Miss Trousdale and Miss Villere shared honors at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Reiss. Mrs. Hugh G. McDonald's compliment was a luncheon which she gave at the Four Seasons.

Other parties honoring Miss Trousdale will be a dinner dance to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Boatner Reily and Boatner Reily, Jr., in their home on Prytania street, December 17.

Mr. and Mrs. James Reily and Dr. and Mrs. John Dicks will be hosts at dinner later in December and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brown, Jr., will entertain at Ormond plantation at cocktails.

Mrs. Frank Stubbs and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lynch will be hosts at a luncheon and Miss Sally Ringle with Miss Trousdale will be honor guests at dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Frank McLaughlin, hosts.

D. A. R. Chapter Honors Its Charter Members

Abram Morehouse chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution honored it's charter members at its twenty-third anniversary celebration on Wednesday afternoon at Mer Rouge in the home of Miss Debbie Pinkston. Other hostesses were Mrs. J. A. Davenport and Mrs. Jack Reily.

Mrs. Hadley Leavell, vice-regent and program chairman, introduced the program theme, "History of Abram Morehouse Chapter As Seen Through the Eyes of Past Regents." Mrs. A. B. Conger gave the history of the chapter from 1932-1951, as compiled by Miss Ellie Traylor. Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin read a resume of the chapters accomplishments from 1951 to 1954 written by Mrs. George T. Madison who served as regent during those years.

Mrs. Conrad McDuffie, present regent, paid tribute to the charter members and others who were on the early roll of membership. She said, "As we look back into the history of the chapter we get a clear view and in so doing we are guided in going forward in greater safety. We also get a view that tells us that we owe a gift of gratitude to those women who built the firm foundation for our chapter.

Mrs. E. L. Gladney Jr. membership chairman, pinned corsages on the honorees who were present: Miss Lucille Huffman, charter member and first regent; Mrs. E. B. Folse, charter member; Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, charter member; Miss Ellie Traylor past regent; and Mrs. J. B. Shackelford, past regent.

Mrs. Leavell asked that these ladies tell the newer members about some of their experiences and projects and to tell what being a D.A.R. had meant to them.

Miss Lucille Huffman, very cleverly, told about her trip to Continental Congress at which time she had only attended three D. A.R. meetings. To the delight of her listeners, she compared herself to "The Cat That Went to London to see the Queen" but all it saw was the little mouse under her chair. Miss Huffman stressed that she really did want to see the president but he passed by when two little boys were about to fight.

Mrs. J. B. Shackelford, past regent, pointed out that regents were not the only ones who had done the work. She praised Mrs. E. B. Folse, Mrs. A. H Davenport, Mrs. R. E. Barham, Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, and Mrs. B. E. Barham for their contributions. Miss Ellie Traylor, past regent, gave a brief resume of her term in office. Mrs. E. B. Folse told in a very few words what D.A.R. work had done to broaden her life. Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, who became a charter member when she was in college, said that her affiliation with the organization had been very gratifying.

Charter members who are still affiliated with the chapter are: Mrs. Maude Myers Files, Miss Lucille Huffman, Mrs. Fannie Sandidge Taylor, Mrs. Frances Davenport Madison, Mrs. Jane Williams Rankin, Mrs. Henrietta Bowden Folse, Mrs. Mary Ema Williams Wilson, Mrs. Maude Files Zimmer, Mrs. Mildred Files Baskerville.

Past regents are: Miss Lucille Huffman, Mrs. Mary Williams Davenport, Mrs. Maude Myers Files, Mrs. Eva Williams Hunt, Mrs. Gladys Park Shackelford, Miss Ellie Traylor, and Mrs. Frances Davenport Madison.

Expert Predicts More Gadgets For Housework

DETROIT—The day when housewives will be freed from the drudgery of keeping house is not as far off as most people believe, says Roger Kyes, former deputy defense director.

Kyes, who now heads the General Motors' appliance divisions, said he believes appliance engineers are on "the eve of a major breakthrough" in completely emancipating the American housewife.

The gadgets that might do the job are excitingly different from anything now on the market.

"I am certain that a generation hence people will no more understand how the housewife of today got along with all the drudgery she had to endure, than we today understand how our grandmothers managed with a woodburning stove and a washboard," Kyes said.

No Dust

A 100 per cent climate-controlled house, providing a home environment of agreeable temperature and moisture content at all time, and even more importantly, providing a house which is free of dust, dirt and undesirable odors.

A central refrigeration system—similar to central heating systems—that would have fur storage closets, and a refrigerated cabinet for cosmetics and perishable medicines.

Electronic refrigerators, which besides freezing foods, would thaw them in seconds, removing the worry of a housewife forgetting to remove the roast in time.

A device that would make it possible when away from home to close the windows in event of rain by merely dialing the home number on the telephone. Or, automatic window closers so sensitive to rain that the windows would close them at the first raindrop.

No Lugging

Freedom from the weekly trips to market and lugging home and putting away the groceries with food storage being put on a permanent revolving inventory basis. A delivery man would replenish food stocks by reading a "meter" attached to the outside of a house.

New automatic laundry equipment, replacing today's automatic washers and dryers, that not only will wash and dry clothes, but will convey, sort, clean, iron and fold them.

And mechanical mopping systems that will wash the kitchen floor and then rinse and dry it all automatically in a matter of minutes.

Open House Celebrates 50th Anniv.

WINNSBORO—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Richardson, Sr., of Liddiville held open house between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon Nov. 20 in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married on November 19, 1905.

Assisting in extending courtesies of the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Mike McDonald of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. Thelma Wall, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Richardson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Turnage.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are the parents of six children: Mrs. Mike McDonald, Mrs. Thelma Wall, J. E. Richardson, Jr. all attending the celebration, and Tom and Curtis Richardson of Houston, Tex. and James J. Richardson of Baton Rouge, who were unable to attend.

Greeting the guests at the door were Misses Evie Jean Turnage, Janice Wall and Beverly Albritton. They invited the more than 100 guests who came, to register in the guest book.

The golden theme was carried out throughout the reception rooms of the hospitable home. Gold colored chrysanthemums were placed at vantage points. The refreshment table was overlaid with a handsome tablecloth. The center arrangement was gold and yellow tapers burned on either side.

Among the guests who attended the celebration Sunady were Marge Anders, R. L. Adams, Clarence Richardson and Mrs. H. C. Galloway. They were among the ones who attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson in 1905.

Miss Trousdale Makes New Orleans Debut

The theme of the party, "Disneyland" was carried out in the invitations and the unique decorations of the clubroom. Miss Trousdale, as Alice, wore a blue glazed chintz frock with white organdy apron and little girl shoes. Completing her costume were a small gold crown and a jeweled flamingo, which she carried. Her parents represented the "King and Queen of Hearts."

Miss Trousdale shared honors with Miss Sally Evans at a brunch, with dancing, given by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Labbe and Miss Marie Elise Labbe of Lafayette, at the Ponchartrain Hotel. She and Miss Evans with Miss Mathilde Villere were honor guests of the Teal McLeans and their daughter, Miss Carey McLean, at cocktails. Again Miss Trousdale and Miss Villere shared honors at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Reiss. Mrs. Hugh G. McDonald's compliment was a luncheon which she gave at the Four Seasons.

Other parties honoring Miss Trousdale will be a dinner dance to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Boatner Reily and Boatner Reily, Jr., in their home on Prytania street, December 17.

Mr. and Mrs. James Reily and Dr. and Mrs. John Dicks will be hosts at dinner later in December and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brown, Jr., will entertain at Ormond plantation at cocktails.

Mrs. Frank Stubbs and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lynch will be hosts at a luncheon and Miss Sally Ringle with Miss Trousdale will be honor guests at dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Frank McLaughlin, hosts.

D. A. R. Chapter Honors Its Charter Members

Abram Morehouse chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution honored it's charter members at its twenty-third anniversary celebration on Wednesday afternoon at Mer Rouge in the home of Miss Debbie Pinkston. Other hostesses were Mrs. J. A. Davenport and Mrs. Jack Reily.

Mrs. Hadley Leavell, vice-regent and program chairman, introduced the program theme, "History of Abram Morehouse Chapter As Seen Through the Eyes of Past Regents." Mrs. A. B. Conger gave the history of the chapter from 1932-1951, as compiled by Miss Ellie Traylor. Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin read a resume of the chapters accomplishments from 1951 to 1954 written by Mrs. George T. Madison who served as regent during those years.

Mrs. Conrad McDuffie, present regent, paid tribute to the charter members and others who were on the early roll of membership. She said, "As we look back into the history of the chapter we get a clear view and in so doing we are guided in going forward in greater safety. We also get a view that tells us that we owe a gift of gratitude to those women who built the firm foundation for our chapter.

Mrs. E. L. Gladney Jr. membership chairman, pinned corsages on the honorees who were present: Miss Lucille Huffman, charter member and first regent; Mrs. E. B. Folse, charter member; Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, charter member; Miss Ellie Traylor past regent; and Mrs. J. B. Shackelford, past regent.

Mrs. Leavell asked that these ladies tell the newer members about some of their experiences and projects and to tell what being a D.A.R. had meant to them.

Miss Lucille Huffman, very cleverly, told about her trip to Continental Congress at which time she had only attended three D.A.R. meetings. To the delight of her listeners, she compared herself to "The Cat That Went to London to see the Queen" but all it saw was the little mouse under her chair. Miss Huffman stressed that she really did want to see the president but he passed by when two little boys were about to fight.

Mrs. J. B. Shackelford, past regent, pointed out that regents were not the only ones who had done the work. She praised Mrs. E. B. Folse, Mrs. A. H Davenport, Mrs. R. E. Barham, Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, and Mrs. B. E. Barham for their contributions. Miss Ellie Traylor, past regent, gave a brief resume of her term in office. Mrs. E. B. Folse told in a very few words what D.A.R. work had done to broaden her life. Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, who became a charter member when she was in college, said that her affiliation with the organization had been very gratifying.

Expert Predicts More Gadgets For Housework

DETROIT—The day when housewives will be freed from the drudgery of keeping house is not as far off as most people believe, says Roger Kyes, former deputy defense director.

Kyes, who now heads the General Motors' appliance divisions, said he believes appliance engineers are on "the eve of a major breakthrough" in completely emancipating the American housewife.

The gadgets that might do the job are excitingly different from anything now on the market.

"I am certain that a generation hence people will no more understand how the housewife of today got along with all the drudgery she had to endure, than we today understand how our grandmothers managed with a woodburning stove and a washboard," Kyes said.

No Dust

A 100 per cent climate-controlled house, providing a home environment of agreeable temperature and moisture content at all time, and even more importantly, providing a house which is free of dust, dirt and undesirable odors.

A central refrigeration system—similar to central heating systems—that would have fur storage closets, and a refrigerated cabinet for cosmetics and perishable medicines.

Electronic refrigerators, which besides freezing foods, would thaw them in seconds, removing the worry of a housewife forgetting to remove the roast in time.

A device that would make it possible when away from home to close the windows in event of rain by merely dialing the home number on the telephone. Or, automatic window closers so sensitive to rain that the windows would close them at the first raindrop.

No Lugging

Freedom from the weekly trips to market and lugging home and putting away the groceries with food storage being put on a permanent revolving inventory basis. A delivery man would replenish food stocks by reading a "meter" attached to the outside of a house.

New automatic laundry equipment, replacing today's automatic washers and dryers, that not only will wash and dry clothes, but will convey, sort, clean, iron and fold them.

And mechanical mopping systems that will wash the kitchen floor and then rinse and dry it all automatically in a matter of minutes.

Open House Celebrates 50th Anniv.

WINNSBORO—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Richardson, Sr., of Liddiville held open house between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon Nov. 20 in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married on November 19, 1905.

Assisting in extending courtesies of the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Mike McDonald of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. Thelma Wall, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Richardson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Turnage.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are the parents of six children: Mrs. Mike McDonald, Mrs. Thelma Wall, J. E. Richardson, Jr. all attending the celebration, and Tom and Curtis Richardson of Houston, Tex. and James J. Richardson of Baton Rouge, who were unable to attend.

Greeting the guests at the door were Misses Evie Jean Turnage, Janice Wall and Beverly Albritton. They invited the more than 100 guests who came, to register in the guest book.

The golden theme was carried out throughout the reception rooms of the hospitable home. Gold colored chrysanthemums were placed at vantage points. The refreshment table was overlaid with a handsome tablecloth. The center arrangement was gold and yellow tapers burned on either side.

Among the guests who attended the celebration Sunady were Marge Anders, R. L. Adams, Clarence Richardson and Mrs. H. C. Galloway. They were among the ones who attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson in 1905.

News From The Public Library

One of the most interesting projects carried on by the Louisiana State Library each year is the stimulation of adult reading of non-fiction books by the awarding of reading certificates each fall. This project was started in 1932 when there were very few parish libraries in the state. At this time most of the books were mailed out by the state library to people living in all sections of the state who were interested in reading worthwhile and interesting books. Today when more than one-half of the parishes have libraries of their own, the reading is carried on through the parish library in each local parish. Last year more than 1500 people in Louisiana earned these certificates. Of this number 107 were issued to patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

The new reading lists are now available at any of the branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library and now is the time to begin reading so that you will receive a certificate in the fall of 1956. The books on the adult reading lists are always interesting. Although we had a number of the books, we have added within the past week additional titles so that there would be plenty of books available for those who wanted to take advantage of this guided list to improve their knowledge and general information.

The books on the reading list are divided into 10 classes and readers are urged to distribute their reading among as many classes as possible. The first class is called government and politics. It contains such books as "Two Minutes to Midnight" by Elmer Davis and "Common Sense and World Affairs" by Dorothy Fosdick. The latter one was written by a woman who served for four years on the staff of the State Department. She discusses the importance of realism, patience and fair-mindedness in forming opinions about foreign policy.

The second group is called Biography and contains such interesting books as "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A" by Richard Aldrich, "That Reminds Me" by Albin Barkley and "Silver Spade, the Conrad Hilton Story" by Whitney Bolton. The third group deals with books of History. In this class we find such interesting books as "Duel of Wits" by Peter Churchill in which a British agent relates his experiences in France during the German occupation when he worked with the French resistance in the south. Another interesting book in this class is "Heriones of Dixie" by K. M. Jones. This is an account of the Civil War as seen through the diaries, letters and books written by Confederate women dealing with the Civil War.

The fourth group deals with travel and adventure. A fascinating book in this group is "I Married The Klondike" by L. B. Berton. This deals with the experiences of a young teacher who went north to Dawson as a young teacher in 1907 and married and stayed there for 25 years. "Moroccan Journal" by Rom Landau is an interesting account of conditions in present day Morocco. In this group is also found "Stranger in Spain" by . C. V. Morton which is an interesting account of the author's trip through Spain.

The fifth class is called "Philosophy and Religion". It contains some wonderfully inspiring and helpful books. If people could just read these books and apply what they have learned, their lives would be so much fuller and richer. One of these is "In Search of Serenity" by R.V.C. Bodley which contains excellent suggestions for chronic worriers. Another is "How to Live 365 Days a Year" by J. A. Schindler. This book tells how to live so as to get the most out of life every day. The sixth class deals with science and nature and includes such outstanding books as Louis Bromfield's "From My Experience" and A. L. Rand's "Stray Feathers From a Bird Man's Desk."

The seventh class deals with sport and includes books on big game hunting, boxing and football. The eighth group is called American scene and includes such stimulating titles as "We Came to America" by Frances Cavanah and "What is America" by Arthur Goodfriend. The ninth group is called Essays and belles-letters. It includes humorous books like a "Slight Sense of Outrage" by Morton and "Encyclopedia of Modern American Humor" by Bennett Cerf. It also includes serious works such as "The Woman Within" the autobiography of Ellen Glasgow and "Gift From The Sea" by Anne Morrow Lindbergh. The last class is called "Some Interesting Odds and Ends" and contains a variety of unusual books.

Come to one of the branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library as soon as possible and secure a reading list and start earning a certificate to be presented next November.

MRS. ROBERT L. TETTLETON

Miss Pylant, R. L. Tettleton Say Vows Thanksgiving Day

Simplicity and beauty characterized the wedding of Miss Mary Sue Pylant and Robert L. Tettleton, who exchanged nuptial vows at 10 o'clock in the morning of Thursday, November 24, in the First Methodist Church of Coushatta.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Winnie R. Pylant and the late Mr. Pylant of Coushatta, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orville E. Tettleton of Farmerville.

Standards of white gladioli and stock and many glowing cathedral tapers decorated the church where the Rev. Harvey G. Williamson, pastor, officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

Preceding the wedding, Mrs. Alice Bobbit played organ music, and she accompanied Mr. Pat Strother who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Michael S. Thorne of Houston, Texas, who was the bride's matron of honor, wore a tailored costume and corsage of white roses.

Mr. Robert Barr Todd of Shreveport served the bridegroom as best man. Lighting the candles were Theresa Lentz of Coushatta, cousin of the bride, and Jo Mary Tettleton of Farmerville, the groom's sister, who were wearing crimson velvet frocks and corsages of white carnations.

The ushers were Mr. Fred Thomas DeFee of Shreveport, cousin of the bride, Mr. Zeke Tettleton of Farmerville, the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Raymond Nails of Coushatta, and Mr. Michael S. Thorne of Houston, Texas.

Following the ceremony was a reception in the church social rooms, where Mrs. Pylant, the bride's mother, received her guests. She was wearing a teal blue dress and a white orchid. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Tettleton, the bridegroom's mother, who was wearing a gray costume suit with mauve and gray accessories and a white orchid.

Tall standards holding white gladioli and stock were used throughout the rooms, and the same blossoms in a silver bowl formed the attractive centerpiece for the coffee table covered with green organdy. The bride's cake was an oblong tiered confection surmounted by a bridal couple.

Following a honeymoon in New Orleans, the couple will be at home at 3400 Franklin street, Monroe, where they are associated with Northeast Louisiana State College.

The bride attended Mary Hardin Baylor College, Belton, Texas, and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, where she completed study for the bachelor's degree. She then received training as a dietitian at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Mo.

The bridegroom did undergraduate study at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and attended Louisiana State University, where he was awarded the master's degree in art. He saw military service just prior to accepting this fall a position with Northeast State as art instructor. Mrs. Tettleton also joined the faculty as dietitian and instructor in dietetics.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES VERRETT

Stark-Verrett Vows Exchanged In Greenville

Of interest throughout this area of the state is the marriage of Ruth Stark, of Bastrop, and James Verrett, of Monroe, who exchanged their nuptial vows in Greenville, Miss.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shamblin of Monroe, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. Gabriel Verrett and the late Mrs. Verrett of West Monroe.

Following their wedding, an informal reception was given in the late afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Shamblin and their daughtor, Miss LaDora Shamblin, at their home in Edgewater Gardens. Mrs. Shamblin wore navy crepe with pink faille trim, and Miss Shamblin chose a black faille suit with which she wore a green nylon blouse.

Attractive arrangements of flowers in varied autumn hues were placed at vantage points throughout the reception rooms.

Mrs. Carl Addison served punch from a large crystal bowl, and Miss LaDora Shamblin presided at the coffee service. Crystal containers held open-faced sandwiches and small cakes. Assisting in serving were Miss Dolores Jean Stark and Miss Mary Ramona Potter.

Simplicity and beauty characterized the wedding of Miss Mary Sue Pylant and Robert L. Tettleton, who exchanged nuptial vows at 10 o'clock in the morning of Thursday, November 24, in the First Methodist Church of Coushatta.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Winnie R. Pylant and the late Mr. Pylant of Coushatta, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orville E. Tettleton of Farmerville.

Standards of white gladioli and stock and many glowing cathedral tapers decorated the church where the Rev. Harvey G. Williamson, pastor, officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

Preceding the wedding, Mrs. Alice Bobbit played organ music, and she accompanied Mr. Pat Strother who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Michael S. Thorne of Houston, Texas, who was the bride's matron of honor, wore a tailored costume and corsage of white roses.

Mr. Robert Barr Todd of Shreveport served the bridegroom as best man. Lighting the candles were Theresa Lentz of Coushatta, cousin of the bride, and Jo Mary Tettleton of Farmerville, the groom's sister, who were wearing crimson velvet frocks and corsages of white carnations.

The ushers were Mr. Fred Thomas DeFee of Shreveport, cousin of the bride, Mr. Zeke Tettleton of Farmerville, the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Raymond Nails of Coushatta, and Mr. Michael S. Thorne of Houston, Texas.

Following the ceremony was a reception in the church social rooms, where Mrs. Pylant, the bride's mother, received her guests. She was wearing a teal blue dress and a white orchid. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Tettleton, the bridegroom's mother, who was wearing a gray costume suit with mauve and gray accessories and a white orchid.

Tall standards holding white gladioli and stock were used throughout the rooms, and the same blossoms in a silver bowl formed the attractive centerpiece for the coffee table covered with green organdy. The bride's cake was an oblong tiered confection surmounted by a bridal couple.

Following a honeymoon in New Orleans, the couple will be at home at 3400 Franklin street, Monroe, where they are associated with Northeast Louisiana State College.

The bride attended Mary Hardin Baylor College, Belton, Texas, and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, where she completed study for the bachelor's degree. She then received training as a dietitian at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Mo.

The bridegroom did undergraduate study at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and attended Louisiana State University, where he was awarded the master's degree in art. He saw military service just prior to accepting this fall a position with Northeast State as art instructor. Mrs. Tettleton also joined the faculty as dietitian and instructor in dietetics.

Stark-Verrett Vows Exchanged In Greenville

Of interest throughout this area of the state is the marriage of Ruth Stark, of Bastrop, and James Verrett, of Monroe, who exchanged their nuptial vows in Greenville, Miss.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shamblin of Monroe, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. Gabriel Verrett and the late Mrs. Verrett of West Monroe.

Following their wedding, an informal reception was given in the late afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Shamblin and their daughter, Miss LaDora Shamblin, at their home in Edgewater Gardens. Mrs. Shamblin wore navy crepe with pink faille trim, and Miss Shamblin chose a black faille suit with which she wore a green nylon blouse.

Attractive arrangements of flowers in varied autumn hues were placed at vantage points throughout the reception rooms.

Mrs. Carl Addison served punch from a large crystal bowl, and Miss LaDora Shamblin presided at the coffee service. Crystal containers held open-faced sandwiches and small cakes. Assisting in serving were Miss Dolores Jean Stark and Miss Mary Ramona Potter.

MISS SUE OWENS' engagement and approaching marriage to Kyle Hairston, son of Mrs. Lora Hairston and the late J. G. Hairston, of Crossett, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Owens, also of Crossett. The wedding will take place in the Temple Baptist Church of that city at 7 o'clock, December 30.

How To Clean Your Jewelry

One Hollywood movie starlet Peggy Castle washes her costume jewelry in tepid soapy water with a soft eyebrow brush or a cotton tipped stick. Oxidized silver jewelry is washed with a thick solution of baking soda and water, rinsed and patted dry with a towel.

Use your sterling silver every day for true beauty and sheen. Keep your holloware where it may be seen. Silver dishes, pitchers, trays, candlesticks, tea and coffee services are lovely to look at. Use a mild silver cleaner, cream or liquid, rubbing each piece lengthwise using a soft cloth. Wash in hot water, rinse and dry. The sterling silver information bureau claims that liquid dips and other chemical solutions sometimes remove oxidation as well as tarnish. Oxide is usually applied to accent the beauty of sculptured sterling, achieving lights and shadows. If it is destroyed the depth of the design is likely to be blurred and the pattern marred, they say.

Table Decor Can Be Eaten

NEW YORK — Use fruits and autumn vegetables to make a holiday centerpiece the guests can eat as well as admire.

Here are some suggestions:

Or, select a wide, sprawling basket or basket tray. Arrange golden gourds in the center. Add a cluster of grapes on the leaves at one end; at the other end, a few polished apples, blue plums and late pears. Garnish any blank spaces with walnuts, pecans and almonds, cracked but left in their shells.

When apples are part of a centerpiece, it's a good idea to pass a tray of cheese with the coffee. Provide small fruit plates and fruit knives. The combination makes a fine finish for any holiday dinner, even after the mince pie.

Collection Of Buttons

BELLE PLAINE, Iowa — Each button sewed to a piece of dusty rose velvet in a tree design has a story connected with it, says 65-year-old Mrs. Emma Zabodsky Kosta.

She has more than 5,000 buttons, many of them antiques brought to this country by immigrants from Czechoslovakia, Belgium, France and England.

Mrs. Kosta said her collection includes three buttons given her many years ago by a friend. They were bought for a wedding dress and cost 20 cents each.

MRS. HAROLD B. LOFTON

Lofton-Quail Vows Pledged

WITH CUT — MRS. HAROLD B. LOFTON

The wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Quail, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Wells of Hinsdale, and Staff Sgt. Thomas J. Quail of Ft. Eustis, Va., to Harold B. Lofton, engineman, third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Lofton of West Monroe, La., took place Saturday, Nov. 12.

The Rev. George F. Davis of Christ Church, Hinsdale, performed the 2 o'clock ceremony in Trinity Methodist Church. Mrs. Myron Love sang.

Escorted by her brother, Charles H. Carver, the bride had her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carver, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were two sisters of the bride, the Misses Rosemary and Marcia Quail, of Hinsdale. Bonnie Jean Quail, another sister, was flower girl.

Norman Lawson, USN, the bride's cousin, was best man. Her brother, Thomas J. Quail Jr., of Thompsonville, Conn., and William A. Cullett Jr., of Peru, another cousin, ushered.

Mrs. Carver was dressed in an aqua net over satin ballerina gown and a headband of crimson feathered carnations. Her Colonial bouquet was of crimson carnations. The bridemaids wore pink and blue net and lace over taffeta gowns and headbands of feathered carnations to match their bouquets of pink and blue carnations. The flower girl's gown was of orchid net and lace over taffeta. Her headpiece and Colonial bouquet were of yellow flowers.

Holiday Time-Saver

MADISON, Wis. — If you mix your own holiday cakes and cookies, take a tip from industry and go at it in a big way.

Flora Hanning, University of Wisconsin home economist, said you will save up to three - fourths of the preparation time in assembling equipment, ingredients, sifting and measuring by making the mix for as many as six cakes at one time and storing what you don't need immediately.

She recommended making a "master mix" of flour, salt, baking powder and fat, which will be read for cookies, cakes, puddings or quick breads. All that is needed is addition of the required liquids, and they are ready to bake.

The mix not being used immediately should be stored in a tight container in a cool, dry place. If you use regular lard instead of hydrogenated fat such as solid vegetable shortening, keep the mix in the refrigerator.

Portable Carpeting

NEW YORK — One authority says if there is a new floor covering in your redecorating plans, better make it a portable one.

Edward Fields, a custom carpet and rug manufacturer, said area rugs are a better buy than wall-to-wall coverings. Fields, writing in Retailing Daily, said it is "prohibitively expensive" to take up wall-to-wall carpeting for cleaning in a plant. Yet, he added, cleaners have not found a satisfactory way to clean carpets on the floor. Some detergent remains, he said, attracting additional dirt rapidly and wearing the carpet faster. Fields said area rugs have another advantage — they can be turned to lessen the wear on the traffic areas and thereby prolong the overall life of the covering.

Duo-Pianists To Appear Dec. 5

WINNSBORO, Nov. 26 (Special) —Melvin Stechner and Norman Horowitz, young American duo-pianists, will appear in Winnsboro December 5 on a program presented by the Franklin Parish Concert Association.

The duo-piano team has appeared throughout the United States and Canada. Last season they were presented in a program at Radio City Music Hall. During their appearance at the music hall the team completed 84 performances.

Slow Cooking Rule For Pork

WASHINGTON — The department of agriculture, suggesting that the nation's cooks take advantage of the good buys in pork, has come up with some tips on proper cooking of this plentiful meat.

First rule: pork should be thoroughly done. But the department said this does not mean pork should be overcooked, or cooked at such high heat the meat is dry and hard. Low cooking temperatures are suggested. Pork is done when all traces of pink color have disappeared. The department said one way to check for done-ness is to insert a fork deep in the thickest part of the meat and make sure the juice it draws out has no trace of pink.

For roasting, an oven temperature of 325 degrees is recommended. Place the roast in an uncovered shallow pan, fat side up for self basting, and cook without water. Season either before or after cooking.

How To Clean Your Jewelry

One Hollywood movie starlet Peggy Castle washes her costume jewelry in tepid soapy water with a soft eyebrow brush or a cotton tipped stick. Oxidized silver jewelry is washed with a thick solution of baking soda and water, rinsed and patted dry with a towel.

Use your sterling silver every day for true beauty and sheen. Keep your holloware where it may be seen. Silver dishes, pitchers, trays, candlesticks, tea and coffee services are lovely to look at. Use a mild silver cleaner, cream or liquid, rubbing each piece lengthwise using a soft cloth. Wash in hot water, rinse and dry. The sterling silver information bureau claims that liquid dips and other chemical solutions sometimes remove oxidation as well as tarnish. Oxide is usually applied to accent the beauty of sculptured sterling, achieving lights and shadows. If it is destroyed the depth of the design is likely to be blurred and the pattern marred, they say.

Humus Helps Soil Hold Moisture

The violets are beginning to bloom, if you gave them good care last August. The flower arrangers say before tying these in bunches for your arrangements and corsages, submerge them in water over night upside down. The blossoms will stay fresh much longer. Violets seem to take water through their blooms.

GARDEN JOBS

If you have a fig tree, a good mulch of leaves or grass clippings is excellent for protecting the shallow roots. Pile the mulch about six inches from the trunk of the tree and extend this mulch slightly beyond the ends of the branches of the tree. Let's hope we have figs this next summer. Somebody said yesterday they couldn't remember the taste of fig preserves.

The soil is very dry on Tuesday when I'm writing this. If we should have a freeze this would cause dehydration of your plants. It's easy to drift into no watering when winter comes, but believe me the hose shouldn't be put away yet (unless it's rained since Tuesday.)

This is an excellent month to root ivy, and you don't need to cut the vine in such small pieces. I find the ten inch lengths root as well as the short ones.

COMPOST

I'm sure the compost is well decayed now and ready to be worked in beds. Every growing thing needs this humus or decayed vegetable matter. Humus does so many things for the soil. There are so many "creatures" like the earthworms that constantly need to be replenished. Humus has these creatures. That's why we talk so much about the compost heap. Plants use humus all the time, so there's never a time we can relax on that garden chore.

Humus helps the soil to hold moisture in time of drouth. It helps to drain excess water in times of torrential rains and it gives the soil an acid reaction. Even plants such as bulbs that like alkaline soil need some compost.

'JES TALKING

Haven't the susanquas been beautiful this year? There are so many new varieties. Ask your nurseryman about these. If they never bloomed, susanquas make a beautiful screen planting.

W. D. Kimbrough and R. H. Hanchey say the reason some bulbs do not produce blooms the first year is that they are so susceptable to basal rot. This is caused by a fusarium, but it is encouraged by planting bulbs with a big air pocket at the base. Of course that means thorough preparation of soil before planting and not just digging a hole and putting the bulb down in this. Some sand mixed in the soil with bulbs is always good.

Orchids to Julia

Last summer a lovely young lady, Julia Anne Wooley, gave freely of her time and talents and demonstrated how to make a doll house on "Open House". Just a simple thing made of two apple crates. Julia cut stencils and ran patterns for doll furniture for the house. We sent those out by the thousands.

Julia will never know the joy she has given so many Teachers, Scout Leaders, Sunday School Teachers, Boys and girls, large and small called for the patterns. Many are still calling, but we have exhausted our supply and just do not have the time to make more. Thanks to Julia for this project.

FOOD NEWS

Apples and cranberries are two fruits that are available at very attractive prices for late-fall meals. Grapes and grapefruit supplies are coming in from out of state markets. Oranges, bananas, winter pears, lemons are in plentiful supply also, along with some pomegranates.

Broiler — fryers are still at rock bottom prices. Some good beef buys are: ground beef, liver, round, cube and sirloin steaks and chuck roasts. Pork is still very very reasonably priced. Breakfast bacon, sausage, picnics, pork chops, and hams are good values. Veal prices have not changed much during the fall.

There are plenty of Louisiana Yams. Follow J. J. Joyce's suggestion of sending a crate of these yams or packages for Christmas presents. Irish potatoes are plentiful enough to satisfy every appetite. A potato a day is a mighty good rule and a mighty good buy. Lettuce, Cauliflower, celery, carrots, turnips and greens are in the markets for you, Mrs. House Wife.

If your husband is grouchy, maybe he needs more orange juice for Vitamin C. When you look for oranges watch for those that are firm, heavy for size and have fine textured skin for the variety. Oranges with a slight greenish tinge may be just as ripe as fully colored ones. Store oranges at home in a dry room temperature, not above 70 degrees; preferably in the refrigerator.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your open house programs for next week are as follows: Monday, Peggy Ann Callari from Lake Providence will bring you 4—H Highlights; Tuesday will be an hour long show of a wedding from engagement, through the wedding and reception; Wednesday, Mary Margaret will bring you the three blue ribbon flower arrangements and Mrs. Malcolm Hood will give you more of her beautiful arrangements. ## Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Wisner Presents All Blue Ribbon Show

Mrs. H. A. Cruce was awarded first place in the arrangement section. Her color scheme shading from pale lavender to deep purple, Mrs. Cruce used a gilded fisherman's creel for a container, in which she created a dramatic arrangement. Sago palm was used for height, and line followed by pale lavender chrysanthemums, shading into deeper and larger purple chrysanthemums. A cluster of deep purple grapes was brought down the front of the basket emphasizing the unusual zig-zag line. Airy baby's breath was used in the background of the flowers. The color harmony most pleasing. Second place was awarded to Mrs. E. B. Knotts. A round chartreuse bowl set on a teakwood base was used for the line-mass arrangement of small white chrysanthemums. A diagonal line of very light orange - red chrysanthemums brought down the center emphasized the design. Loquat leaves were effectively placed in the background. Mrs. R. A. Brown was awarded third place. The container was a pumpkin (lined with a container to hold water). Mrs. Brown created a beautiful crescent arrangement in pale yellow shading into bronze. Corn tassels formed the crescent line, which was embellished with chrysanthemums shading from pale yellow into deep bronze. The arrangement was set on a free form brown base. In the horticulture section, Mrs. Asa Kiper carried away the honors with three blue ribbons as follows: purple pansies, purple daisy chrysanthemums and white spoon chrysanthemums. Doesn't time get away in a hurry? Here we are celebrating our bounteous feast of Thanksgiving and Christmas is only a month away. Our exhibitors this coming week is the Daffodil Garden Club of Wisner. Their year book is lovely. A soft green cover with a large yellow daffodil hand painted thereon.

Incidentally the daffodil is the symbol or flower of the Federated Garden Clubs of the Fifth District. The Home Grdeners Club of Ouachita parish has chosen a bright clear yellow for their book cover. The design is a beautiful iris with a dragon-fly hovering over it. It is most interesting to see the progress the garden clubs are making with their balanced programs—divided between landscaping, gardening, and arranging. Mrs. Aline Bannister is president of this club. Mrs. Bannister is also Fifth District Chairman of the state wide "Litterbug Campaign." It is our earnest hope that each club president in the district will urge all members to cooperate fully with Mrs. Bannister in making our district the cleanest and most beautiful in the state. Dates to remember: Marie Hood will design some more arrangement on television next Wednesday at 1 p.m. Mrs. Hugh Sutherland of Bethany Plantation will give a demonstration of Christmas Arrangements on December 9th at 2 p.m. Sponsored by the Jonesboro-Hodge Garden Club, the meeting will be at the Methodist Church in Jonesboro. The lecture is open to the public for a nominal fee. If you missed Mrs. Sutherland in Monroe be sure to attend this lecture. Its time now to plant those tulips you have been cooling off. California poppies planted in among your bulbs will make a bright spot of color while the bulb foliage is ripening. Plant your larkspur and cornflowers now too, so they will bloom early in the spring.

Passman Slates Four District Talks Next Week

Today marks the beginning of another busy "down home" between - sessions week for Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman. His Monroe office said his calendar from today through Friday included, in addition to a heavy office schedule of Congressional work, four speaking engagements within the district and participation in two important statewide meetings at New Orleans.

Passman is to open the current week with a talk tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock, at the Delhi First Methodist church. He is to address the Monroe - West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday noon, and Tuesday is to participate in a soil conservation tour and speak briefly at the annual meeting and barbecue of the boards of supervisors of the Boeuf River, Tensas - Concordia, Northeast and the East Carroll - Madison Soil Conservation districts. # Humus Helps Soil Hold Moisture

The violets are beginning to bloom, if you gave them good care last August. The flower arrangers say before tying these in bunches for your arrangements and corsages, submerge them in water over night upside down. The blossoms will stay fresh much longer. Violets seem to take water through their blooms.

GARDEN JOBS

If you have a fig tree, a good mulch of leaves or grass clippings is excellent for protecting the shallow roots. Pile the mulch about six inches from the trunk of the tree and extend this mulch slightly beyond the ends of the branches of the tree. Let's hope we have figs this next summer. Somebody said yesterday they couldn't remember the taste of fig preserves.

The soil is very dry on Tuesday when I'm writing this. If we should have a freeze this would cause dehydration of your plants. It's easy to drift into no watering when winter comes, but believe me the hose shouldn't be put away yet (unless it's rained since Tuesday.)

This is an excellent month to root ivy, and you don't need to cut the vine in such small pieces. I find the ten inch lengths root as well as the short ones.

COMPOST

I'm sure the compost is well decayed now and ready to be worked in beds. Every growing thing needs this humus or decayed vegetable matter. Humus does so many things for the soil. There are so many "creatures" like the earthworms that constantly need to be replenished. Humus has these creatures. That's why we talk so much about the compost heap. Plants use humus all the time, so there's never a time we can relax on that garden chore.

Humus helps the soil to hold moisture in time of drouth. It helps to drain excess water in times of torrential rains and it gives the soil an acid reaction. Even plants such as bulbs that like alkaline soil need some compost.

'JES TALKING

Haven't the susanquas been beautiful this year? There are so many new varieties. Ask your nurseryman about these. If they never bloomed, susanquas make a beautiful screen planting.

W. D. Kimbrough and R. H. Hanchey say the reason some bulbs do not produce blooms the first year is that they are so susceptable to basal rot. This is caused by a fusarium, but it is encouraged by planting bulbs with a big air pocket at the base. Of course that means thorough preparation of soil before planting and not just digging a hole and putting the bulb down in this. Some sand mixed in the soil with bulbs is always good.

Orchids to Julia

Last summer a lovely young lady, Julia Anne Wooley, gave freely of her time and talents and demonstrated how to make a doll house on "Open House". Just a simple thing made of two apple crates. Julia cut stencils and ran patterns for doll furniture for the house. We sent those out by the thousands.

Julia will never know the joy she has given so many Teachers, Scout Leaders, Sunday School Teachers. Boys and girls, large and small called for the patterns. Many are still calling, but we have exhausted our supply and just do not have the time to make more. Thanks to Julia for this project.

FOOD NEWS

Apples and cranberries are two fruits that are available at very attractive prices for late-fall meals. Grapes and grapefruit supplies are coming in from out of state markets. Oranges, bananas, winter pears, lemons are in plentiful supply also, along with some pomegranates.

Broiler — fryers are still at rock bottom prices. Some good beef buys are: ground beef, liver, round, cube and sirloin steaks and chuck roasts. Pork is still very very reasonably priced. Breakfast bacon, sausage, picnics, pork chops, and hams are good values. Veal prices have not changed much during the fall.

There are plenty of Louisiana Yams. Follow J. J. Joyce's suggestion of sending a crate of these yams or packages for Christmas presents. Irish potatoes are plentiful enough to satisfy every appetite. A potato a day is a mighty good rule and a mighty good buy. Lettuce, Cauliflower, celery, carrots, turnips and greens are in the markets for you, Mrs. House Wife.

If your husband is grouchy, maybe he needs more orange juice for Vitamin C. When you look for oranges watch for those that are firm, heavy for size and have fine textured skin for the variety. Oranges with a slight greenish tinge may be just as ripe as fully colored ones. Store oranges at home in a dry room temperature, not above 70 degrees; preferably in the refrigerator.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Wisner Presents All Blue Ribbon Show

Mrs. H. A. Cruce was awarded first place in the arrangement section. Her color scheme shading from pale lavender to deep purple, Mrs. Cruce used a gilded fisherman's creel for a container, in which she created a dramatic arrangement. Sago palm was used for height, and line followed by pale lavender chrysanthemums, shading into deeper and larger purple chrysanthemums. A cluster of deep purple grapes was brought down the front of the basket emphasizing the unusual zig-zag line. Airy baby's breath was used in the background of the flowers. The color harmony most pleasing. Second place was awarded to Mrs. E. B. Knotts. A round chartreuse bowl set on a teakwood base was used for the line-mass arrangement of small white chrysanthemums. A diagonal line of very light orange - red chrysanthemums brought down the center emphasized the design. Loquat leaves were effectively placed in the background. Mrs. R. A. Brown was awarded third place. The container was a pumpkin (lined with a container to hold water). Mrs. Brown created a beautiful crescent arrangement in pale yellow shading into bronze. Corn tassels formed the crescent line, which was embellished with chrysanthemums shading from pale yellow into deep bronze. The arrangement was set on a free form brown base. In the horticulture section, Mrs. Asa Kiper carried away the honors with three blue ribbons as follows: purple pansies, purple daisy chrysanthemums and white spoon chrysanthemums. Doesn't time get away in a hurry? Here we are celebrating our bounteous feast of Thanksgiving and Christmas is only a month away. Our exhibitors this coming week is the Daffodil Garden Club of Wisner. Their year book is lovely. A soft green cover with a large yellow daffodil hand painted thereon.

Incidentally the daffodil is the symbol or flower of the Federated Garden Clubs of the Fifth District. The Home Grdeners Club of Ouachita parish has chosen a bright clear yellow for their book cover. The design is a beautiful iris with a dragon-fly hovering over it. It is most interesting to see the progress the garden clubs are making with their balanced programs—divided between landscaping, gardening, and arranging. Mrs. Aline Bannister is president of this club. Mrs. Bannister is also Fifth District Chairman of the state wide "Litterbug Campaign." It is our earnest hope that each club president in the district will urge all members to cooperate fully with Mrs. Bannister in making our district the cleanest and most beautiful in the state. Dates to remember: Marie Hood will design some more arrangement on television next Wednesday at 1 p.m. Mrs. Hugh Sutherland of Bethany Plantation will give a demonstration of Christmas Arrangements on December 9th at 2 p.m. Sponsored by the Jonesboro-Hodge Garden Club, the meeting will be at the Methodist Church in Jonesboro. The lecture is open to the public for a nominal fee. If you missed Mrs. Sutherland in Monroe be sure to attend this lecture. Its time now to plant those tulips you have been cooling off. California poppies planted in among your bulbs will make a bright spot of color while the bulb foliage is ripening. Plant your larkspur and cornflowers now too, so they will bloom early in the spring.

The committee reported that gifts and cookies were needed for the 468 patients at the hospital and that names of donors should be attached to the gift. Packages will be wrapped at the Red Cross office on the morning of Dec. 3.

Gill said that the committee hoped many individuals of the Twin Cities would drive to Alexandria for the party, visit the patients and assist with passing out gifts to patients too ill to attend the variety show.

Pete McCausland will present a variety show of local talent for all patients who are able to come to the auditorium.

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP)—A Church of England publication says the church "is bypassing one of its most imperative tasks" if it fails to give Christian guidance on problems involving sex.

The publication, a report by the Rev. W. P. Wylie on the work of the church Moral Welfare Board, was issued yesterday.

It warned that "it is of no use for the church to play ostrich" in regard to sex.

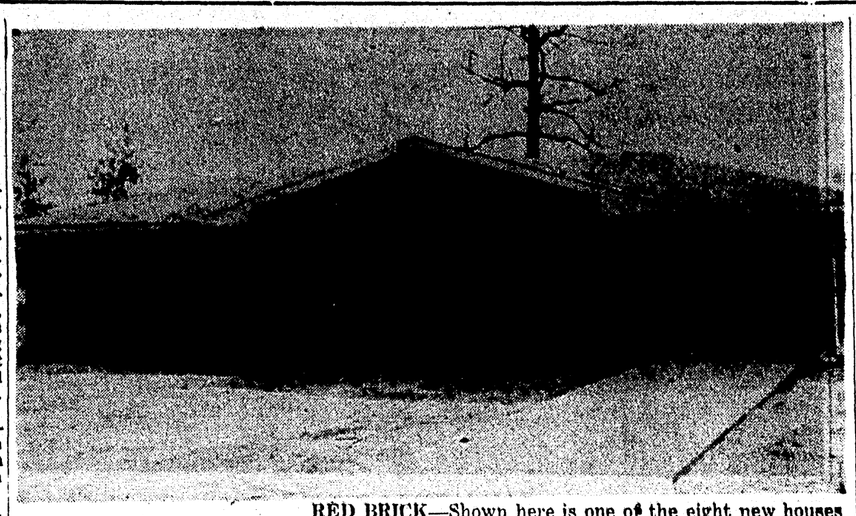
PRINCETON, Ill. — Josephine Klinger won a divorce from her household items except one. Judge Louis A. Zearing ruled that Klinger could keep the television set.



RED BRICK—Shown here is one of the eight new houses which have been constructed in a new subdivision in West Monroe off Warren Drive, where 52 more houses are scheduled to be built within a year. Made of red brick, with pine paneling in the carport, the house has three bedrooms and two baths. It sells for $14,500. Maurice Gross is owner of the land, and contractor for the houses. (Staff photo by John Oldenburg.)

Gross To Show Modern Homes In West Monroe

Residents of the Twin City area today at 2 p.m. will have a chance to get their first formal view at a new subdivision in West Monroe which is expected to have 60 houses — costing more than $720,000 — constructed within a year's time.

According to Gross, the houses are FHA approved and are restricted, none of them costing less than $12,000, none with less than three bedrooms, and all strictly residential.

The houses are of brick veneer, with single or double carports, and with one or two baths. Gross said he is using a different type stone, which has 10 shades of color and which comes in different widths.

He has 20 individual plans, with three elevations on each, giving a total of 60 different plans. The houses will be customized to suit the owner's wants.

Major equipment for cooking and cleaning has already been installed in the eight houses, all but one of which have been sold.

Gross said the houses can be purchased through FHA, veteran, and conventional loans.

Since the subdivision is inside the city limits, they will be supplied with city water at city rates, he said.

The home freezer is a little like a bank account — a record of deposits and withdrawals should be kept at all times.

ROBERT W. IRBY

Irby Candidate For Re-Election

In asking for re-election as one of three police jurors from ward three, Robert W. Irby said he had voted and supported measures best for ward three and the parish as a whole.

Irby said that he would maintain the pledge he made four years ago for "more action and few promises."

He is an active member of the First Methodist church and the official board. He is also a member of the Masonic order.

Irby listed some of the accomplishments made in the past four years as ten miles of black topping in ward three, several miles of drainage, and breaking of ground for a parish detention home on the Milhaven road.

Annual Party To Be Held Dec. 4 For Ill Veterans

The eighth annual Christmas party for patients in the Alexandria Veterans' Hospital will be held December 4 under the sponsorship of clubs, organizations and individuals of the Twin Cities.

H. H. Hudson, chapter chairman of the local Red Cross, said that the Red Cross would serve as the coordinator for the event.

The committee reported that gifts and cookies were needed for the 468 patients at the hospital and that names of donors should be attached to the gift. Packages will be wrapped at the Red Cross office on the morning of Dec. 3.

Gill said that the committee hoped many individuals of the Twin Cities would drive to Alexandria for the party, visit the patients and assist with passing out gifts to patients too ill to attend the variety show.

Pete McCausland will present a variety show of local talent for all patients who are able to come to the auditorium.

Church Members To "Take The Pledge"

ABILENE, Tex. Nov. 26 (AP) —A resolution opposing "both the advertising and sale of intoxicating drinks in any from" was adopted by the Texas Baptist Training Union last night.

The resolution, offered by the Rev. Jack Merritt of Vernon, urged Baptist churches to set aside a special Sunday when "members are asked to sign commitments and pledges indicating they will abstrain from drinking alcoholic beverages in any form."

3 Naval Reserve Members Promoted

Three members of the United States naval reserve electronics group at Selman Field in Monroe have recently received promotions, it was announced yesterday.

The three are L. C. Ticheli, from seaman recruit to seaman apprentice; H. P. Stewart, from enginman third to engineman second; and F. E. Lindsey, from boiler tender repairman third to second.

It was also announced yesterday that Seaman H. G. Little has transferred here from Laurel, Miss., and that Clyde Duchense, Jr., has joined the group after returning from active duty. Little lives at 300 Virginia Avenue, Monroe, and Duchense at 184 Winnsboro Road.

Kitchen arithmetic: a cup of medium white sauce will be enough for a seven-ounce can of tuna when you are planning to serve the fish creamed.

RED BRICK—Shown here is one of the eight new houses which have been constructed in a new subdivision in West Monroe off Warren Drive, where 52 more houses are scheduled to be built within a year. Made of red brick, with pine paneling in the carport, the house has three bedrooms and two baths. It sells for $14,500. Maurice Gross is owner of the land, and contractor for the houses. ## Gross To Show Modern Homes In West Monroe

Residents of the Twin City area today at 2 p.m. will have a chance to get their first formal view at a new subdivision in West Monroe which is expected to have 60 houses — costing more than $720,000 — constructed within a year's time.

Eight of the houses, which can be seen today, have already been constructed.

Maurice Gross is both owner of the land and contractor for the construction work. The subdivision is located off Warren Drive inside the city limits.

According to Gross, the houses are FHA approved and are restricted, none of them costing less than $12,000, none with less than three bedrooms, and all strictly residential.

The houses are of brick veneer, with single or double carports, and with one or two baths. Gross said he is using a different type stone, which has 10 shades of color and which comes in different widths.

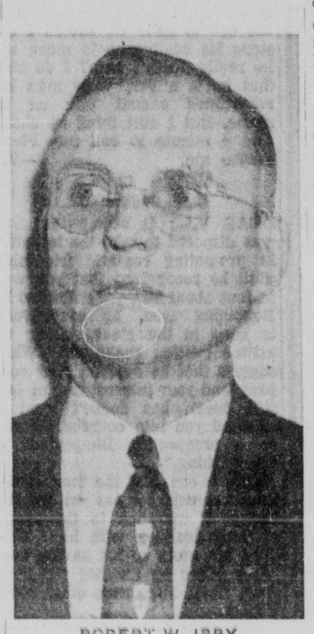
He has 20 individual plans, with three elevations on each, giving a total of 60 different plans. The houses will be customized to suit the owner's wants.

Major equipment for cooking and cleaning has already been installed in the eight houses, all but one of which have been sold.

Gross said the houses can be purchased through FHA, veteran, and conventional loans.

Since the subdivision is inside the city limits, they will be supplied with city water at city rates, he said.

The home freezer is a little like a bank account — a record of deposits and withdrawals should be kept at all times.



ROBERT W. IRBY

Irby Candidate For Re-Election

In asking for re-election as one of three police jurors from ward three, Robert W. Irby said he had voted and supported measures best for ward three and the parish as a whole.

Irby said that he would maintain the pledge he made four years ago for "more action and few promises."

He is an active member of the First Methodist church and the official board. He is also a member of the Masonic order.

Irby listed some of the accomplishments made in the past four years as ten miles of black topping in ward three, several miles of drainage, and breaking of ground for a parish detention home on the Milhaven road.

Woman Released On Heavy Bond In Dope Arrest

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP) — Police released Mrs. Teresa Crain, wife of a Bogalusa, La., physician, on $10,000 bond today after she was charged with violating state narcotics laws by forging prescriptions.

Mrs. Crain was arrested by state police at her Bogalusa home yesterday and booked on the charge and jailed here.

Maj. John A. De Armond said the woman was accused of forging her husband's signature on 160 prescription blanks.

She used the blanks, he said, to obtain 7,800 half-grain tablets of codeine and 1,771 ampules of demoral from drug stores between Bogalusa and New Orleans.

WEDDING BELLS

SANTA MONICA, Calif, Nov. 26 (AP)—Wednesday bells ring today for actress Jacqueline Beer, 23, former Miss France and a runnerup in the 1954 Miss Universe contest.

Miss Beer and accountant Jean Antoine Garcia Roady, 28, obtained a marriage license yesterday. They met six months ago.

Education Urged By Church Publication

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP)—A Church of England publication says the church "is bypassing one of its most imperative tasks" if it fails to give Christian guidance on problems involving sex.

The publication, a report by the Rev. W. P. Wylie on the work of the church Moral Welfare Board, was issued yesterday.

It warned that "it is of no use for the church to play ostrich" in regard to sex.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Girl Loves Elusive Man Who Expects Her To Telephone Him For Dates, It Seems

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am in love with a man who has, I think, the potentialities of being a great guy. We met through a mutual friend who told me that Sam (I'll call him) had a very unhappy experience with a girl a few years back, which evidently left scars, because subsequently he hasn't dated very much.

I was also warned that unless he took an immediate liking to me, I probably wouldn't see him ever again. Well, we met and had a wonderful evening together; and I did see him again, quite a few times.

When we had known each other about two months, we met one day and he said that I should call him later in the week. I don't recall the reason he gave; but anyway, I did call him, and since then, whenever we've made a date, it seems it was me doing the calling.

Is He Really Indifferent?

Recently I was away for a lengthy vacation and on getting back I telephoned Sam just to say "hello." He was delighted to hear from me and insisted that we meet.

My problem is that much as I want to be with him, I don't want to be the one to call. How can I make him see that he should be the one to call? Or should I construe his negligence to mean that he really doesn't care? I do know that he is a very busy man and sometimes cannot talk on the phone. But I still think he should find a minute to call me. Please advise me. —V.L.

Various Clues Are Suggested

DEAR V.L.: It seems that Sam was disposed to take the initiative, in promoting romatic friendship, until he recognized that you were serious about him—or willing to be. Beginning then, he maneuvered to keep in the clear, taking the attitude: "You chase me." Which suggsts that he enjoyed your company and your interest in him (and still does), but doesn't want to mislead you into counting on him as a prospective life-partner or "sure thing."

That is one, and the most likely, interpretation to put on his behavior—if we stick to the record of your dealings with him. However, the story of his having been badly jolted by another girl some years back, introduces other possibilities.

If there is factual foundation for the story, if his trust was betrayed, it could be that he is unconsciously vengeful towards womankind nowadays—paying just enough court, when attracted, to get a girl's heart ensnared; then backing off, leaving her in suspense, with her pride on the rack. And doing this not knowing why—but actually to salve his morbidly wounded ego.

Or it may be that he is unconsciously afraid of another kick in the teeth, in the event he were to drift again into a pattern of really caring. And that he seeks to prevent such mischance, by warily refraining from giving pursuit, as mutual interest quickens. He may think it is shrewd precaution on his part, to beware of becoming a slave to habit, in calling a girl—lest the relationship end abruptly (and ignominiously for him); and catch him without other social resources, in emergency.

A Specialist In Frustration?

There is, of course, a third possibility: namely, that Sam engineered his defeat with the girl in the story; and that she was the victim of his inner conflicts, rather more than he was "done wrong" by her. It may be that he is a problem to himself, and that he projects his distortions into his attempted relationship, and pillories others, figuratively, for his own mistakes and failures.

As regards your problem with Sam, my advice is, either call him when you feel so moved, or cross him off your list. In my opinion, there's little use trying to influence him into a manful course of action that he doesn't take to naturally. —M.H.

HOLIDAY HILL STONE, a new vari-colored building material, was used for the exterior of this house in a new subdivision which formally opens at 2 p.m. today in West Monroe, off Warren Drive. Costing $13,750, the house has a two-car carport in pine paneling, three bedrooms, a bath, and its color—green—is guaranteed for a lifetime. The subdivision is being developed by Maurice Gross. ## Reports Indicate Suit Settlement

VIDALIA, Nov. 26 (Special)—A law suit between Hall W. Wilson, Natchez plantation owner and former postmaster, and the California Company and Carter Oil Company, involving in excess of a quarter of a million dollars may be settled if the Concordia parish police jury signs a resolution stating that they have no claim to the minerals under a highway, but only to the use of the highway as such.

The resolution was presented to the police jury recently by Nathan Calhoun, Vidalia attorney, who stated that the oil companies had agreed to make payment of royalties to Wilson for oil beneath the state highway on Ravenswood plantation in the Lake St. John area. The highway department and the police jury would not make claim to mineral rights, Calhoun said. The highway department had already signed a resolution foregoing any claims.

The lawsuit involves an unusual point. The highway in question was once a parish road, and the point involved is whether the public organizations are entitled to mineral rights beneath the highway or only to use of the highway.

The police jury agreed to submit the resolution to D. W. Gibson, of Harrisonburg, district attorney, for study.

Four Women Are Killed In Crash At Sweetwater

SWEETWATER, Tenn. Nov. 26 (AP)—Four Sweetwater women wrere killed today when their automobile was hit by a Knoxville-bound freight train at a crossing here.

Police Chief Walter Thomas listed the four victims as Mrs. William Albert Frye, 33; Mrs. Raymond Queen, 25; Mrs. Vera Chastain Hayes, 45; and Mrs. Dorothy O. Swafford, 23.

He said the four women had just finished working the night shift at a textile mill and were en route home.

Thomas said apparently the windshield of the automobile was covered with frost, hampering the visibility of the driver, Mrs. Hayes.

The bidding:

South, 1 spade; West, Pass; North, 2 hearts; East, Pass; South, 2 spades; West, Pass; North 4 spades; East, Pass; South, Pass; West, Pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

After North and South had reached a contract of four spades on values which had been stretched to the breaking point, declarer had to duck his way through two suits in order to bring home the game.

After South's rebid of two spades, North might have been content with a raise to only three, inasmuch as his hand in support of that suit was worth only 11 points. But he chose to go all the way himself.

West led the king of diamonds which was permitted to hold as East played the discouraging deuce. West's natural shift was to the nine of clubs, and again declarer ducked. East took the trick with the queen, and returned the ten of diamonds, which was taken with the ace.

The contract was now secure, irrespective of West's action. If West overruffed and led a club declarer would win with the ace, ruff one more heart in his hand to establish a "thirteener" and cross to dummy by ruffing the diamond, discarding the losing club on the seven of hearts.

If West refused to overruff, declarer would simply ruff the losing diamond, establish the fifth heart and retain the ace of clubs for entry to the dummy.

Observe that if declarer takes the first round of either diamonds or clubs he cannot win the hand, for he will be unable to maintain continual contact with the dummy.

Why Grow Old?

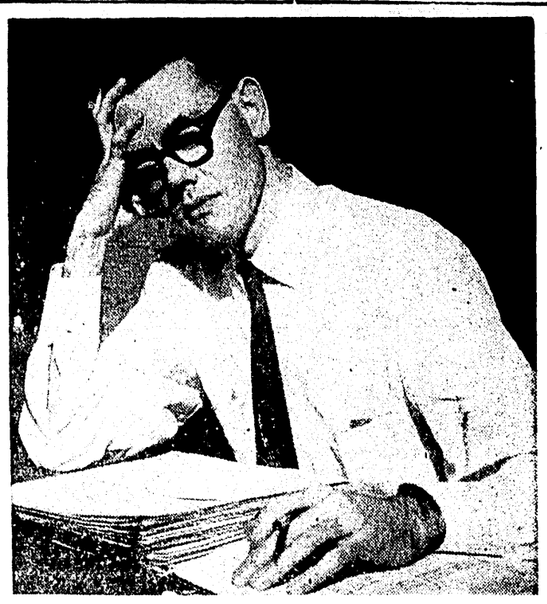
By Josephine Lowman



This man is not likely to live as long as his mate. One reason may be because he is under greater stress since he is responsible for the financial background for his family.

Women The Weaker Sex? 'No' According To Figures

In the past, woman was thought to be the weaker sex. Actually, in the light of present day statistics and knowledge, just the opposite seems to be true.

The life expectancy of men is many years less than that of women and it seems that more men than women are ill. Hospital figures gathered by the American Medical Association show that regardless of the fact that one-sixth of all persons admitted to hospitals in one year were pregnant women, there were more men than women hospitalized. Even between the ages of 15 and 44, the usual child bearing age, 15,000 more men than women were in hospitals.

Theories

Many theories have been advanced as the reason for this. One of the most prevalent ones is that men live under greater stress because they are responsible for the financial background of their families.

Men go out and battle the world in order to wrest from it adequate food, shelter and clothing for their wives and children and also struggle to give them some of the luxuries and advantages of life.

It is true that the little lady struggles in her own home and often contributes to the family income, but psychologically the obligations and responsibilities are the man's possible. They must also look to their pots and pans for better nutrition for the male.

The data concerning overweight is irrefutable. For this reason this week I offer my Tubby Hubby Diet which will bring a loss of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days.

If you would like to have it for your husband send ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Beauty Boosts Health

This has boomeranged in a way, on the men. Because what you do for beauty boosts your health. In their desire to remain or become lovely women have exercised, counted calories, and been conscious of good nutrition, even if they did so for no other reason than an attractive figure and a good complexion.

This week I dedicate to men. If men wish to live well and long they must begin taking care of themselves, and their women must help by making the home an ossai and he may therefore feel the strain more drastically.

Also, many psychologists feel that women are more adaptable than men, are better able to meet changing circumstance with less wear and tear. They seem to stand pain and change with a more optimistic and a sturdier attitude.

I myself have a theory and it is this: In the past, men have been less health conscious. In a way they have imposed a penalty upon themselves by demanding or wishing for physical attractiveness in their women while they themselves have promoted the idea that how they looked really did not matter so long as they brought home the bacon.

Next time you prepare a beef and vegetable soup, tie a teaspoon of whole peppers in a piece of cheesecloth and add. Remove the peppercorns before serving.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

THE CHIPMUNK LOSES HIS ACORN DINNER

The chipmunk, a lively little fellow often called a ground squirrel, has dark markings on each side of his brown and gray body.

He lives in a burrow with several tunnels leading from it to the surface of the ground above. During the winter he stays in it and eats the nuts and small fruits he has collected.

Fold back along the top of the wall. Fold forward on the second dotted line and press up against the background. Now the acorns will disappear and the chipmunk will wonder what happened to them. You can find them for him by opening out the picture.

The bidding:

South, 1 spade; West, Pass; North, 2 hearts; East, Pass; South, 2 spades; West, Pass; North 4 spades; East, Pass; South, Pass; West, Pass.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

After North and South had reached a contract of four spades on values which had been stretched to the breaking point, declarer had to duck his way through two suits in order to bring home the game.

After South's rebid of two spades, North might have been content with a raise to only three, inasmuch as his hand in support of that suit was worth only 11 points. But he close to go all the way himself.

After cashing two top trumps, declarer went after the heart suit, ruffing the third round in his own hand.

The contract was now secure, irrespective of West's action. If West overruffed and led a club declarer would win with the ace, ruff one more heart in his hand to establish a "thirteener" and cross to dummy by ruffing the damond, discarding the losing club on the seven of hearts.

If West refused to overruff, declarer would simply ruff the losing diamond, establish the fifth heart and retain the ace of clubs for entry to the dummy.

Observe that if declarer takes the first round of either diamonds or clubs he cannot win the hand, for he will be unable to maintain continual contact with the dummy.

Why Grow Old?

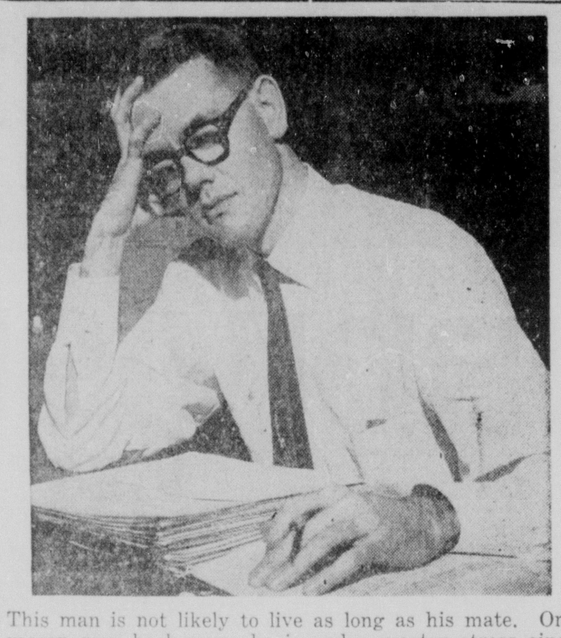
By Josephine Lowman



This man is not likely to live as long as his mate. One reason may be because he is under greater stress since he is responsible for the financial background for his family.

Women The Weaker Sex? 'No' According To Figures

In the past, woman was thought to be the weaker sex. Actually, in the light of present day statistics and knowledge, just the opposite seems to be true.

The life expectancy of men is many years less than that of women and it seems that more men than women are ill. Hospital figures gathered by the American Medical Association show that regardless of the fact that one-sixth of all persons admitted to hospitals in one year were pregnant women, there were more men than women hospitalized. Even between the ages of 15 and 44, the usual child bearing age, 13,000 more men than women were in hospitals.

Theories

Many theories have been advanced as the reason for this. One of the most prevalent ones is that men live under greater stress because they are responsible for the financial background of their families.

Men go out and battle the world in order to wrest from it adequate food, shelter and clothing for their wives and children and also struggle to give them some of the luxuries and advantages of life.

It is true that the little lady struggles in her own home and often contributes to the family income, but psychologically the obligations and responsibilities are the man's and he may therefore feel the strain more drastically.

Also, many psychologists feel that women are more adaptable than men, are better able to meet changing circumstance with less wear and tear. They seem to stand pain and change with a more optimistic and a sturdier attitude.

I myself have a theory and it is this: In the past, men have been less health conscious. In a way they have imposed a penalty upon themselves by demanding or wishing for physical attractiveness in their women while they themselves have promoted the idea that how they looked really did not matter so long as they brought home the bacon.

Beauty Boosts Health

This has boomeranged in a way, on the men. Because what you do for beauty boosts your health. In their desire to remain or become lovely women have exercised, counted calories, and been conscious of good nutrition, even if they did so for no other reason than an attractive figure and a good complexion.

This week I dedicate to men. If men wish to live well and long they must begin taking care of themselves, and their women must help by making the home an ossai which is as free from stress as possible. They must also look to their pots and pans for better nutrition for the male.

The data concerning overweight is irrefutable. For this reason this week I offer my Tubby Hubby Diet which will bring a loss of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days.

Monroe Soldier Given Honor At English Air Base

PFC Frank R. Pierce, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moore, Route 4, Monroe, has been selected as Soldier of the Month for November at an American Air Force base in England.

The selection was based on knowledge, soldierly conduct and appearances, as well as attention to performance of duty.

Captain Elmer F. Faust, Pierce's commanding officer, said in a personal letter to Pvt. Pierce "your bearing, dress, courtesy, your diligent and enthusiastic performance of duty reflects great credit on yourself and on the military service."

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

THE CHIPMUNK LOSES HIS ACORN DINNER

The chipmunk, a lively little fellow often called a ground squirrel, has dark markings on each side of his brown and gray body.

He lives in a burrow with several tunnels leading from it to the surface of the ground above. During the winter he stays in it and eats the nuts and small fruits he has collected.

Fold back along the top of the wall. Fold forward on the second dotted line and press up against the background. Now the acorns will disappear and the chipmunk will wonder what happened to them. You can find them for him by opening out the picture.

Acting Profession Today

By ROBERT WILKE
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, November 26 — Of all the professions in the world, probably none requires good hobbies more than practitioners in the acting field. In contrast to most businesses, actors, like myself, have considerable time on their hands between pictures and television assignments. Without something to occupy their attention, they can go slowly nuts as the hours and days drag by with maddening slowness.

This is especially true in the light of conditions which now prevail in Hollywood. The production situation nowadays is slow compared with some years ago and consequently an actor often has long layoffs between roles. That psychological problem of waiting for the phone to ring, announcing a new engagement, is a terrible one. The lucky actor is one who copes with these dull periods by keeping himself active with hobbies or other outside interests.

Personally, I've found the answer to this problem by buying and operating a ranch less than 100 miles from Hollywood. When occasion arises, I can drive into town to fulfill studio appointments in less than two hours and yet, in my remote locality, I have all the atmosphere of the Old West.

My type of operation, I find, also affords an atmosphere which is entirely relaxing. Rural in character, it is in direct contrast to the social climate of Hollywood, which affords one an opportunity to slow down and really take a refresher course in good, wholesome living. Early to bed and early to rise is my slogan and I feel that its a constructive program which keeps me in condition, both mentally and physically, for the wearing routine of picture acting.

Furthermore, I do considerable work in Western and outdoor pictures, such as "Raw Edge" and "The Long Ranger." This entails a lot of rough actibity, such as hard riding and brawling, sometimes over difficult terrain. My personal mode of living, however, processes me for these roles by keeping me physically fit, I believe. Ranch work certainly is an excellent conditioner for parts of this type, including horseback riding.

Other friends of mine in picture business, too, have discovered the value of ranching as a hobby and, in some instances, as a paying investment. This kind of living is strictly escapist in character and therefore provides relaxation opportunities seldom found in Hollywood proper Another angle is the fact that out in the country where I live you come in contact with the type of people I often portray in my various roles and so I have opportunity to notice how they act and speak. This, I hope, has the effect of validating some of the characterizations I am assigned to play. Altogether, its a healthy kind of life in every respect.

But to return to the matter of paying investments or hobbies. It's a wise actor who finds a means of additional revenue apart from the money earned by his professional efforts. Hollywood more and more has become aware of this fact. Nowadays, acting income can be lacking in continuity and so a secondary source of revenue can be highly desirable.

Many wise Hollywood actors now have business managers who invest their money in profitable enterprises. Real estate, long a sound investment in this area, has provided scores of players with excellent sources of income. Other stars have put money in sound, paying business ventures and are actively engaged in them between picture assignments. Not only do these projects afford revenue but, perhaps more importantly in some respects, they help keep an actor's mind occupied when he's inactive professionally.

Yes, every actor should have a hobby. Or better still, one which pays off in income. It wouldn't be a bad idea, in my opinion, if the schools and universities gave courses to teach people to develop hobbies, especially in these days of grim tensions which make escapist activities almost vital. Perhaps the Academy of Motion Picture Art and science should give consideration to the notion and thus save considerable wear and tear on the nerves of the motion picture profession.

I feel, that ranching, as in my own case, as I've found it affords genuine relaxation, far from the turmoil and tensions which add up to spell Hollywood.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS By Elsie Hix

Milland, Collins, Granger Headline All-Star Cast

"The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing" was a shocker back in 1906, but the most remarkable feature about her story is that 50 years later it still invites widespread conjecture and controversy. In bringing this great social scandal of the 1920 decade to the screen, Charles Brackett, producer - writer for Twentieth Century-Fox, discovered every element of stunning romantic drama fairly crying to be visualized in CinemaScope. There was the girl — Evelyn Nesbit, famed as the original Gibson Girl and as a member of the much publicized Floradora Sextette; there was the man she loved, Stanford White, America's foremost architect; and there was the man she married, Harry K. Thaw, young playboy heir to one of the nation's greatest fortunes. From that triangle which in the distorted mind of a jealous husband became a frantic obsession, came cold-blooded, flamboyant murder during a musical comedy performance in the roof theatre atop the old Madison Square Garden. The astounding revelations at the resultant trial with two of the nation's foremost legal minds battling it out had much of the millionaire set taking to European health resorts.

The setting for this front-page drama was no less spectacular, as so accurately mirrored in the De-Luxe color film coming Thursday to the Paramount Theatre. Never before has the gold - encrusted high - life of New York and its snobbish "400" society been so lavishly recreated — with its elegant mansions, haute couture of Fifth Avenue and fabulous night life at Rector's, Delmonico's and Sherry's where champagne corks popped every night at gay after-theatre suppers. Here the cream of society rubbed shoulders with the queens of Broadway in an era of reckless romance.

To capture the full spice of the story, studio head Darryl F. Zanuck gave Brackett a top budget and the gifted director, Richard Fleischer. For the role of the bonvivant architect, Brackett took his cue from past successes and called in Ray Milland. Together they had created the unforgettable hit, "The Lost Weekend."

The "field day" for Director Fleischer didn't end with the selection of the principals. The rest of the cast sparkles with some of the most brilliant performers in show business — Cornelia Otis Skinner, Luther Adler, Glenda Farrell, Frances Fuller, Gale Robbins and John Hoyt, to name a few.

Brackett and Fleischer were also supported in production with the skilled Academy - award expertness of Milton Krasner ("Three Coins in the Fountain") as cinematographer, multiple - award winner Charles LeMaire for the sumptuous wardrobes and three - time Oscar contender Maurice Ransford as supervisor of the architectural settings, to make "The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing" one of the most exciting offerings of the screen year.

HOT BEES

COLUMBUS, Ind. — A swarm of bees on the Ira Crane farm got a hot foot when lightning struck an ash tree where they stored their honey. The tree caught fire, and the flames fed on honeycombs the bees had made in hollow parts of the tree. Firemen doused bees, honey and tree with 500 gallons of water.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM D Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. True. One hundred and twenty-five divorced, remarried, and still unhappy men and the same number of women were analyzed under the Johnson Temperament Analysis. Both groups ranked high in undesirable traits. The men: "Critical," "nagging," "fault-finding." The women: "Impulsive," "lacked self-confidence," "took little or no part in community affairs," "were tense, nervous, irritable, uncooperative," and "nagged and whined." There were exceptions, of course.

What kind of mate do YOU want?

HOW TO PICK A MATE includes emotional maturity, and love. Send 15 cents (coin only), and self-addressed, stamped envelope (name city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, c-o this newspaper.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, unless all you want is to relieve your feelings, which is often the case. Do three things. 1. Find out all the facts. If it is an employee, find out all you can about his home life, which may be the root of his trouble. 2. You should make it a friendly discussion rather than a "calling down." 3. Never do it in the presence of anyone else. Parents and teachers should also follow these rules. Our booklet, "How To Persuade People," is tops in such situations. Nonprofit, 20 cents (coin only) and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Food nearly always makes a person feel more kindly and sociable, expecially persons whose blood sugar is low. In fact, low blood sugar has serious emotional consequences. It causes persons to become irritable, to turn an office into turmoil, drive too fast, and sometimes commit murder. Now, don't go to eating candy by the pound to become angelic. If you feel depressed, have severe headaches, consult your doctor not the confectioner.

Acting Profession Today

HOLLYWOOD, November 26 — Of all the professions in the world, probably none requires good hobbies more than practitioners in the acting field. In contrast to most businesses, actors, like myself, have considerable time on their hands between pictures and television assignments. Without something to occupy their attention, they can go slowly nuts as the hours and days drag by with maddening slowness.

This is especially true in the light of conditions which now prevail in Hollywood. The production situation nowadays is slow compared with some years ago and consequently an actor often has long layoffs between roles. That psychological problem of waiting for the phone to ring, announcing a new engagement, is a terrible one. The lucky actor is one who copes with these dull periods by keeping himself active with hobbies or other outside interests.

Personally, I've found the answer to this problem by buying and operating a ranch less than 100 miles from Hollywood. When occasion arises, I can drive into town to fulfill studio appointments in less than two hours and yet, in my remote locality, I have all the atmosphere of the Old West.

My type of operation, I find, also affords an atmosphere which is entirely relaxing. Rural in character, it is in direct contrast to the social climate of Hollywood, which affords one an opportunity to slow down and really take a refresher course in good, wholesome living. Early to bed and early to rise is my slogan and I feel that its a constructive program which keeps me in condition, both mentally and physically, for the wearing routine of picture acting.

Furthermore, I do considerable work in Western and outdoor pictures, such as "Raw Edge" and "The Long Ranger." This entails a lot of rough actibity, such as hard riding and brawling, sometimes over difficult terrain. My personal mode of living, however, processes me for these roles by keeping me physically fit, I believe. Ranch work certainly is an excellent conditioner for parts of this type, including horseback riding.

Other friends of mine in picture business, too, have discovered the value of ranching as a hobby and, in some instances, as a paying investment. This kind of living is strictly escapist in character and therefore provides relaxation opportunities seldom found in Hollywood proper Another angle is the fact that out in the country where I live you come in contact with the type of people I often portray in my various roles and so I have opportunity to notice how they act and speak. This, I hope, has the effect of validating some of the characterizations I am assigned to play. Altogether, its a healthy kind of life in every respect.

But to return to the matter of paying investments or hobbies. It's a wise actor who finds a means of additional revenue apart from the money earned by his professional efforts. Hollywood more and more has become aware of this fact. Nowadays, acting income can be lacking in continuity and so a secondary source of revenue can be highly desirable.

Many wise Hollywood actors now have business managers who invest their money in profitable enterprises. Real estate, long a sound investment in this area, has provided scores of players with excellent sources of income. Other stars have put money in sound, paying business ventures and are actively engaged in them between picture assignments. Not only do these projects afford revenue but, perhaps more importantly in some respects, they help keep an actor's mind occupied when he's inactive professionally.

Yes, every actor should have a hobby. Or better still, one which pays off in income. It wouldn't be a bad idea, in my opinion, if the schools and universities gave courses to teach people to develop hobbies, especially in these days of grim tensions which make escapist activities almost vital. Perhaps the Academy of Motion Picture Art and science should give consideration to the notion and thus save considerable wear and tear on the nerves of the motion picture profession.

I feel, that ranching, as in my own case, as I've found it affords genuine relaxation, far from the turmoil and tensions which add up to spell Hollywood.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS By Elsie Hix

Milland, Collins, Granger Headline All-Star Cast

"The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing" was a shocker back in 1906, but the most remarkable feature about her story is that 50 years later it still invites widespread conjecture and controversy. In bringing this great social scandal of the 1900 decade to the screen, Charles Brackett, producer - writer for Twentieth Century-Fox, discovered every element of stunning romantic drama fairly crying to be visualized in CinemaScope. There was the girl — Evelyn Nesbit, famed as the original Gibson Girl and as a member of the much publicized Floradora Sextette; there was the man she loved, Stanford White, America's foremost architect; and there was the man she married, Harry K. Thaw, young playboy heir to one of the nation's greatest fortunes. From that triangle which in the distorted mind of a jealous husband became a frantic obsession, came cold-blooded, flamboyant murder during a musical comedy performance in the roof theatre atop the old Madison Square Garden. The astounding revelations at the resultant trial with two of the nation's foremost legal minds battling it out had much of the millionaire set taking to European health resorts.

The setting for this front-page drama was no less spectacular, as so accurately mirrored in the DeLuxe color film coming Thursday to the Paramount Theatre. Never before has the gold - encrusted high - life of New York and its snobbish "400" society been so lavishly recreated — with its elegant mansions, haute couture of Fifth Avenue and fabulous night life at Rector's, Delmonico's and Sherry's where champagne corks popped every night at gay after-theatre suppers. Here the cream of society rubbed shoulders with the queens of Broadway in an era of reckless romance.

To capture the full spice of the story, studio head Darryl F. Zanuck gave Brackett a top budget and the gifted director, Richard Fleischer. For the role of the bonvivant architect, Brackett took his cue from past successes and called in Ray Milland. Together they had created the unforgettable hit, "The Lost Weekend."

The "field day" for Director Fleischer didn't end with the selection of the principals. The rest of the cast sparkles with some of the most brilliant performers in show business — Cornelia Otis Skinner, Luther Adler, Glenda Farrell, Frances Fuller, Gale Robbins and John Hoyt, to name a few.

Brackett and Fleischer were also supported in production with the skilled Academy - award expertness of Milton Krasner ("Three Coins in the Fountain") as cinematographer, multiple - award winner Charles LeMaire for the sumptuous wardrobes and three - time Oscar contender Maurice Ransford as supervisor of the architectural settings, to make "The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing" one of the most exciting offerings of the screen year.

HOT BEES

COLUMBUS, Ind. — A swarm of bees on the Ira Crane farm got a hot foot when lightning struck an ash tree where they stored their honey. The tree caught fire, and the flames fed on honeycombs the bees had made in hollow parts of the tree. Firemen doused bees, honey and tree with 500 gallons of water.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM D Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. True. One hundred and twenty-five divorced, remarried, and still unhappy men and the same number of women were analyzed under the Johnson Temperament Analysis. Both groups ranked high in undesirable traits. The men: "Critical," "nagging," "fault-finding." The women: "Impulsive," "lacked self-confidence," "took little or no part in community affairs," "were tense, nervous, irritable, uncooperative," and "nagged and whined." There were exceptions, of course.

What kind of mate do YOU want?

HOW TO PICK A MATE includes emotional maturity, and love. Send 15 cents (coin only), and self-addressed, stamped envelope (name city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, c-o this newspaper.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, unless all you want is to relieve your feelings, which is often the case. Do three things. 1. Find out all the facts. If it is an employee, find out all you can about his home life, which may be the root of his trouble. 2. You should make it a friendly discussion rather than a "calling down." 3. Never do it in the presence of anyone else. Parents and teachers should also follow these rules. Our booklet, "How To Persuade People," is tops in such situations. Nonprofit, 20 cents (coin only) and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Food nearly always makes a person feel more kindly and sociable, expecially persons whose blood sugar is low. In fact, low blood sugar has serious emotional consequences. It causes persons to become irritable, to turn an office into turmoil, drive too fast, and sometimes commit murder. Now, don't go to eating candy by the pound to become angelic. If you feel depressed, have severe headaches, consult your doctor not the confectioner.

St. Marks In Crossett Has New Quarters

The new addition is of the same construction as the original chapel building — of reverse batten board with sawface to the exterior, painted a weathered gray. It provides St. Mark's with additional space of more than one and one-half times the original building. There are in addition to the large auditorium, an enlarged kitchen, vesting room, ten classrooms size 9 x 12, a larger classroom, two parish offices and additional toilet facilities. The interior is pine panelled throughout.

St. Mark's came into being in 1951. Today St. Mark's property is valued at $120,000 and is debt free. The church facilities include a chapel, parish house and rectory. Less than five years ago St. Mark's possessed a wooded plot and fourteen communicants. Today it has 77 communicants with a total of 122 baptized persons, and its beautiful buildings — a total of three in number.

Future plans include a permanent church to be built at right angles to the present buildings, at which time the present church or chapel will be converted to parish house use.

Plans Given For Concordia Office

VIDALIA, Nov. 26 (Special) — Tentative plans for a Concordia Parish Clerk of Court's office adjacent to the present courthouse were discussed by William Baker, Winnsboro architect, at a recent meeting of the police jury.

The building, as sketched would be 100 feet by 58 feet and would have an original records room, secretary's office, counter and lobby space, photostat, and storage room, clerk's office, record room and workspace, master room and ladies' toilet room. The estimated cost is $70,000.

Jurors decided to study the plans and means of financing the project and to continue discussion at the December meeting.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 12:1 - "I appeal to you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable unto God, which is your spiritual worship." (RSV)

• • •

In Communism, Christianity opposes a philosophy of atheistic materialism. In frantic and eager efforts to differentiate the one from the other, Christians often slip into the heresy of complete spirituality, denying the importance of material reality. But historic Christianity has always stressed the fundamental centrality of the physical. "God became flesh and dwelt among us" a stumbling block to the Greek of old and many a person today.

If religion is God's search for man, then Christianity is God's search for man in the Person of His Son, Jesus Christ, and that search inevitably involves man's response. That response must be of the whole man, and St. Paul here reminds us that it takes the form of sacrifice. By presenting ourselves, our souls and bodies, as a reasonable, holy, and living sacrifice, we are made one body with Him, and He dwells in us and we in Him.

St. Marks In Crossett Has New Quarters

The new addition is of the same construction as the original chapel building — of reverse batten board with sawface to the exerior, painted a weathered gray. It provides St. Mark's with additional space of more than one and one-half times the original building. There are in addition to the large auditorium, an enlarged kitchen, vesting room, ten classrooms size 9 x 12, a larger classroom, two parish offices and additional toilet facilities. The interior is pine panelled throughout.

St. Mark's came into being in 1951. Today St. Mark's property is valued at $120,000 and is debt free. The church facilities include a chapel, parish house and rectory. Less than five years ago St. Mark's possessed a wooded plot and fourteen communicants. Today it has 77 communicants with a total of 122 baptized persons, and its beautiful buildings — a total of three in number.

Future plans include a permanent church to be built at right angles to the present buildings, at which time the present church or chapel will be converted to parish house use.

Plans Given For Concordia Office

VIDALIA, Nov. 26 (Special)—Tentative plans for a Concordia Parish Clerk of Court's office adjacent to the present courthouse were discussed by William Baker, Winnsboro architect, at a recent meeting of the police jury.

The building, as sketched would be 100 feet by 38 feet and would have an original records room, secretary's office, counter and lobby space, photostat, and storage room, clerk's office, record room and workspace, heater room and ladies' toilet room. The estimated cost is $70,000.

Jurors decided to study the plans and means of financing the project and to continue discussion at the December meeting.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: I have absolute proof that my husband is being unfaithful to me. We have been married ten years and have three children. What shall I do? "Distracted"

ANSWER: There are three things you must consider and in all three you must ask God's guidance and help. First, your husband's soul is at stake and he needs to recognize his sin and ask God's forgiveness. Ask God to give you the grace and wisdom to face your husband with this sin and let him see that you love him and are concerned over his soul's welfare. It may be that God will use you to resolve this problem and win your husband at the same time.

Second, yourself: you heart is heavy and your pride is hurt and this is a great burden which you have. Again you must pray for the love and grace to do the right thing. You can leave your husband but the problem is still not solved. If he can be won back, it will be far better.

Third, you must consider your children. If you separate from your husband your children immediately face the problems of a broken home. This can have serious consequences for them. They need a father, just as you need a husband. Also, despite what he has done, he needs his wife and children. Let me urge you to pray earnestly about this and then act in the wisdom and strength God will give you.

$800,000 Is Given For Church Work

CINCINNATI, Ohio — Methodist children are giving nearly $800,000 a year for church work, it was reported to the denomination's interboard committee on missionary education at its annual meeting here.

"It is highly significant that their gifts are voluntary, and made because they know and understand the need of others," said the Rev. Horace W. Williams, Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the committee.

Eighty-two students from 24 countries are studying in 37 U. S. colleges this year on Methodist Crusade Scholarship, the committee was told.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 12:1 - "I appeal to you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable unto God, which is your spiritual worship." (RSV)

* * *

In Communism, Christianity opposes a philosophy of atheistic materialism. In frantic and eager efforts to differentiate the one from the other, Christians often slip into the heresy of complete spirituality, denying the importance of material reality. But historic Christianity has always stressed the fundamental centrality of the physical: "God became flesh and dwelt among us," a stumbling block to the Greek of old and many a person today.

If religion is God's search for man, then Christianity is God's search for man in the Person of His Son, Jesus Christ, and that search inevitably involves man's response. That response must be of the whole man, and St. Paul here reminds us that it takes the form of sacrifice. By presenting ourselves, our souls and bodies, as a reasonable, holy, and living sacrifice, we are made one body with Him, and He dwells in us and we in Him.

82-Year-Old Man Killed By Truck

Trooper Charles James of the Louisiana state police said Mrs. Yeakey could not detect the man as he walked along the center of the road. She told the trooper he was wearing dark clothes.

Mrs. Yeakey said she skidded and tried to avoid hitting the old man. She said her truck careened along the road for about 150 feet, then left the highway and overturned. She was slightly injured.

No charges were made and the accident was termed as "unavoidable."

82-Year-Old Man Killed By Truck

VIDALIA, Nov. 26 (Special) — An aged man was killed when he was struck by a pickup truck near Vidalia late Friday night. A second tragedy was narrowly averted when the truck that hit him ran off the highway and overturned.

Mrs. Betty J. Yeakey, who was driving a 1950 Ford pickup truck south on Louisiana highway 129 ran into the man three miles from Vidalia.

Trooper Charles James of the Louisiana state police said Mrs. Yeakey could not detect the man as he walked along the center of the road. She told the trooper he was wearing dark clothes.

Mrs. Yeakey said she skidded and tried to avoid hitting the old man. She said her truck careened along the road for about 150 feet, then left the highway and overturned. She was slightly injured.

TO CHICAGO — Frankie Rundell, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Rundell, of Delhi, left Friday for Chicago to attend 4-H Club Congress. She was first place winner in the Best Dress Division of the Clothing Contest a 4-H Short Course in Baton Rouge and is a student at Louisiana Tech majoring in Home Economics.

Jonesboro Youth Leaves For 4-H Club Convention

PINEVILLE, Nov. 26 (Special)— Everett Vance Culpepper, 18-year-old Louisiana college freshman, is en route to Chicago where he will attend the national 4-H club congress which begins Sunday and continues through next Wednesday.

The Jonesboro youth won the all-expense trip by taking first place in the Louisiana 4-H dairy achievement contest last year. In Chicago he will enter the national contest in that field.

Vance served as vice president of the state 4-H executive committee during 1954-55. During the two school years, he was president of the Jackson parish 4-H clubs, which boasted over 800 members during that time.

An additional honor came to him at the 1955 State Fair at Shreveport Oct. 21-28 when his registered age cow took first honors in the state contest.

At the state 4-H short course held at Baton Rouge last July, young Culpepper was awarded a key for "service and leadership and for outstanding contribution to the community."

Vance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Culpepper, route 3, Jonesboro. He graduated from Jonesboro - Hodge high school last spring. At Louisiana college he is a Bible-journalism major.
